Tammany Hall Member Defends President in Controversy.

O'CONNOR ATTACKS M'FADDEN CHARGES

Senator Reed's Criticism of Administration Creates Stir.

JOINS BITTER FIGHT UPON CANCELLATION

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

Acrid discussion in both houses of Congress marked the initiation of the Hoover debt moratorium for ratification yesterday. Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills appeared before the House ways and means committee and, pointing a prophetic finger at the specter of what abandonment of the gold standard had meant for the nations of Europe, urged the approval of the twelve-month debt holiday which has already been ratified by sixteen countries.

In the House itself the debate on the debt holiday waxed hot and the packed galleries were treated to the unusual spectacle of seeing a New York Tammany Hall representative spring to his feet in defense of President Hoover against an attack by Representative Louis T. McFadden (Republican), Pennsylvania, former chairman of the committee on banking and currency.

Representative John O'Connor (Democrat), New York, was on his feet after his Republican colleague had charged that the President "proposed to sell us out to Germany." O'Connor is a Tammany member of Congress of the new school, having been graduated from Harvard. He yelled:

Subject to Impeachment.

"If those charges are true, the President is subject to impeachment; and if some one from the Republican side doesn't defend their President, maybe I'll have to."

A Republican lawmaker, Representative Burnett Chiperfield (Republican), Illinois, followed O'Connor and in his maiden speech challenged McFadden to prove his charges "or leave the chamber in disgrace." McFadden declined to elaborate on his statement, but announced he would have something more to say when he appears before the House ways and means committee.

If the situation presented in the House by a Tammany member of Congress rising in defense of the President was anomalous, the sudden appearance of Senator David A. Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania as an administration critic was no less unusual. Senator Reed joined with Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, in denouncing the propaganda of the bankers for cancellation of the debts. Reed accompanied the American delegation to London last year and was instrumental in getting

Boy, 11, Hit by Auto, Then Thrown From It

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Run down by an automobile containing five persons, an 11-year-old boy was picked up tonight by its driver but thrown to the pavement a few minutes later a mile away from the accident.

The victim, Edward McHugh, son of Frank McHugh, counsel to the Bronx County sheriff's office was critically injured. A general alarm was sent out over the Bronx in the hope of overtaking the occupants of the large sedan which several witnesses helped to identify.

State May Seize Land In Chicago for Taxes

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Gov. Louis L. Emmerson urged today that the State seize tax delinquent property in Cook County and sell it to collect directly the overdue $25,000,000 revenue owed the State by the county from taxes.

The governor formulated his drastic plan at a conference with Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago banker, and Senator Richard J. Barr, administration leader in the upper house of the Legislature, and at a later conference with various State department heads and elected officials.

$8,000 Diamond Ring Lost on Shopping Trip

Loss of a diamond ring worth $8,000 was reported to police yesterday, through insurance company sources, by Miss Louise M. Wood, of the Wardman Park Hotel. She was said to have lost it while shopping in a downtown department store.

The ring, described as set with a six-karat "Cashmire sapphire" encircled with diamonds, was in platinum, it was said. Miss Wood said she did not note loss of the ring until she had returned home.

Culbertson-Lenz Bridge Battle

Culbertsons Go Into Lead Again on Forty-first Rubber.

New York, N. Y., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—The Culbertsons won four out of the first seven rubbers tonight and rolled up a lead of 1,550 points on Lenz and Jacoby in a 150-rubber test of rival systems of contract bridge. It was the greatest lead the Culbertsons had attained.

After 47 rubbers of the series had been played the rubbers stood, Lenz and Jacoby, 24; Culbertsons, 23.

Culbertson started the session tonight with a bet on himself against one of his own rooters. Antoine LeFebrue, San Francisco stock broker, sent a certified check for $500. Culbertson covered it at 2 to 1.

Apart from "the filthy lucre element," Mr. LeFebrue wished the Culbertsons success. He made the bet, his letter explained, because he was attracted purely by the odds, since Lenz was leading by 2,075 points at the time it was made.

The broker admitted he used the Culbertson system, himself. Culbertson will give the winnings, if any, to charity.

Mystery has been injected into the match with the ace of diamonds missing from a deck every so often. The card was missing on the third hand tonight.

Jacoby made four hearts and game on the first hand tonight. It was hand 228 of the forty-first rubber.

Hand 230—Jacoby made two clubs. Net score: Culbertsons, 25.

Hand 231—Mrs. Culbertson made four hearts, giving her side game and rubber. Net score: Culbertsons, 695

Rubber 42:

Hand 232—Mrs. Culbertson made two diamonds. Net score, Culbertsons, 735.

Hand 233—Lenz contracted for two spades and made four. Net score: Culbertsons, 575.

Hand 234—Mrs. Culbertson bid two hearts and made six. The result with a previous score gave her game. Net score: Culbertsons, 835.

Hand 235—Mrs. Culbertson went down one in a two-heart contract. Net score, Culbertson, 735.

Hand 236—Lenz contracted for three clubs and was set one. Net score, Culbertsons, 785.

Hand 237—Passed out.

Hand 238—Jacoby succeeded in a

Batavia, Ohio, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Veteran of seven congressional terms, Former Representative Charles C. Kearns, of Amelia, was reported by physicians to be critically ill at his home tonight. He is a victim of uremic poisoning.

Kearns was defeated for reelection in 1930 by James Polk, Democrat, Highland County. Previous to that Kearns represented the Sixth Ohio congressional district for fourteen years.

REGIME FALLS IN CHINA AFTER STUDENT RIOTS

80,000 Attack Soldiers and Sack Offices; Chiang Resigns.

MOB HAD DEMANDED WAR WITH JAPANESE

Koo Quits and Is Expected to Be Succeeded by Chen; Future Uncertain.

Nanking, China, Wednesday, Dec. 16 (U.P.).—The Chinese National government collapsed today under the attack of 80,000 rioting students, who defied a declaration of martial law, battled soldiers in the streets of the capital and sacked the offices of government leaders.

Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, the youthful, modern generalissimo who led the Nationalist army drive to triumph in 1926, resigned as head of the government.

Ministers and government leaders were swept aside or resigned and China was virtually adrift, with whatever semblance of government that remains holding purely nominal power. There is no army commander, no foreign minister, no treasurer, and the future even for the next few hours is uncertain.

Garrison's Attempts Futile.

Under direction of Lin Sen, chairman of the legislative Yuan, who became acting president, and Gen. Chen Ming-Shu, the Nanking garrison made a desperate attempt to end the disorders and was gradually gaining the upper hand against the students, who have besieged the government for weeks demanding war with Japan.

Gen. Chen warned the rioters that extreme measures would be taken, if necessary, to end the demonstrations, which, he said, were led by Communists. The students were restricting their outbursts pending the arrival of leaders of the Cantonese government who were hailed as "saviors of the nation" and were expected to take the lead in setting up a new regime.

Chiang Kai-Shek's telegram of resignation declared he stepped out to make possible the formation of a united national government to settle diplomatic problems, such as the Manchurian conflict, and that he would continue to serve the nation in any way possible. He was understood to have gone to his fortified villa at Tangshan, a hot springs resort near Nanking, but later it was said his whereabouts was not known. He was generally expected to organize his supporters for an effort to regain control of the government.

Koo Also Resigns.

Finance Minister T. V. Soong, powerful aid of Chiang, and Foreign Minister Dr. Wellington Koo, former minister to Washington, also resigned. Eugene Chen or Wu Chao-Chu, former minister to Washington, was expected to become foreign minister.

1 Killed, 3 Wounded In Nicaraguan Fight

(Associated Press.)

The killing of one insurgent and wounding of three others Monday in a clash between the Nicaraguan guardia and 30 insurgents was reported to the Navy yesterday by Brig. Gen. Randolph C. Berkeley, commander of the Second Marine Brigade at Managua. There were no guardia casualties.

Gen. Berkeley said the guardia reported Lieut. Zamora and a patrol from San Juan de Limay in Central-Western Nicaragua were in the encounter, at 1:30 p. m., with a group under Julian Guitierrez, local chief, in the vicinity of El Casero, 10 miles east of San Juan de Limay.

MAPES' PLAN TO COST CITY SIX MILLIONS

$3,000,000 Would Be Cut From Federal Contribution to Budget.

HOUSE WILL DEBATE PROPOSALS TODAY

$4,000,000 Boost in Taxes Also Favored; 4 Bills Are Introduced.

Recommendations for $3,000,000 cut in Federal lump-sum contributions to the District budget and $4,000,000 in proposed additional tax levies will be debated today in the House of Representatives.

Four bills intended to carry the drastic plan into execution, introduced yesterday by members of the special committee on fiscal relations between Federal and District governments, will come up this afternoon before the House, sitting as a committee of the whole.

The recommendations, it is estimated, will cost the District $6,250,000—the proposed $3,000,000 reduction in Federal funds, the suggested $4,000,000 in additional taxes, minus $750,000 drawn from the inheritance levies formerly paid into the Federal Treasury.

Applause Follows Address.

Representative Carl E. Mapes (Republican), of Michigan, chairman of the committee which for more than a year has been contrasting local tax rates with those paid in other cities, yesterday outlined to the House high spots of his report.

Only 68 members by actual count heard the committee's recommendations and the even more radical dissenting opinion of Representative James A. Frear (Republican), Wisconsin, who favors increased local taxes without any Federal aid. Applause followed the address of Representative Frear.

Bills proposing the following taxes were introduced after the report:

1. A District tax on incomes, graduated up to 5 per cent.
2. A blanket tax on estates, graduated up to 15 per cent.
3. An increase from 2 to 4 cents in the tax on gasoline.
4. A tax on automobiles, assessed according to their weight, replacing the present property tax on automobiles.

Cut in Contribution.

Chairman Mapes' majority report proposed reduction of the Federal lump sum contribution from the $9,500,000 allowed last year to $6,500,000, but no bill establishing the latter figure as a precedent for future contributions accompanied the report.

For this Chairman Mapes was criticized from the floor by Representative Thomas L. Blanton (Democrat), of Texas, a member of the District subcommittee of the House appropriations committee, and Representative

Giant Dirigible Passes Over City En Route to New Orleans.

The Akron, bound for New Orleans, La., passed over Washington shortly before 11 o'clock last night. The Los Angeles is expected to return to her hangar early today after an overnight flight.

Taking the air at 6:13 o'clock, the Akron, carrying Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, as a passenger, headed along the Atlantic seacoast. She nosed South after flying over Washington and is expected to pass over Augusta, Milledgeville, Macon, Atlanta, Montgomery and Mobile, reaching New Orleans before sundown today.

Two Crisis Causes Held to Be Passing

Ayres, Business Analyst, Says Balanced Budget Is Need in 1932.

Cleveland, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—A 1932 policy of "balanced budgets" was recommended to the Nation today by one of its leading business analysts, Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co.

Speaking before the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, Col. Ayres said the Government, private organizations and individuals should "coax up income and pare down outgo until there is at least a little margin on the credit side."

Nearly 2,000 business men who heard the speech were told that the two main forces which caused the business depression apparently have reached the end of their ropes. These forces, the economist said, were the collapse of wholesale prices and the contraction of credit under pressure of the banks.

NEW DEBTS HOLIDAY SEEN FOR GERMANY

Young Plan Advisory Group May Favor Extension of Moratorium.

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 15 (A.P.). Germany will receive an extension of the Hoover moratorium on conditional reparations payments if the Young plan advisory committee adopts the report of its subcommittee, the Associated Press learned today.

A committee composed of Sir Walter Layton, of Great Britain; Prof Charles Rist, of France, and Dr. Carl Melchior, of Germany, are drafting the report, on which they are being assisted by Walter W. Stewart, American delegate. It will embody a summary of Germany's capacity to pay and will touch on the following topics:

(1) The short-term credit situation and its relation to Germany's public debts.

(2) The extent and influence of Germany's favorable trade balance since 1930.

(3) The condition of the Reich's budget, with a possible reference to its expenditures.

(4) The position of the Reichsbank, gold coverage and maintenance of the gold standard.

(5) Possible alternatives in future Germany policy.

The world political situation, especially the stand of the United States against the scaling down of war debts, has diverted the committee from its original intentions, it was learned.

Several members came here ten days ago bent on complete cancellation of reparations payments despite the Young plan, which specifies they should recommend measures "to be taken in regard to application of the present plan."

The change in attitude by these members—who claim a majority—came about the time the American Congress met without the talk of debt revision sweeping across the Atlantic.

It is possible that the report may contain a suggestion that France and Germany agree between themselves on continuing the Hoover moratorium, which expires July 1, 1932, regarding unconditional payments. This stipulates that the sum of about 600,000,000 reichsmarks be paid by Germany to the World Bank, which loans it back to the Reich.

The drafting committee conferred today as well as two others; one examining the position of the German railways, which guarantees the non-postponable annuities, and the other considering certain special questions relating to the Reich's budget.

Madrid, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Premier Manuel Azana formed the first constitutional cabinet of the Spanish republic tonight.

The cabinet, as announced by the premier, is as follows: Premier Azana, war; Luis de Zulueta, state; Jaime Carner, treasury; Jose Giral, marine; Santiago Casares Quiroga, interior; Fernando de los Rios, public instruction; Francisco Largo Caballero, labor; Indalecio Prieto, public works; Marcelino Domingo, agriculture, and Alvaro Albornoz, justice.

The premier said a minister of communications had not yet been selected.

Jane Addams Shows Marked Improvement

Baltimore, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Jane Addams, pioneer social worker and founder of Hull House at Chicago, has improved so markedly since her operation Saturday at Johns Hopkins Hospital here that her personal physician, Dr. James B. Herrick, returned to Chicago today and Dr. Alice Hamilton, a consultant, went back to Harvard.

Dr. Thomas S. Cullen, of Johns Hopkins University, who performed the abdominal operation, issued the following bulletin: "Miss Jane Addams has improved so steadily that Dr Alice Hamilton has returned to Harvard and Dr. James B. Herrick to Chicago."

Ohio Rioters End Solitary Confinement

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 15 (U.P.).—Broken and silent, 40 convicts were led today from the solitary punishment cells in which they had been confined for eighteen months, sullenly to resume "normal" life with their fellow prisoners at Ohio State Penitentiary.

Ring leaders in the riot and incendiarism that made a charnal house of the prison last year and cost the lives of 322 convicts, the 40 silent men appeared burned out in spirit and wrecked in physique. Two of their fellows went mad under the torture of isolation, and are now in the Lima institution for mental treatment.

Among the 40 released after a year and a half of solitude, wherein there was no man to talk to, no man to see, and nothing with which to occupy the mind except the dreadful memories of the night of April 21, 1930, when the prison became a screaming inferno, were two who were directly responsible for the fire.

Their cells were not dungeons. They were roomy, well-ventilated and lighted not only by electric bulbs, but by occasional shafts of dust-flecked sunlight streaming into the "L" block. But they were far away from the other prisoners, and to their cells only an occasional murmur of sound, or a shout from the exercise ground, could penetrate.

The men were denied visitors. Once a week, silently, they were permitted to walk along the corridors for exercise. Their meals were brought by guards—only two a day at first, and later three, consisting of the regular prison fare. From the beginning they were surly with the guards. They attempted to shout defiance, to bolster up each others' spirits with shouts. Then, as the weeks rolled by, even their hoarse curses ceased and they abandoned tiresome and futile efforts to converse with each other.

Months passed and the guards reported that "when a kindness is shown to one of them he weeps." When this was announced, Warden P. E. Thomas decided to let them have magazines. One by one they sent out word that they were repentant for their revolt—that henceforth they would behave.

"All but two of them showed they were sorry," said Warden Thomas. "I think they have been disciplined enough."

To their fellow prisoners, the isolated convicts became known as "the

Winston Churchill Held Much Better by Report

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—A physician's bulletin describing the condition of Winston Churchill as "satisfactory" today cheered the wife and daughter of the British statesman, who have been near his bedside since he was struck by a taxicab Sunday night.

"He looks and feels much better," said a portion of a statement made by Dr. Otto C. Pickhardt, Dr. Foster Kennedy and Dr. Samuel A. Brown, the latter a specialist in internal disorders, who joined the other two physicians this morning.

2 KILLED AS SEDAN AND TRUCK COLLIDE

Only One Passenger in Auto Bound for Washington Escapes Injury.

Two men were instantly killed and five others injured last night when a heavy produce truck ran into the side of a large sedan on the Washington-Richmond highway 2 miles south of Woodbridge, Va. Only one of the eight persons on the two vehicles escaped injury.

The dead are:

Opie Lindsay, 53 years old, of 701 Farragut street northwest, business representative of Washington Local, No. 9, Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers Union;

G. E. McDonald, a member of the union, who recently moved to Washington from New York.

Those injured are:

J. Ray Golding, 36 years old, of 703 Ninth street northeast, spinal injuries and cuts;

Arthur D. Mulloy, 54 years old, East Riverdale, Md., cuts about the head and possible internal injuries;

W. E. Stearns, 53 years old, of 1502 Gale street northeast, cuts about the head. These three men were passengers in the sedan driven by Mr. Lindsay, and all are members of the union.

Louis Nelson, his helper, 23 years old, of Charlottesville, slight cuts.

The man who escaped injury is E. M. Collins, of Baltimore, a passenger on the truck. Mr. Collins formerly lived at Charlottesville and accepted an invitation by the two men to return home with them.

The four men and Mr. Lindsay left Washington yesterday morning for Fredericksburg, Va., to investigate reports that nonunion men were working a job there. They finished their investigation and started back

Inexperienced Pilot And Student Killed

Oakland, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Lawrence Dettling, 27, an aviation instructor with limited experience, and Everett Carr, 22, student pilot, were killed today when their airplane crashed to Oakland Airport from an altitude of 200 feet. Airport officials attributed the accident to inexpert maneuvering of the plane.

Dettling, holder of a limited commercial pilot's license, rented the plane to give Carr a lesson. After a half hour's flight over Oakland they returned to the airport and as they prepared to land the plane went into a dive and spin and crashed a half mile from the hangars.

G. O. P. TO HOLD CONVENTION OF 1932 IN CHICAGO

June 14 Tentative Date; Democrats May Meet Before That Time.

PARTY HEADS FAVOR QUITTING TRADITION

"SELL-HOOVER" DRIVE ADVOCATED BY FESS

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The Democrats may depart from tradition and hold their 1932 national convention before the Republicans hold theirs next June, if certain high-ranking Democrats have their way.

Word of this Democratic plan to "get the jump" on their rivals got out late yesterday after the Republican national committee had selected Chicago as the scene of the next convention, and the committee on arrangements had recommended Tuesday, June 14, as the opening day.

Sell Hoover, Fess Urges.

Chicago, which has been host to eleven National Conventions in a half century, was selected yesterday over Atlantic City by a vote of 86 to 14, after boosters from the latter city had made some rather unsgracious remarks about Chicago in the mid-western metropolis, and after Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, chairman of the national committee, had urged the Republican leaders to get out and tell the country how President Hoover was steering a storm-tossed ship of state to safety.

Just why it should be so is difficult to explain, unless it be argued that they have usually constituted the minority party, but the Democrats have nearly always held their national convention after the Republican convention.

Of course, this gave them time to see what the Republicans would recommend in their party platform, and gave them a chance to attack that platform with one of their own.

Proposal of Leaders.

This time, however, certain party leaders, convinced that a strong offense is the best defense, feel that the Democrats should meet first, launch a vigorous attack on the Republicans, nominate a candidate for President, a candidate for Vice President, and then swing into action, making the Republican conclave seem like an anticlimax. They know that they will have a fight over prohibition. However, they also know that the Republicans will have one. They want to get rid of theirs first.

Only one obstacle comes to the minds of those who have such a plan in mind, and that is Congress, or, specifically, the adjournment of Congress.

If the adjournment dates of Congress in the last eleven years be taken, and an average struck, the final gavel has fallen in the first week of June. Assuming that this time Congress should not quit until, say, June 5 or June 7, and assuming further that the Democrats should hold their convention first, that would allow hardly any interval between the two party conventions. If it should be another Madison Square Garden convention for the Democrats, one lasting nearly a month, well, in that case, they would overlap.

Speedy Meeting Is Aim.

However, there are answers to these arguments. Congress usually adjourns at a time that will give all members plenty of time to get to the conventions. And in 1932, the Democrats—at least, those here in Washington—are determined to have a

Nicholas Renounces Bride For Royal Rank, Is Report

Bucharest, Roumania, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Rebellious Prince Nicholas is understood to have renounced today his morganatic bride of a month, Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj, and to have become reconciled with King Carol.

In an interview lasting more than an hour, Nicholas was said to have told his brother that he recognized his marriage to the attractive young divorcee was illegal and that he willingly repudiates her rather than lose his membership in the royal family.

Carol was overjoyed at the happy conclusion to the dispute that has rankled between them and restored to his brother all the military and civil offices which were taken from him.

Mme. Deletj it is believed, will be given a beautiful villa and grounds at Filipescu, which Nicholas recently purchased and transformed into a park, and Nicholas will return to reside at the palace.

The prince came to the king's palace in civil dress and dashed straight into his brother's workroom. They had a talk of the warmest nature, and at the end Carol embraced Nicholas and accompanied him to the anteroom.

When Nicholas arrived, the palace guards did not give him a military salute; but when he left they presented arms as in former days. He was in a happy mood and was accompanied by an aid whom Carol loaned him.

News of the reconciliation created a favorable impression in Bucharest

Presents for All Needy Tots Are Assured as Total Grows.

My, how The Post Toy Fund Snowball grew yesterday when Joe Turner, champion wrestler, gave it a mighty push with a $50 gift to the fund, which is to bring Santa Claus to needy children of Washington this year.

Mr. Turner, who is well known in the athletic world, has the spirit of Christmas in his heart, all right. Thanks, Mr. Turner, you will have a happy Christmas, of that The Post Toy Fund is sure. Because you will have a glow in your heart through the knowledge that many little children will see Santa Claus in both their dreams and reality this Christmas through your generous gift.

The excitement in The Washington Post office over the really splendid returns in the morning mail, nearly doubling the fund and placing it at $292 in round numbers, would have

SPOILS DIVIDED AS DEMOCRATS FIX HOUSE RULE

LEGISLATORS READY TO BEGIN ON TASKS

Southerners Holding Vital Posts as Organization Is Completed.

(Associated Press.)

All the wheels in the House machinery were set in motion yesterday with approval of committee rosters and completion of Democratic organization.

Carrying out their policy of dividing the spoils of victory geographically the Democrats awarded Northern and border States 20 of the 47 committee chairmanships. This they considered the maximum under the seniority rule.

Virtually all of the 50-odd new Democrats from North of the Mason-Dixon line were given substantial berths on the twelve exclusive committees. An exclusive committee is one whose members are not allowed to have a chair in another legislative group.

Both the Democratic and Republican committee slates were approved unanimously by the House. This clears the way for the groups to get busy on the thousands of legislative proposals, including those of President Hoover.

Take Leading Posts.

The Democrats took twelve of the 21 seats on all major committees except in a few where the membership varies numerically. They seized 21 of the 35 places on the appropriations committee; 8 of the 12 on rules and 15 of 25 on ways and means.

New York's delegation of 23 received 6 committee chairmanships, and 2 seats in the ways and means committee which prepared the committee assignments. The Texas delegation of 18 besides having their dean, Garner, as Speaker, received 6 committee chairmanships, all of importance.

The three most powerful chairmanships were split among Southern States. Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, heads appropriations; Pou, of North Carolina, rules, and Collier, of Mississippi, ways and means.

The New Yorkers, to become chairmen are Black, claims; Somers, coinage, weights and measures; Gavagan, elections number two; Dickstein immigration; Sirovich, patents; Mead, postoffice and post roads.

Texas Chairmen.

Texans to become chairmen: Jones, agriculture; Rayburn, interstate commerce; Mansfield, rivers and harbors; Sumners, judiciary; Lanham, public buildings and grounds, and Williams, territories.

The small Massachusetts Democratic delegation received two chairmanships, labor going to Connery and education to Douglass.

The other chairmanships which went to Northern and border States follow:

Missouri: Lozier, census, and Cochran expenditures in executive departments.

Ohio: Underwood, invalid pensions, and Harlan, revision of laws.

Southern Choices.

Of this amount, $86,738,000 went to German nationals. A total of 1,180 claims involving 94 ships, one radio station and 6,000 patents were reviewed during the four years.

DEMOCRATS DECIDE TO SEEK BUDGET CUT

Debt Stay Is Not Issue on Which Party Can Take Sides, Policy Group Agrees.

(Associated Press.)

Concentration on a slash in Governmental expenditures was agreed upon yesterday by a score of Democratic leaders as the first item of the party's legislative program.

In addition, they came to the conclusion that the Hoover moratorium was not a question on which the party could take sides. It was left to be settled by the personal views of the membership.

Meeting for the first time, the Democratic congressional policy committee, composed of ten party leaders from each house of the Federal Legislature, discussed taxes, tariff and the big Treasury deficit, too. Decisions on these issues were left to future meetings.

A statement was issued by Speaker Garner and Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, at the end of the two-hour session. It follows in full:

"There was a partial interchange of views regarding the proposed moratorium, Government expenditures, taxation and the tariff.

"With repect to the moratorium, it was the opinion of the committee that the same is not subject matter for party consideration and Democratic members of Congress are expected to reflect their personal views and convictions.

"It was agreed that every possible effort shall be made to reduce Government expenditures and with that end in view studies will be carried on.

"No details with respect to the tariff and revised internal revenue taxes were agreed upon, these and other matters being deferred for future consideration. Speaker Garner and Senator Robinson were authorized to reconvene the committee at an early date.

PLAN OF MAPES FOR DISTRICT TO COST TAXPAYERS 6 MILLION

Frank L. Bowman (Republican), West Virginia, member of the District legislative committee.

Mr. Blanton said the lump sum "should be disposed of once and for all, so that it will not harass Congress for the next 20 years."

Otherwise, he declared, there would be an attempt "to hamstring and hold us up to the closing hours of the session."

Following an elaboration of the report by Representative E. L. Davis (Democrat), of Tennessee, a member of the special committee, Representative Bowman complained the recommendations do not settle the age-old controversy of what proportion the Federal Government should pay toward local expenses.

Chairman Mapes said he thought the advisability of establishing a permanent basis of fiscal relations "a matter of policy and open to question." He said his committee was not empowered by the House to fix the proportionate contribution for all time.

Income Taxation Scale.

The following scale for local income taxation was proposed in the bill introduced by Chairman Mapes to carry that feature of the plan into effect:

1. One per cent on incomes up to $2,000.
2. One and five-tenths per cent on incomes between $2,000 and $5,000.
3. Two per cent on incomes between $5,000 and $10,000.
4. Two and one-half per cent on incomes between $10,000 and $15,000.
5. Three per cent between $15,000 and $20,000.
6. Three and one-half per cent between $20,000 and $30,000.
6. Four per cent between $30,000 and $50,000.
7. Five per cent on all incomes over $50,000.

Individuals, firms and corporations would be taxed under the plan, which is in addition to the national income tax, and modeled after it.

Exemptions proposed eliminate all single persons drawing less than $1,000 annually; all married persons receiving under $2,500. An exemption of $300 each is provided for dependent children under 18 years of age and all other dependents.

Scale in Bill.

Representative Frear introduced the bill to place in execution the proposed estate tax, which it is estimated will divert approximately $750,000 from the Federal Treasury to local revenues.

1 per cent for estates not exceeding $50,000.

2 per cent for estates valued between $50,000 and $100,000.

3 per cent for estates between $100,000 and $200,000.

4 per cent, estates between $200,000 and $300,000.

5 per cent, estates between $300,000 and $500,000.

6 per cent, estates between $500,000 and $750,000.

7 per cent, estates between $750,000 and $1,250,000.

8 per cent, estates between $1,250,000 and $2,000,000.

10 per cent, estates between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000.

15 per cent, all estates over $5,000,000.

Gasoline Tax Increase.

Bills proposing the increase in the gasoline tax levy from 2 to 4 cents and an automobile weight tax were introduced by Representative Davis. The automobile weight levy bill would repeal the existing personal property tax on automobiles, substituting a graduated scale that would yield an average of $14 a car.

Although taxation of public utilities here on an ad valorem basis and suspension of current exemptions of tunnels, retaining walls, bridges and viaducts owned by steam railroads was recommended in the report, no bills were introduced yesterday to carry out these proposals. Chairman Mapes intimated that other bills may later be drafted.

The chairman, who first asked an hour to present his 60-page report in condensed form, later was forced to seek a half hour's additional time, after repeated interruptions from the floor. The Speaker had to rap for order several times during the presentation, as members continued to converse.

Mr. Mapes told how the committee, advised by George Lord, Detroit tax expert, concentrated its investigation on taxation in 23 cities of similar size, Washington inclusive.

He said they found the District, with a tax rate of $15.30 per $1,000 of valuation, the lowest taxed of the 23 cities and Louisville, with a rate of $30 per $1,000, the highest taxed.

"Everywhere we found the people of the country laboring under heavy tax burdens, heavier than they can bear in many cases," he told the members.

"For that reason we do not want the people of the District to be taxed so heavy. But we feel they should be brought a little nearer the average."

Just and Equitable.

He said he considered the report "just and equitable," and declared it is entirely possible that the lump sum may be reduced to $5,500,000 in another year if the four proposed bills are enacted.

Asked by Representative Clarence Cannon (Democrat), Missouri, chairman of the District subcommittee of the House appropriations committee, what would be the alternative if the four bills are not enacted, Mr. Mapes said:

"If the bills are not passed, then the general property tax should be increased to take care of needs over and above the $6,500,000 contributed by the Government."

He said the Commissioners have reduced estimates this year to a point that could not be considered for a permanent policy. For this reason, he said, the committee fixed the Federal contribution as high as $6,500,000 "to take care of reasonable increases in the cost of the Federal Government in the years to come."

Example for Retrenchment.

Mr. Davis, allotted time to speak on the report, declared that "if the committee has erred, it has erred on the side of liberality."

Believing taxes too high the country over, he said the committee had set the District up as an example for retrenchment.

"We believed that Washington should not only be made a model city in beauty, but also in Government and taxation," he said.

Mr. Frear, the only one of the seven members not to sign the report, termed the Federal Government's annual appropriation for local needs a "subsidy," to which the Capital is no more entitled than other cities in the country.

"Of course they will complain about the increase in the gasoline tax and the weight tax on automobiles," he said. "They will complain about anything that we do and anything that I say."

Favors $14,500,000 Boost.

To equalize taxation in the District with the average of the 23 comparable cities, he said taxes here should be boosted $14,500,000. He said findings of the committee showed the District pays only 63 per cent of the average paid by the other cities. The Argentine, he said, is the only other government in the world that contributes toward the expenses of its Capital City.

He charged that the District gets more money out of the Federal Treasury considering the amount it pays in, than any State in the Union.

Representative E. E. Cox (Democrat), of Georgia, repeatedly interrupted the speakers. He said the committee should have recommended a property tax that would have "more nearly equalized the tax burden with other cities." When he asked Chairman Mapes why the committee had not urged reductions in taxes elsewhere, Mr. Mapes replied that such a recommendation was out of its scope.

Flurry of Applause.

There was a flurry of applause when Mr. Frear finished speaking. Among those applauding was Mrs. Mary T. Norton (Democrat), New Jersey, chairman of the House District committee.

She later said she had formed no opinion on the Mapes report, but intended to study it.

New Markets Urged For Farm Products

(Associated Press.)

The new chairman of the House agriculture committee — Representative Jones, of Texas—thinks the Agriculture Department should spend less time on production problems and more on finding new markets.

"I should like to see the discrimination against agriculture in our tariff and freight rate structures corrected," he said yesterday. "In other words, the handicaps should be removed." The Texan thinks there are enough bureaus now, too many in fact, and he will oppose additional ones to help the farmer.

Mexican Highway Progress Is Told

Rapid Strides Made on Pan-American Road Shown to Board.

Rapid strides which Mexico is making toward the completion of its portion of the Pan-American highway, from Laredo to Mexico City, were illustrated with motion pictures yesterday at a luncheon given by the Highway Education Board at the Cosmos Club.

William H. Furlong, highways secretary of the San Antonio (Tex.) Chamber of Commerce, addressed the meeting, telling of difficulties experienced in cutting through swamps and jungles to lay the roadbed.

Guests included Senor Don Jose Manuel Puig Casaurane, Ambassador from Mexico; Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the United States Bureau of Public Roads; Francis White, Assistant Secretary of State; Senator Tasker L. Oddie, of Nevada; Maj. F. S. Clark and Lieut. Col. E. W. Week's Grain Exports Rise 818,000 Bushels

(Associated Press.)

Grain exports last week from the United States amounted to 2,501,000 bushels against 1,683,000 bushels the previous week, and 703,000 during the corresponding week last year.

Commerce Department figures yesterday gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those of the week before: Wheat, 2,408,000 against 1,469,000; barley, 49,000 against 159,000; corn, 37,000 against 24,000; oats, 12,000 against 31,000. No exports of rye were reported for either week.

HOLIDAY ON DEC. 26 TO COME UP FRIDAY

Ashurst Plan Is Slated for First Consideration in Senate Group.

The Ashurst resolution, declaring December 26 a legal holiday in the District this year, will be the first matter passed on by the Senate District committee, at its initial hearing Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Senate committee rooms.

Meanwhile the House District committee is laying plans for an early meeting, possibly Monday, when hearings will be started on a proposal to declare a year's moratorium on sale for nonpayment of taxes of 17,000 pieces of property advertised as delinquent.

The holiday resolution proposed by Senator Henry F. Ashurst (Democrat), Arizona, would free employes on the Saturday following Christmas, which comes on Friday this year.

Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, chairman of the Senate District committee, plans early action on the bill proposing incorporation of the District Bicentennial Commission to permit it to dispose of concessions. He said he had expected to call the committee to meet Tuesday for the first time, but yesterday decided on an earlier start.

Chairman Mary T. Norton (Democrat), New Jersey, of the House District committee, said it is possible that she also may move up her first meeting date.

A bill introduced yesterday by Senator Capper would authorize a joint commission of the Senate and House committees on the Library to acquire for $45,000 "The Indian Buffalo Hunt," colossal group by Henry K. Bush Brown, Washington sculptor.

Representative Robert Luce (Republican), Massachusetts, introduced a bill for acceptance of Analostan Island from the Roosevelt Memorial Association, in recognition of the work of the association. The counterpart of the bill had already been introduced in the Senate.

Representative Luce also asked congressional sanction of interchange of land between the District and Federal governments, "for purposes of administration and maintenance."

Impasse on Moses Is in Second Week

(Associated Press.)

The Senate struggle over election of a president pro tempore went into its second week yesterday without a sign of a break in the deadlock. Two more ballots were taken, but the opposition of the Western independent Republicans to the reelection of Senator Moses (Republican), New Hampshire, again prevented any one candidate from receiving a majority.

Meanwhile another demand for the Senate to get down to business came from the Democratic side. Senator Black, of Alabama, pointed out the chamber had been in session for more than a week without taking action to aid the unemployed. He introduced a resolution to direct the finance committee to draft a bill authorizing a $1,000,000,000 bond issue for road construction as an unemployment aid and said he would demand action on it today. He said the unemployed had no interest in who was president pro tempore of the Senate.

The first ballot yesterday was the same as the last of Monday, with Moses receiving 26 votes; Pittman (Democrat), Nevada, 36, and Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, 13. On the second ballot the independents voted for Senator McNary, assistant Republican leader. In all, seventeen ballots have been taken.

New House Committee To Study Shoals First

(Associated Press.)

Muscle Shoals was put yesterday at the head of all other business before the new House military committee by Percy Quin, of Mississippi, Democratic chairman of the committee.

"It is the first matter we will take up," he said. "After a preliminary organization meeting, I will probably name a subcommittee to consider Muscle Shoals legislation."

Senate Group to Hear Naval Limit Plea Soon

(Associated Press.)

The Senate naval committee decided yesterday to hold hearings immediately after the holidays on a bill to authorize building the Navy to treaty limits. Secretary Adams will be the first witness, followed by high ranking naval officers.

Chairman Hale said the bill, which he is sponsoring, would help greatly the American position at the February arms limitation conference at Geneva.

The queen went with the king and they used the names of Count and Countess of Avala. They are to be gone several weeks.

The fact that King Alexander was accompanied by Court Minister Jeftitch was interpreted as meaning that after consulting with his physicians he intended to serve as his own finance minister. M. Jeftitch would be able to advise the king on such matters.

CAPONE JUDGE GAINS BOOM FOR GOVERNOR

Wilkerson Reported Backed by Hoover; Emmerson Holds Comment.

Chicago, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Chicago political writers counted Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today as a potential candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, basing their estimates on purported encouragement by President Hoover and the backing of certain Illinois Republican leaders.

Judge Wilkerson was accorded a friendly reception at the Gridiron dinner at Washington Saturday as the man who sentenced "Scarface" Al Capone to prison for income tax dodging. United States Senator Otis F. Glenn has recommended his elevation to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, but reports in the press today, unconfirmed at Washington, indicate at a White House visit he was urged to stand for the Governorship of Illinois.

His secretary said the judge was ill at his home today.

Among those listed by the Chicago Daily News today as his advocates for the gubernatorial race were Edward J. Brundage, former Attorney General; Robert E. Crowe, former State's attorney of Cook County, and George F. Harding, former county treasurer and local leader of the Republican faction friendly to Gov. Louis L. Emmerson.

The published reports today held that Judge Wilkerson, already assured of an Appellate Court position, would be unwilling to stand for governor unless assured a clear field for the nomination.

Gov. Emmerson made no comment on the report.

Doherty's Utility Stock Holdings Are Revealed

Topeka, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—The Kansas public service commission was informed today that Henry L. Doherty & Co. owns stock representing 30 per cent of the voting power in the Cities Service Co.

The information came from F. C. Hamilton, member of the executive committee of Henry L. Doherty & Co., under cross-examination at the commission's investigatoin into reasonableness of the 40-cent city gas rate and other intercompany charges entering into gas rates maintained in Kansas by Cities Service subsidiaries.

Samuel Insull, Jr., Quits As Utilities President

Chicago, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Samuel Insull, jr., resigned today as president of the Midland United Co., and was elected vice chairman. Robert M. Feustel, who has been executive vice president, was elected president; William A. Sauer, who has been vice president and general manager, was elected executive vice president.

The Midland United Co. controls public utility companies serving gas, electricity, transportation, water and heat to 820 communities in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan.

Yen and Mark Get World Banking Aid

International Financiers Act to Block Short-Selling Efforts.

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Leading international banks of New York, London, Paris, and Amsterdam, have thrown an effective bulwark around the Japanese yen and the German reichsmark in a powerful effort to thwart speculative short selling of those two currencies, it was learned in high banking circles today.

The yen in today's market gave reflection of this support by rallying 1½ cents to its closing price of 42.95 cents. The German reichsmark sold at 23 7-10 cents, for a net loss of only 1 1-20 cents. Efforts of speculators to sell both the yen and the reichsmark short revealed no channel in this country through which large scale operations of this sort could be conducted.

The foreign exchange market as a whole, was moderately irregular. The English pound sterling closed at $3.45⅝ for cables, off ⅜ cent. The Canadian dollar was quoted at 80¼ cents for a net loss of ⅝ cent.

Cotton Trade Crippled By Farm Board, Claim

Minneapolis, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Walter Parker, economic advisor to the American Cotton Shippers Association, said tonight the Farm Board's activities have "crippled and handicapped the world-wide selling force," built by the United States cotton industry.

Addressing the annual banquet of the Northwest Country Elevator Association, Parker said the "only way out" lay in "taking the Government out of the cotton merchandising business, free the trade of artificial handicaps and again foster open markets."

When Washington Was Younger—No. 137

Since 1789 there has always been a bridge spanning the canal, although many rebuildings have been necessary due to the scourges of floods and ice packs. The last bridge, which was built of wood and steel, was razed previous to the construction of the present structure. During the hectic years of the Civil War the span was commandeered by the Federal Government in order to facilitate the transport of troops and supplies.

In spite of the congressional appropriation of $250,000 for the erection of the present structure in 1927 the actual construction did not commence for several months, due to a controversy between the Highway Commission and the Fine Arts Commission relative to the building plans. However, after many delays the new bridge was finally opened to the public in May of 1930, by Col. William Ladue, the Engineer Commissioner.

SHORT SALES PROBE IS ASKED IN SENATE

Practice Is Defended by President of New York Stock Exchange.

(Associated Press.)

A resolution for congressional inquiry into short selling was introduced yesterday by Senator Capper (Republican), Kansas. He already had proposed to tax and regulate short sales.

The investigation would be directed by the Senate banking committee or a subcommittee authorized to go into all details of short sales of stocks, bonds and other securities on various exchanges.

It would investigate all short sales in 1929, 1930 and 1931 and ascertain what persons, firms, associations or corporations participated, in what amounts and the kind of securities.

Whitney Defends Practice.

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Assailing the critics of short selling as unwilling to be convinced even by the most conclusive statistics, Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, today renewed his defense of short selling as an economic necessity in a free and open market.

Faced with the prospect of a congressional investigation of the supposed machinations of bear raiders, the exchange's head attacked the use of "imaginary statistics" and the attempts to discredit short selling by "indirect and devious ways." He addressed the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Whitney cited statistics to show that no short selling, but liquidation has "smashed prices on the stock exchange," disclosing, for instance, that the fifteen stocks with the heaviest short interest had the most solid market and the narrowest price fluctuations.

Cites Statistics.

On the other hand, he said, the fifteen stocks with the greatest decline in percentage of value have virtually no short interest, and that of the fifteen with the greatest dollar decline, only three had a considerable short interest at any time.

He emphasized that the total short position has declined 1,850,000 shares between May 25 and November 30, and that of the total sales of 264,300,000 shares in that period, a generous estimate shows only 5 per cent as sold short.

"To say this 5 per cent," he said, "was the cause of the decline is to ignore entirely the effect of the 95 per cent which represented the sale of securities owned outright or on margin."

Witnesses Deny Woman Was Wife of Erlanger

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Two witnesses were called today to dispute the claim of Charlotte Fixel that she was the common law wife of the late Abraham L. Erlanger and is entitled to one-third of his large estate. The case is being heard by Surrogate John P. O'Brien.

Murray Lachman testified that Erlanger took him to Europe on a $125 a week salary in 1928, and that he once heard Erlanger refer to Miss Fixel, who also took the trip, as "a bad woman, a dangerous woman."

Jobless Numbers Rise in Britain.

London, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—On December 7 there were 2,627,324 unemployed in Great Britain, which was 5,297 more than the previous week and 320,382 more than in the same week last year.

Radio Is Likely to Offer Senate Talks Before Long

By JOHN J. DALY

EVENTUALLY, if not now, the folks back home may listen-in on Senate broadcasts. While a proposal to put Senate debates on the air was successfully blocked, the rules committee has before it a resolution proposing a study of the practicability of broadcasting from Capitol Hill. So, some day the ether waves may carry something like this:

Ladies and gentlemen:

This is Station CAP in Washington.

You are about to hear the first broadcast from the floor of the Senate. While the sceen is being set, you will be entertained with a description of the preliminary proceedings.

This is a beautiful sight. Vice President Curtis is sitting on the dais, gavel in hand. Senator Dill has just made a wild, frantic motion, calling for order.

Senator Hiram Johnson orders the Marine Band to play, at all White House receptions, "California, Here I Come."

The Marine Band is playing, outside the rotunda, "Carry Me Back to Old New Hampshire."

Senator Moses, standing at attention, salutes Senator Watson, as the giant from Indiana, with the permission of the copyright owners, introduces a bill to make the "Banks of the Wabash" the national anthem.

* * * *

Your announcer is Herluf Provensen.

When the g g sounds it will be 59 minutes and 59 seconds past 3 o'clock, Bureau of Standards time.

The Senate is getting ready to go into a huddle, Senator Capper capping the climax by asking for a roll call.

Senator Glass, breaking under the strain, is being carried to the cloakroom by Senators Cutting and Gore.

Senator Wagner has the floor. Senator Harrison, standing pat, is trying to get it away from him. My mistake, folks, that is not Senator Wagner. It is Senator Couzens who has the floor. It is mighty hard to distinguish the players, I mean the senators, without numbers.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, no, that is Senator Walsh of Massachusetts—at any rate, it is Senator Walsh—is now taking his seat. That sounds funny because, as a matter of fact, the senator is not taking his seat. He can not take a seat. The seats in the Senate are all nailed down.

A giant bunch of chrysanthemums is now being carried into the chamber. No, I am mistaken. It is Senator J. Ham Lewis, in white waistcoat, cinnamon-colored coat, pin-striped trousers and ascot tie. The galleries are wild with excitement.

As soon as Senator Reed starts reading we will turn on the combined microphone force of the Senate so that the people of America—the United States of America—may have the privilege, and, I dare say, the pleasure, of hearing.

* * * *

THERE they go now. The Senate is lining up—I mean standing in prayer—while the chaplain pronounces the benediction, and I will turn the microphone over to our outside announcer, Graham McNamee, who will described for you the great scenes on the boulevards of Washington, and on the Capitol Plaza, where sight-seers have gathered, pushing and shoving, in an endeavor to get inside the building, out of the rain.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

This broadcast comes to you over a Nation-wide network of stations, broadcasting their bread upon the "Waters of the Minnetonka," sung by the Timmons Bedstead Co. Quartet, accompanied by Senators Smoot and How-ell.

Mooney's Mother Pleads to Rolph

Letter to Governor Says It Seems He Is Using Son as "Football."

San Francisco, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mary Mooney, aged mother of Thomas Mooney, wrote Gov. James Rolph, jr. today urging the executive to release her son from San Quentin prison "before it is too late."

Mrs. Mooney told the governor: "It looks like you're usin' my boy for a football like all the other governors did. You kick him to Mr. Sullivan," she said, "and I guess he'll kick him back to you."

40 Men in Bonus Trek Sighted in Wilmington

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—About 40 men, said to be World War veterans, who left Philadelphia yesterday on a hike to Washington to plead for full payment of bonus certificates, passed through Wilmington today.

They spent last night in Chester, Pa.

RAIL CHIEFS SILENT ON UNION INVITATION

Western Presidents to Attend Wage Conference in East; Cut Predicted.

Chicago, Dec. 15. (A.P.).—The question of whether Western railroad presidents would accept the invitation of union rail labor to a conference on "unemployment and wages" remains unanswered today as the Western executives, after an all-day meeting, "adjourned," to meet with Eastern and Southern heads in New York Friday.

They authorized a statement to the effect that they thought desirable a joint meeting of Eastern, Southern and Western lines on that day "in the interests of reaching an agreement as promptly as possible with employes in the matter of wage adjustment."

But W. B. Storey, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad, who predicted last night that a 15 per cent wage cut recommendation would grow out of today's meeting, declared after its close his prediction still stood. He said that no committee was authorized by the Western group with authority "to negotiate to a conclusion" on questions of wage adjustment and employment as was done by Eastern presidents yesterday.

Instead, all roads represented agreed to send either their chief executive or representative to New York on Friday.

It was understood that although many executives present favored the plan adopted by the Eastern roads, appointment of a committee, sentiment was present for demanding a 15 per cent cut after first giving union men another chance to accept a voluntary 10 per cent cut.

Oil Industry Is Warned Against Utter Collapse

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—A warning to the oil industry that unless something is done quickly "we are headed for more trouble," was issued today by Amos L. Beaty, president of the American Petroleum Institute.

The recently elected head of the institute believes that the present is no time for "optimistic and lulling" statements, and put this view into action by telling his associates that the industry faces the choice between sanity of operations and utter collapse.

Bankers' Acceptances Decline $37,480,274

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—The steady decline in foreign trade, retirement of bills under German credits and continued depressing conditions in domestic trade contributed to a drop of $37,480,274 in outstanding bankers' acceptances in November, the American Acceptance Council reported today.

The total outstanding at the end of November was $1,002,304,705, a low figure for this season of the year and $569,112,969 below the total outstanding November 30, 1930.

Naming of W. D. Hines To League Body Seen

Geneva, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Walker D. Hines, railway transportation expert, is believed by informed persons here to have been designated as the American member of the League of Nations commission to investigate the situation in Manchuria.

The names of the commissioners have been closely guarded, but Mr. Hines has been nominated unofficially as a man well equiped for the difficult task. It is understood that the league already has moved to ascertain Washington's attitude toward his selection.

$16,000 Given Lawyer Suing Dolores del Rio

Los Angeles, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Gunther Lessing, attorney who sued Dolores del Rio, film beauty, for $31,000 as fees which he claimed were due for services, was awarded $16,000 today by Superior Court Judge Minor Moore.

A judgment of $20,000 was returned, but the court included $4,000 which the actress had paid, thus reducing the total to $16,000.

British Archbishop Assails Arms Outlay

London, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Despite the lesson of the World War, the nations are still pouring tremendous sums into the building of armaments, the Archbishop of Canterbury said today at a service in St. Paul's, dedicated to the success of next year's disarmament conference.

"The world is spending no less than £2,000,000 a day," he declared, "and we in this country are spending £200 a minute."

British Who's Who Has Gandhi's Name

Three Americans Are Also Listed for First Time in 1932 Book.

London, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—The name of Mahatma Gandhi appears for the first time in the British "Who's Who" for 1932. The Indian leader who has a total space of ten lines, is described as a "barrister."

Three prominent Americans are also included for the first time. One of these is the late Senator Dwight Morrow, who died after the volume had gone to press.

The others are Bobby Jones and "Bill" Tilden, who is described as "journalist and author, also actor; three times world champion of tennis."

$40,000 Rum Bonds Forfeited.

Lake Charles, La., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Dan Hogan, of Montreal and New York, convicted rum ring leader, who is under prison sentence for conspiring to violate the prohibition laws, forfeited $40,000 bond to the Government today by failing to appear in Federal court here for commitment to the penitentiary. Tried with nine companions at Gueydan, La., in 1930, he was sentenced to three years' imprisonment and fined heavily.

M'ADOO SAYS ARMS CUTS ALONE FUTILE

Economic Adjustment Must Be Made to End Wars, He Holds in Address.

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—The United States is simply deceiving itself, William G. McAdoo said in an address tonight, if it believes a reduction in armaments, unless accompanied by profound economic adjustment, would end wars.

Speaking before students of Southern Methodist University, the son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson observed that 12 years after the signing of the Versailles treaty "the obligations of this treaty not only remain unfulfilled, but the leading nations of Europe are maintaining greater armaments and a more staggering burden of waste and taxation than that which preceded the World War."

He expressed the belief that "no effective plan of disarmament can be made unless Russia is taken into the family of nations," and said that, had he been a delegate to the Geneva Disarmament Conference in 1927, he would have accepted Russia's offer wholly to disarm herself at its full value.

He predicted that any effort on the part of the United States to purchase world peace by cancellation of World War debts with the promise that the nations of Europe abolish their armies and navies would result in failure.

Dying Sailor Wins Rum Ship Safety

Coast Guard Waives Rules to Save Life of Man in Liquor Crew.

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—A dying man aboard the schooner Mahaska, reputed liquor carrier, tonight caused the Coast Guard patrol boat Boutwell to speed to its aid 300 miles at sea and won the Mahaska permission to come within the 12-mile limit.

The Mahaska radioed that the man might be saved if rushed to a hospital and was granted permission to come ashore provided hatches were sealed and the ship put to sea immediately thereafter.

Capt. Ridgely, commanding the New York division, said the Coast Guard would be glad to waive normal procedure in an emergency.

CHICAGO SELECTED BY G. O. P. AS SITE FOR 1932 CONVENTION

Moreover, there is a good chance that the Democrats will meet in the same city in which the Republicans are meeting—Chicago. This would make it convenient for the newspaper correspondents, and insure both parties of adequate publicity.

Senator Fess precipitated cheers and handclapping when he delivered his "Have-Confidence-in-Hoover" speech yesterday. The Ohioan, a former college professor, resorted to a large number of metaphors, most of them of a nautical nature.

Outlines Hoover's Work.

After reviewing the President's accomplishments—his efforts to stamp out unemployment, his fight against the "dole," his moratorium proposal, his move to strengthen the banking system, and others—Senator Fess said that the task of the Republican leaders was to convince the voters that President Hoover was not responsible for the "spots on the sun"—in other words, the ills that plague the world today.

"Our business," he said, is to place Mr. Hoover in the minds of the public where his stupendous efforts and brilliant leadership justify. * * *

"Seen from the long distant point of view our country is riding the waves of an economic storm. It is not unlike the best built ship overtaken by a storm at sea. The decks are washed by the waves; the furniture of the ship thrown topsy-turvy; the passengers confined to their staterooms; and the crew bewildered as the storm smashes through the portholes. In the midst of the confusion both passengers and crew are aware that on the bridge stands the pilot with a poised brain and steady hand. He is directing the ship in her course. Her speed is somewhat lowered. Her machinery is being tested, but both passengers and crew have confidence that under this leadership the ship will safely reach the port. Such is the leadership of President Hoover and such will be the confidence of the American people when they fully realize the elements at play through which the ship of state is now passing."

Ruth Pratt Upholds Views.

Representative Ruth Pratt, of New York, said pretty much the same thing, but in a much briefer speech.

The White House, she said, has become the "dumping ground" for all the country's troubles, troubles which no one else will shoulder. She advised Republicans to abandon pessimism, and get out and fight for victory in 1932.

EDWARD N. HURLEY, whose efforts to get the Republican convention for Chicago were crowned with success.

The man who "put over" Chicago as the 1932 convention city, and who is determined to have the Democrats come there as well, is Edward N. Hurley, war-time chairman of the Shipping Board, and one of the Windy City's leading go-getters.

Yesterday, however, before Hurley got up to list the advantages of his home town, Mrs. Bertha D. Baur, Republican national committeewoman from Illinois, opened the argument in favor of the lake metropolis.

Peaceful Meeting Pledged.

"The mayor," she said, "has promised to keep order inside and outside the convention hall."

Afterward Hurley got up and said it with money—a check for $150,000 to guarantee the expenses of the convention.

Inasmuch as it did not seem just right for a man who served under Woodrow Wilson to be asking for a Republican convention, Col. Robert Isham Randolph, head of the "Secret Six" that got Al Capone, arose to back up Hurley's arguments and to tell the members that he was a Republican, and that selection of Chicago was one way to insure the carrying of that city in 1932. The same argument probably will be made to the Democratic national committee when it meets here in January. Senator Otis Glenn, of Illinois, also argued in favor of selecting Chicago.

James E. Davidson, of Michigan, said that Detroit gave way to Chicago. Jesse Pomeroy, of New Jersey, said that, inasmuch as the party had not held a convention in the East for 31 years, Atlantic City should be suggested.

Senator Hamilton Kean, of New Jersey, was the first to make what the Chicago people referred to as a "dirty crack" against their city. Referring to the statement of Mrs. Baur that the mayor would keep order inside and outside the hall, he said:

"I wonder if she won't guarantee insurance for the delegates."

Then, Harry Bacharach, Mayor of Atlantic City, introduced by Representative Isaac Bacharach, of New Jersey, his brother, said:

Answers Charges.

"When women go down our 8-mile boardwalk, day or night, unescorted, there will be no danger of their being molested."

Col. Randolph answered what he referred to as the innuendos by saying that, while Chicago once had a bad reputation, that reputation has now vanished.

Those who got into trouble, he said, were those who were looking for trouble. These, he added, "have been locked up, and they will stay locked up." A visitor to Chicago, he added, is as safe as a visitor in any city in the country.

HOST CITY MAKING ELABORATE PLANS

Chicago to Entertain G. O. P. in Lavish Style; Hopes to Get Democrats Also.

Chicago, Dec. 15 (U.P.).—Chicago is making elaborate plans for entertainment of delegates to the Republican national convention here next June.

The preparations also include the Democrats, inasmuch as the "I will" representatives of this Midwestern metropolis took today's decision of the Republicans to convene here as the signal for redoubling efforts to get the Democratic national convention.

Citizens here quickly raised $150,000 for Republican expenses, obtained reduced railroad rates for delegates, and exacted promises from all hotel owners that room rates would not be raised.

Finally they contracted with the Chicago Stadium, perhaps the country's finest convention hall, for any time in May, June or July, so that meetings could be held there, no matter what dates the national conventions are held.

The arguments proved too strong for the Republicans to resist. Edward N. Hurley, sr., chairman of the Chicago convention committee, believes that the Democrats won't be able to resist, either.

Hurley Due Bulk of Credit.

To Hurley belongs most of the credit for obtaining the Republican convention. He is a manufacturer of washing machines and tools, was chairman of the war-time Shipping Board and long has been known as one of Chicago's most enthusiastic boosters.

He spent three months doing nothing but "selling Chicago" to the Republicans. With the Association of Commerce he appointed 135 members of his committee. Committee members forgot their party affiliations for the time being, divided Chicago into districts and collected funds.

Mr. Hurley and Col. Robert Isham Randolph took a certified check for $150,000 to Washington when they presented their bid to Republican leaders. They also took with them the Democratic Mayor of Chicago, Anton J. Cermak, who assured the Republicans that anything Chicago has would be theirs for the asking.

The Century of Progress decided to cooperate by throwing open its ornate world's fair buildings on the lake front to the delegates a year before the fair is scheduled to start. In formulation are plans to have President Hoover speak from Washington over a Nation-wide hook-up while delegates visit the fair.

Veritable Palace of Sport.

The stadium, where the convention proper will be held, is a veritable palace of sport, a few blocks west of the "Loop." It covers an entire city block on West Madison street, seating 30,000 persons at a political gathering, or 25,000 for boxing matches and other sporting events.

Weather inside is manufactured to order, with 23 tons of fresh air being forced into the building each minute. Excellent acoustics and a loud speaker system make a speakers' voice audible anywhere in the building. The stadium organ has a volume equivalent to 25 brass bands of 100 instruments each. Its vibrations shattered electric light bulbs during an experiment.

The roof is 117 feet above the ground floor. There are no pillars or posts. Seats are painted a brilliant red.

The stadium may be reached by automobile from the heart of the "loop" in seven minutes, by elevated train in the same time, by bus or street car in 12 minutes and by foot in 20 minutes.

Truck Owners' Group Plans Reorganization

Local truck owners and operators last night laid plans for reorganization of the Commercial Motor Vehicle Owners Association at a meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The group was addressed by Edward F. Loomis, secretary of the motor truck committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Other speakers included A. H. Bishop, president of the Maryland Automobile Trade Association and Clem D. Johnston, of Roanoke, President of the Virginia Motor Truck Owners Association. Another meeting will be held December 29 when officers will be elected.

Delegates' Allotment For G.O.P. Convention

Democratic Chief Advises Harmony

Shouse Warns Alabamans Party Must Pick Road and Stick to It.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—The Democratic party must "pick a road and stick to it," if full measure of success is to be realized in the coming presidential campaign, Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, told Alabama Democrats here tonight.

Harmony is the first principle of success, political or otherwise, he said, and it is up to the Democrats to maintain the harmonious front shown so far in the organization of the House of Representatives under a Democratic leader.

Addressing the Alabama State Democratic committee, which meets here tomorrow to discuss methods of selecting delegates to the next convention, Mr. Shouse outlined the national prospects of the party, discussed local and State affairs, and made it clear that he was not attempting to influence the Alabama delegation at the convention.

Civic Leader to Speak Tonight.

Col. J. Miller Kenyon, civic leader, will be principal speaker tonight at a meeting of the Brotherhood of the Washington Hebrew Congregation at the Eighth Street Temple. A program of entertainment will follow.

Candidacy of Hoover Welcomed by Shouse

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, today said the Democratic party would welcome the candidacy of President Hoover in 1932 along the lines suggested by Senator Fess, of Ohio, in addressing the Republican national committee in Washington.

After reading the statement of the Republican national committee chairman in opening a session called to select a 1932 convention city, Mr. Shouse said:

"Nothing could please the Democratic party more than to have the Republicans nominate Herbert Hoover for his alleged brilliance and leadership. If the Republicans are willing to wage next year's campaign with Mr. Hoover along those lines, the Democrats certainly are."

Free Night Textbook Amendment Is Favored

A resolution favoring the Capper bill amendment which would provide free textbooks for night as well as day high school students was adopted last night by the Citizens Forum of Columbia Heights meeting at Wilson Teachers College.

MILLION IN DEPOSITS BARED IN GRAFT QUIZ

Traced to Birnbaum, Who Refuses to Testify in New York.

New York, Dec. 15 (U.P.).—Murray Birnbaum refused to testify before the Hofstadter commission today, but his bank books, showing deposits of $1,270,000, were eloquent of Birnbaum's flourishing "restaurant" business in the middle-class Bronx.

Birnbaum, released from Atlanta prison after serving two years for bootlegging, was wanted as a link between the liquor trade and police officials charged by the investigating committee with dereliction of duty.

The Hofstadter committee, empowered by the legislature to investigate every department of the City of New York, revealed yesterday an amazing prosperity among police officials in the eighth district, where Birnbaum operates. It wanted to question Birnbaum—to ask him whether this affluence might not be a reflection of the prosperity of his restaurant and roadhouse chain.

Birnbaum, with regard for his own welfare, particularly since Federal officials of late have taken to investigating bank accounts, refused to sign a waiver of immunity, and was excused—temporarily.

The gap in his expected testimony was filled by the sworn reports of Judge Samuel Seabury's accountants, who showed that Birnbaum deposited in five years, $953,361.18 in his personal accounts, and $317,430.93 in his "business" accounts.

This information was followed by testimony showing that alleged speakeasies owned by Birnbaum were immune from prosecution, and that whenever the police found it necessary to make a raid, only minor charges were placed against the proprietor.

Freeman, John W. Charlston, Mamie L. Stewart, Eva B. Lucas, Dr. William H. Jackson, George Ambler, Henry H. Banks, John H. Paynter, Samuel Watson and John C. Bruce.

HOOVER DEBT PLAN STIRS HEATED ROW IN CONGRESS

Mills Makes His Plea.

Before the House ways and means committee Undersecretary of the Treasury Mills made an eloquent plea for approval of the Hoover moratorium. He even anticipated the criticism of Senators Reed and McKellar, and said:

"Admitting there were any benefits to American international bankers—which I don't—I would say, what of it?" He turned rhetorically and swept the semicircle of members of the House committee.

"Who's hurt? The American people. You destroy the American banks and you destroy the American people, rich and poor alike. To destroy the banks is to destroy the savings of the people."

Mills was flanked by Dr. Herbert Feis, economic adviser of the State Department, and by Dr. Frederick Livesy, assistant economic adviser. Dr. Livesy was the expert who accompanied Undersecretary of the Treasury Mills and Secretary Stimson to the London conference on the moratorium last summer.

Emphasizes Distinction.

Mr. Mills emphasized the absolute distinction between the question of the moratorium and the cancellation of the debts. He said:

"They are as completely separate and as distinct as two things can be."

In response to a query from Representative Ragon (Democrat), Arkansas, the Undersecretary stated he was very pessimistic of the chances of getting any payment at all from any of the European nations even if the moratorium were not ratified. Chairman Collier (Democrat), Mississippi, inquired:

"Has the Treasury received any of these sums amounting to $250,000,000 which would have to be paid if the moratorium were not ratified?"

Mills replied, "No; and I am very pessimistic of the chances of getting the money."

The temper of the Congress with regard to the question of debts has been aggravated by the announced increases in income-tax schedules and other income-producing assessments. Two of the President's staunchest proponents, Senators Reed and Smoot, while preserving their announced intention of approving the moratorium, nevertheless will fight any indication of a debt cancellation in the present negotiations between the United States and its European debtor nations.

The influence of the international banker in the debt transactions was severely criticized by Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, who declared:

"Cancelaltion of all the foreign debts is now being plotted by these international bankers who want to make their own private debts surer of payment by eliminating the governmental debts."

Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, chairman of the finance committee, agreed with his Democratic colleague and declared that a definite campaign for cancellation was under way. With these critics Senator Reed, friend of Secertary of the Treasury Mellon and administration bulwark, seemed to be in accord when he announced that various bankers are now holding foreign seurities in the hope that a successful campaign for cancellation of war debts will enable them to reap vast profits. The Senator from Pennsylvania is opposed to debt revision or any further tampering with the debt problem in a downward tendency, but he is an earnest advocate of the moratorium.

Neutral Opinion.

The policy committee of the Democratic party has announced a neutral opinion on the moratorium and this absence of political opposition is believed to assure ultimate approval of the measure.

The dramatic scene in the House when a Democratic member of Congress challenged the charge of a Republican against President Hoover brought rounds of applause from the galleries. The word "impeachment" first voiced by the President's Democratic defender, was quickly taken up by Representative Chiperfield.

"If the gentleman from Pennsylvania (McFadden) is sincere, let him and his associates prepare articles of impeachment against the President and let those articles of impeachment be tried, and then the truth may be known, and let the guilt and infamy and horror fall where it is due."

Mills Faces Members.

In the ways and means committee room, Undersecretary Mills faced the members with a calm, exhaustive study of the international financial events leading up to the sudden announcement by the President of the twelve months' debt holiday. Against the background of the financial uncertainty of the world, he pictured the distress of Germany and traced the following fourfold terrors which would have followed if Germany had not been saved by the President's decree: First, Germany would have abandoned the gold standard; second, there would have been started a run on German banks; third, German export trade would have been cut off by the lack of credit; fourth, German industry would have been paralyzed and her 3,500,000 of unemployed have already become 5,000,000, or perhaps more.

This international economic catastrophe has been averted by the President's action of June 21, and, although it was not finally accepted in its entirety until the 12th of the following month, Mills said:

"The major calamity has been averted. No man can deny that. The wisdom of the President's justice has been confirmed."

Cites Bank Failure.

The fate of those countries that have gone off the gold standard was expressed by Mills, quoting from the London Economist as "the end of an era."

The "economic solidarity of the world" was eloquently stated by Mills when he showed the results of an Austrian bank failure in Vienna which six months later entailed the abandonment by Japan of the gold standard also.

He said:

"I reiterate that the possibilities of danger were incalculable. No man would have dared to do otherwise if he knew the facts. Therefore I ask you gentlemen to approve this measure in your report to the House."

Secretary Stimson is expected to testify before the committee today. The measure will come up for general debate on the floor of the House tomorrow and is expected to be passed by the end of the week.

GREEN OFFERS PLAN TO SOLVE IDLENESS

7-Hour Day and 5-Day Week Is Held Answers to Job Problem of U. S.

The unemployment problem would be eliminated if industry adopted the seven-hour day and the five-day week, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said last night in a radio talk.

If the hours of labor are shortened there would be sufficient work for all, Green stated. He said: "The fear of unemployment ought to be removed so far as is possible. The practice of wage cutting should cease. The fight should be to maintain price levels, including wages.

"The Nation must resolve that this abnormal, unsound and indefensible condition of unemployment, want and suffering in a land rich and filled with plenty, must come to an end."

The establishment and maintenance of prosperity is only possible when the buying power of the masses corresponds with the production power of industry; and to accomplish this buying power must be extended to a maximum through the extension of adequate credit opportunities, he said.

Hollywood, Calif., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Officials of the Motion Picture Cameramen's Union announced tonight the members have voted against accepting a recently ordered wage cut, and their decision will be discussed soon at New York by committees representing the union and motion picture producers.

The announcement said the vote was almost unanimous.

PULLED FROM PATH OF AUTO

This young lady, shown making friends with Private Paul G. Towner, of the Third Precinct, landed at the station after she narrowly missed the morgue or hospital under the wheels of an automobile on New York avenue between Fourteenth and Thirteenth streets northwest. She was pulled from the path of the car and taken to the police station by Roger Whiteford (shown in inset), Washington attorney living in Chevy Chase. The child could only give her name as "E. R." Her parents called for her later, but did not leave their names.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT FALLS AFTER RIOTING OF STUDENTS

Gen. Chen was appointed chairman of the executive yuan.

The street disorders began late Monday night, gradually gaining such strength that the resignation of the government could not be avoided. The students, who came here from all parts of the country, sang communistic songs, demanded war against Japan and ignored an imposing display of machine guns and rifles by troops from the garrison.

Part of the mob finally invaded the foreign offices yesterday morning while Chiang was meeting in emergency session with the party and government leaders at the Nationalist peoples party headquarters. The foreign office was wrecked and four attaches were injured. The mob then invaded the Nationalist party headquarters, forcing its way into the room where the government leaders were in session. Several more officials were injured and Gen. Chen called the guards, who fired on the rioters.

Rush at Guards.

The students rushed at the guards, singing and waving red flags, shouting antigovernment slogans. Forty of the leaders were seized by the guards and at the point of machine guns forced to order the rioters to disperse. A heavy guard was then posted and more machine guns mounted.

Troops swarmed through the streets in an effort to end the disorders, but without success. A state of military law already existed in the capital and martial law enforced by troops in the vicinity of the Japanese consulate general to prevent an attack.

One band of students attacked guards outside the government offices, disarmed them, and used the rifles to fire upon the troops. The government automobiles were destroyed and furniture and fixtures broken. The foreign ministry radio station was damaged.

For hours the students were in control of the capital, although officials continued the running of essential public services. Students in Shanghai and other cities arrived in the capital on every train.

Casualties Not Known.

The government leaders used what avenues remained open to take precautions throughout the large cities of China against violent reaction to the disorders here. Casualties were not known.

The reorganization was difficult, however, because of the conflict with Japan in Manchuria and the fact that no official in any city knows as yet whether he is in or out of office.

The Cantonese leaders, who have maintained an independent regime in recent months, had been negotiating with the Nationalist leaders at Nanking for a peace agreement which would unite the nation politically. Led by Eugene Chen and Wang Chingwei, who is now seriously ill of diabetes in a Shanghai hospital, they halted at Shanghai last week en route to Nanking. They refused to continue to the capital until Chiang resigned.

May Be Clarified.

With their arrival here, the situation may be clarified, although the terms on which a united government is to be formed remained uncertain. Many other factors also were involved, including the power of Chiang over the army and the attitude of his ally, Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, ousted Manchurian ruler, who is now at Peiping with a powerful army. If Chiang Kai-Shek plots to regain the upper hand, he is most likely to find strong support among his "key men" throughout the nation.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

Mukden, Manchuria, Dec. 15.—Gen. Tsang Shihyi emerged today as the probable head of a new and autonomous Manchuria.

Prior to the Japanese occupation of Mukden September 18, Gen. Tsang was civil governor of Liaoning Province, now called Fengtien. Since the occupation he has been held prisoner by the Japanese, although he has enjoyed a comfortable house in the international settlement at Mukden.

There were reports yesterday that he had consented to assume the Manchurian governoship, and today he was quietly installed as the head of the Mukden provincial government in place of Yuan Chin-Kai, who never has been considered more than a figurehead. Yuan was placed at the head of the civil government at Mukden shortly after the Japanese occupation.

New Clashes Reported.

Clashes between Japanese troops and Chinese irregulars were reported from two points in southern Manchuria today, and army headquarters said there was a similar brush yesterday near Tsitsihar.

A company of Japanese met 600 or 700 irregulars a few miles east of Tiehling. Reports reaching headquarters said fighting had been going on for six hours and the outcome still was uncertain. Japanese losses were put at three killed and Chinese at sixteen killed.

Headquarters displayed concern over reports that 2,000 Chinese irregulars had left Talinchan, 43 miles west of Cheng-Chiatun, and were moving to the east.

PEACE MENACE SEEN AS CHIANG RESIGNS

Japan Threatens Chinchow; Move May Renew Fight by Stimson.

(United Press.)

New dangers to peace in the Orient were seen by some officials here yesterday as the result of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek's resignation as president of China and the insistence of Japanese military leaders on taking Chinchow.

Meanwhile, observers were pondering what some of them regard as a sympathetic understanding between Japan and France, the most powerful nations, respectively, in Asia and Europe.

Both the Chinese legation and some American observers were confident that Japanese forces under Gen. Honjo, commander in Manchuria, will move on Chinchow, gateway to China, as the general himself has threatened to do. But the Japanese embassy told newspapermen not to take Honjo's statements too seriously.

A movement of Japanese troops toward Chinchow would raise a serious question for Secretary of State Stimson. Nearly a month ago, when such an advance was reported, Secretary Stimson told the then foreign minister, Baron Shidehara, that he viewed the move with concern, Shidehara replied that the Japanese would not take the city.

Stimson Talks Revealed.

Subsequently, Secretary Stimson revealed these exchanges. Thus the American Government is on record as objecting to the occupation of Chinchow. If, despite this, Honjo moves his troops into the city, the United States would have to forget its earlier "concern" or else take action. This action might be a strenuous protest to Japan or an appeal to the signatories of the nine-power pacific pact to preserve China's sovereignty, as they are pledged to do.

The crisis around Chinchow finds China's only recognized government in the throes of disintegration. The young Christian warrior, whose appeal brought together vast armies in 1927 to fight the northern war lords, has been driven from power by advocates of a more aggressive policy toward Japan. With him have gone Foreign Minister Wellington Koo and Finance Minister Soong, two able lieutenants.

To officials here who follow the daily history of China, the downfall of Chiang portends political chaos. Nowhere on the horizon can these observers see a strong man to take Chiang's place and breathe life and power into the Nanking government. Nor is there much hope that the Nanking and Canton dissenters will forget their civil quarrel and fuse their strength. The factions have clashing ambitions to dominate.

Japan Seen Strengthened.

The downfall of China's regime is believed to have strengthened Japan's hand. Without a dominant civil government, it is feared that banditry in the Chinese provinces will increase, and thus give point to Japan's claim that the Chinese can not insure safety of life and property in Manchuria.

Chinese officials here profess fear that a repetition of nineteenth century imperialism is just offstage. They are apprehensive lest the Manchurian episode should be the prelude to a partition of China into spheres of influence.

Reports that France has designs on Chinese territory near India have been denied by the French foreign office. The State Department has no reports to confirm them. Yet in the minds of some observers there is a growing conviction that the French and Japanese are well aware of their mutual interests and have established extremely cordial relations.

B., regent of the seminary, as archdeacon; the Rev. Dr. Howard Shepston, notary, and the Rev. Dr. Edward Roelker, master of ceremonies.

Nesbit Fatal Car Crash Adjudged Unavoidable

The auto crash of October 21 which killed Harrison Nesbit, banker and horseman of Warrenton, Va., and Pittsburgh, was unavoidable, according to Judge H. M. Scott of Laurel. Nesbit was killed and his daughter, Elizabeth, driver of the car, was seriously injured when their car struck a truck near Muirkirk, Md.

Though the daughter recovered, she remembered nothing of the crash and was not present at the coroner's hearing.

society and court circles, which have been boiling with rumors over the royal dispute and predicting all manner of outcome.

Prince Nicholas and Mme. Deletj, former wife of a cabinet minister's son, eloped in his racing car November 8, rode up to the home of the Mayor of Tohan in a cloud of dust and compelled that dignitary to tie the bonds. When the mayor reported his act to the palace, King Carol went into a rage and ordered that the records of the ceremony be destroyed.

The Bucharest supreme court formally declared the marriage "nonexistent" and that therefore it could not be recognized. Only last night Mme Deletj was reported from Belgrade to have informed King Carol that she was willing to have the ceremony annulled because she would "never forgive herself" if Nicholas should suffer on her account.

U. S. FIREMEN'S DAY IS CLUB'S OBJECTIVE

National Celebration to Be Held in Washington, Is Aim of Movement.

Creation of a National Firemen's Day, with Washington as the center for the celebration, will be the objective of a movement started yesterday by the National Retirement Club for Firemen and Policemen and indorsed by George S. Watson, chief of the District Fire Department, and by the Board of Trade and the Greater National Capital committee of the board.

Efforts will be made to have a bill introduced in the Senate providing for creation of such a day, it was learned.

The Nation-wide celebration, which is intended to be on a parallel with the present Navy Day, will not interfere with the annual Labor Day firemen's parade in this city, it was explained. In fact, this event will be continued as the nucleus for the Nation-wide celebration, according to plans.

Watson Is Enthusiastic.

Voicing enthusiasm over the plan, Chief Watson visions a celebration in every city and community in the United States at which firemen would hold "open house," enabling the public to become acquainted with the fire fighters.

"Not enough is known by the public about the firemen," Chief Watson said. "The volunteer firemen, particularly, are not appreciated as they should be.

"The fact that they are volunteer firemen does not mean that they do not frequently perform valiant and sacrificial duty. Such a celebration, in addition to proving to the firemen that they are appreciated by the people they protect, will enable the public to view the various exhibits of the fire departments and see how many different kinds of service firemen can give, from resuscitation with a pulmotor to instruction in the dangers of explosions from dust and fumes."

The date for Firemen's Day could be selected by all the fire departments, paid and volunteer, in the United States, through their national organizations of chiefs and privates, Chief Watson suggested.

Suggests Fall Date.

He believes the most suitable date would be in the early autumn, which marks the beginning of the season when danger of fires, in both towns and forests, is on an increase.

There are in the United States today 55,000 paid firemen and slightly less than 1,000,000 volunteer firemen, Chief Watson revealed. "They could celebrate Firemen's Day with parades, demonstrations of fire-fighting equipment and all the customary forms of amusement with which Americans enjoy a holiday," he said.

No definite plans have been made for the firemen's parade in Washington next year, but it is understood that the Board of Trade will again sponsor the event.

"If it had not been for the Board of Trade's generosity we would not have had the parade this year," Chief Watson said, "and without financial aid next year the celebration could not take place," he added.

PARAGUAY PREPARES CHACO TRUCE REPLY

Bolivian Minister Is to Join Yuletide Festivities as He Waits for Answer.

(Associated Press.)

While Paraguayan delegates devote themselves to preparation of their reply to the Bolivian Chaco truce proposal, Bolivian Minister Abelli is working to combine pleasure and diplomacy through the Christmas holidays.

Yesterday the two groups had a chance to see another drawn-out boundary dispute started on its way to a peaceful and successful conclusion. They were invited to attend the inaugural session at the Pan-American Union of the arbitration tribunal, named to fix the boundary between Guatemala and Honduras, with Chief Justice Hughes, of the United States, presiding.

Charge d'Affaires Ynsfran, of Paraguay, and Drs. Soler and Vasconsellos, Paraguayan delegates, were present. Minister Abelli represented Bolivia. Dr. Enrique Finot and Eduardo Diez de Medina, his country's Chaco pact delegates, were not present.

Minister Abelli is introducing Dr. Finot to Washington's diplomatic set. A dinner with Ambassador Ferrara, of Cuba, as guest was on the list, but may have to be canceled because of the latter's impending departure for Havana on his annual trip. Later in the week Dr. Finot will meet Ambassador Cruchaga, of Chile. Ambassador Ferrara is one of the neutrals in the Chaco dispute, Ambassador Cruchaga a representative of the country probably most interested in the Chaco question outside of the two participants.

To date the negotiations have weathered two disagreements under the careful guidance of Chairman White. First the the two delegations disagreed on the matter of participation of the neutrals. This was settled with the stipulation that the neutrals were free to participate in the negotiations in the exercise of good offices only. American officials explained deftly that good offices meant help in preventing or ending impasses.

Then came the protocol incident at the White House reception, when the Paraguayan delegation left because the Bolivians awaited their meeting with the President in the room with the Washington Diplomatic Corps, while they waited in another part of the mansion. This appeared closed yesterday as the Paraguayans accepted the explanation of the State Department which was issued by the officials there Monday. A formal explanation, in more detail, is expected to be sent the Paraguayans in answer to a note delivered to Assistant Secretary White by Charge d'Affaires Ynsfran.

WAR DEBTS AND ARMAMENTS.

Foremost among the objections that have been raised to President Hoover's suggestion that the World War Debts Commission be revived to examine Europe's capacity to pay is the fact that enormous expenditures are made by these supposedly impoverished governments for military purposes. So long as Europe continues to pour its wealth into armaments, what relief could be expected from the adjustment of the meager payments that are made to the United States? It is enlightening to examine the actual size of the war debt installments in comparison with the expenditures of each debtor country for armaments.

The following table shows expenditures for armaments in 1930, as compiled by the War Department, and installments on the debt to American taxpayers, which are suspended by the moratorium:

Country.	For Arm'nts.	For Debt to U.S.
Belgium	$23,247,347	$7,950,000
Czechoslovakia	41,056,000	3,000,000
France	547,133,935	50,000,000
Great Britain.	608,024,880	159,520,000
Italy	322,337,000	14,706,000
Poland	122,995,000	7,486,000
Roumania ...	67,061,000	800,000
Jugoslavia ..	47,491,000	250,000
Total $1,779,346,162		$243,712,000

The outlay of these eight principal debtor nations for armaments is more than seven times what they pay to the United States on account of their war debts. It is strange that Europe should make such a clamor over annual obligations amounting to less than $250,000,000, while stubbornly refusing to cut down its armaments bill that is not far short of $2,000,000,000. So long as these tremendous expenditures for the materials of war continue, any aid that the United States might give through a temporary scaling down of debt payments would be negligible.

A study by the Foreign Policy Association shows that the six great powers have increased their expenditures on armaments by 65 per cent since 1913. In the last four years war budgets have substantially expanded. If the United States should wipe out the war debts, it is quite probable that the additional sums thus made available to European governments would be used to strengthen their armies, navies and air forces. Under such conditions it is idle to broach the subject of scaling down the war debts to the American taxpayers or their representatives.

Europe will have an opportunity to throw overboard some of its excessive armaments at the general disarmament conference in February. The United States Government is anxious to join with other nations in trimming all armaments to the minimum required for national defense. But the prospects for a substantial reduction of arms at that gathering are nil. Europe is not in such distress that it is willing to curtail its military establishments. But the debtor governments would be glad to relieve economic conditions by transferring the cost of their last military holocaust to American taxpayers.

Any nation that spends 22 per cent of its entire budget on fighting forces, as does France, puts itself in an anomalous position when it sends its premier to Washington with a scheme to saddle the cost of Europe's last war upon American taxpayers.

Try as it will, Europe can not trace its economic difficulties to the meager payments that are made to the United States on acount of war debts. On the initiative of President Hoover payments on intergovernmental debts are suspended this year, but Europe continues to waste millions of dollars on excessive armaments and socialistic experiments. Germany has swindled American investors of vast sums to pay her reparations and modernize her industry. Other countries are trying to accomplish the same result in a different way. Uncle Sam has become the scapegoat for the whole world. It is time for the American people to awake to the realties of this situation and to resist every effort that is made to impose upon them still further burdens growing out of the war.

A DOLE FOR WASHINGTON.

Recommendations of the Mapes committee that the Federal contribution to the District budget be reduced by $3,000,000 and that new taxes be imposed on Washington residents occasion no surprise. From the time of this committee's appointment it has been recognized as a fact-obscuring body whose sole purpose was "to soak" the District for the consolation of other tax-ridden communities. If the report were to be considered as an impartial study of fiscal relations between the Government and the District it would appear as the baldest travesty that has ever been dignified by congressional sanction.

The report reeks with inconsistency, deliberate bias and absurd conclusions. In carrying out the purpose for which it was created the committee failed miserably. Instead of making a comprehensive study of fiscal relations between the Government and its Capital the committee spent its energy devising new taxes to bring rates in Washington up to a level with those of other cities with lower assessed valuation. On its face the report is an insult to the people of the District and to the intelligence of Congress.

Apparently the committee has decided that there should be no fiscal relation between the seat of government and the Government itself. For the present it suggests that Congress allow the District a dole in the form of "a lump sum not to exceed $6,500,000," not because Congress is obligated to help support the Federal City, but to make the budget balance until the committee can devise other taxes to "soak" Washingtonians.

The District must not expect Congress to extend its generosity into the future, however. The committee warns that "the time may come when the District should, in all conscience, meet the total normal budget of the District government." In other words, the taxpayers of Washington must prepare to support the Federal City for the benefit of 122,000,000 Americans.

This total absence of logic is so disgusting as to be unworthy of consideration. The committee does not even recognize that Government property should be used in comparing tax burdens, because Government buildings "have no market value." This is child's talk. No doubt the committee considers it a rare privilege that the taxpayers of Washington are allowed to provide fire protection, water, street facilities and parks for the Government.

The committee makes itself further ridiculous when it tries to compare Washington with some other capitals, State and national. The position of Washington its unique. It exists only because the Government decided to erect a magnificent Capital here. Resources of Washington are largely devoted to supplying the needs of the Government. It has no independent existence. After the Government has set out to build a Federal City of which the Nation might be proud a clique of rural congressmen come forth with a plan to force residents here to bear the cost of that project.

The only attempt of the committee to get down to a factual basis turns out to be a farce when the facts are not distorted. It found that in 23 cities which are somewhat comparable to Washington the adjusted tax rate is $8.38 more than in Washington. The obvious reason is that Washington property is valued for assessment purposes at a far higher figure than in the average American city. The Bureau of Efficiency found that when this factor is taken into consideration the tax rate in the District is actually higher than the average. Yet the committee based its entire findings upon the faulty comparison of rates in Washington and other cities, and arrived at the conclusion that more taxes should be imposed.

Under no circumstances could a lump sum contribution be considered an intelligent solution of the problem. Congress has recognized its obligation to supplement local taxes for the development of a Capital that is worthy of the United States. Under the present law Congress is bound to pay 40 per cent of the District budget. Only by the restoration of a percentage basis of sharing the expenses of the Federal City can equity be established.

If Congress gives heed to the recommendations of the Mapes committee it will put the District on a starvation diet. Excessive taxation would drive wealth and business out of the District. The committee's scheme to force a few hundred thousand citizens to build and support a great National Capital will fail. If the Senate doesn't smash it the people will intervene when they see the progress of the Capital City arrested.

NEW PRESIDENT IN CHINA.

Resignation of Chiang Kai-Shek as President of the Chinese National government is an indirect result of Japan's conquest in Manchuria. President Chiang has stepped out for the immediate purpose of reconciling the rival government at Canton, but it is improbable that such a step would have been necessary if he had been able to cope with the Manchurian situation.

Ever since Chiang Kai-Shek unified the Chinese provinces under the National government in 1928 he has been faced with intermittent revolts and civil war in various parts of the republic. In each case he has been strong enough to maintain the nominal sovereignty of his government. He is an astute politician and is considered the most able general in China.

Until yesterday Chiang had resisted the demands of the Cantonese that he resign. The regime in Canton is not now in active revolt, but it refused to cooperate with Nanking so long as Chiang remained president. The evident weakness of the National government in dealing with Japan further aroused the people against Chiang Kai-Shek and made his resignation a virtual necessity.

Lin Sen, the new president, is not well known in this country. It does not appear that he has the personal following that enabled Chiang Kai-Shek to hold China's loose union together for three years. His success will depend entirely upon the support of the so-called war lords who control the provinces. At this distance, the resignation of President Chiang appears ominous. It may foreshadow the disintegration of the National government, which has been the strongest force in China since the old monarchy was overthrown.

At any rate this change of horses at a critical point in the stream will put the Nationalist movement to one of the severest tests that it has ever experienced. Student groups are clamoring for an iron fist to shake in the face of Japan. The people are unquestionably aroused by what appears to be the subjugation of Manchuria. Yet China is in no position successfully to resist the Japanese army.

With both China and Japan under new administrations, a new approach to the Manchurian question may develop. Premier Inukai says that Japan does not desire an inch of Manchurian territory, but the fact remains that he insists on ousting Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, the legitimate governor under the Nanking regime. The world will await with interest the program of the new Chinese president.

The Treasury has announced a slump in the crop of millionaires. From the activities of the Farm Board we thought there would be a surplus.

China has accepted a bid to participate in the Chicago Fair in 1933. As it's the scene of the great fire, China might send a display of tongs.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

By SAMUEL RUSSELL.

If the weight of a cubic meter of water be taken by the formula "cubic decimeter equals kilogram," the result involves a plus error of 27,000 milligrams. For the volume of the cubic foot, the discrepancy between the actual weight and the theoretical kilogram weight of water is 764,532 milligrams.

The kilogram has been found to be 27 milligrams heavier than the cube of the tenth of the meter of water at the maximum density. The ounce is 34 milligrams heavier than the cube of the tenth of the foot of water at the maximum density.

Inasmuch as the kilogram has become a precision unit in scientific formula, it is beyond rectification to its theoretical value. Accordingly the c. c. of the laboratories is yielding place to the milliliter, which is not the cubic centimeter but is the volume of a gram of water.

The ounce, on the other hand, has been primarily a trade weight and has not become a precision unit in the sciences to the extent that its rectification to the mass of exactly the cube of the tenth of the foot of water will affect the utility of existing scientific formulae. The rectification of the ounce to produce exactly 1,000 ounce measures and 1,000 ounce weights to the cubic foot may be accomplished within well-recognized trade tolerances. This will make of the American ounce a scientific and precision unit of the highest exactitude known to the arts. The weight of volumes taken in terms of cubic feet and thousandths (ounce measures) may then be computed by the specific gravity factor of the material in hand without error or discrepancy.

For laboratory uses, when a smaller unit than ounce may be preferred, the dram, which should be defined as the exact eighth of the ounce, and its correlative dram cube, which is the exact eighth of the ounce measure, may be employed. Any formula of chemistry or physics expressed in terms of grams and c. c. might then be directly translated into drams and dram cubes without any change in the figures and without affecting the validity of the formula.

A cube may be cut into exactly eight subcubes. A cube can not be cut into ten subcubes. The lowest cubic submultiple is 8. The lowest decimal cubic submultiple is 1,000. That is why the new standard ounce must be divided into eight drams. It can not be divided into ten drams without destroying the cubic character of the dram. The line base for the dram cube will be the twentieth of the foot, the exact half of the line base for the ounce cube, which is the tenth of the foot.

The ounce measure will be less by .076 cubic inch than the fluid ounce derived from the wine gallon of 231 cubic inches. The dram cube will be less by .0095 cubic inch than the fluid dram. Four c. c. is a common laboratory and graduate quantity. By comparison the dram cube will be roughly 3¼ c. c., which for most laboratory uses affords a very acceptable unit.

This correction of the ounce holds the key to the rectification, simplification and rationalization of the weights and measures of the United States.

To complete the utility of the cubic foot as the base for our customary mercantile measures—the gallon, the bushel and the barrel—we have only to reduce the pint from 28.875 to 28.8 cubic inches in order to produce exactly 60 pints to the cubic foot. This gives us a gallon of 230.4 instead of 231 cubic inches and makes the standard 30-gallon barrel exactly 4 cubic feet. With a barrel having a base of 2 square feet, this means a decrease in the depth of the barrel of but 1-16 of an inch.

If the bushel upon a base of 1 square foot be increased 1-16 of an inch in the height dimension its volume will be brought to exactly 1¼ cubic feet, which means a change from 2,150.42 to 2,160 cubic inches in the definitive value of bushel. Conversions from cubic feet to bushels are customarily made by the rule 5 cubic feet equal 4 bushels. Thus the 40 cubic foot cargo ton of the North Atlantic grain trade takes up exactly 32 bushels of 1¼ cubic feet.

For definitive valuation the foot is to be taken as having the length of 473,404 waves of the red radiation of cadmium and the ounce as having the mass of 28,316.0055 milligrams.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

IN A DRESS SUIT.

I wear the dress suit not because
In any way it alters me,
In any garb my faults and flaws
Appear for all to see.

I am the self-same man arrayed
In fashion's best attire
Who, wearing dusty garments made
The evening's furnace fire.

And I am he in spotless white,
Who, three brief hours ago,
Wore muddied raiment that I might
Plant tulips, row by row.

No merrier are the jests I tell
In starch and broadcloth trim,
Than those my comrade loves so well
When we go out to swim.

Yet should I venture here tonight
In raiment soiled and worn,
Lacking this glossy shirt and white
I'd be a thing to scorn.

Will You Leave a Splinter in the Foot Because It Hurts to Remove It?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

NO child normal in mind and body is "bad" except as a result of bad training.

Every fault the child develops is an indictment of its parents.

The ancient truth that a mule trainer's success depends on his having more sense than the mule applies as well to the business of training children.

The normal child is guided by intelligence. It has no inhibitions or standards of morality, but only desires and appetites. Its one concern is to get what it wants, and sound sense prompts it to adopt the methods that prove most effective.

If temper and noise bring it a victory today, it has sufficient intelligence to employ the same strategy tomorrow. That isn't "badness." It is efficiency. It is a sound policy of using the most effective means to achieve a desired end.

Unfortunately it is a method that will not be effective in later years against opponents of greater intelligence. And the child taught by experience to depend upon temper for all of its gains must suffer many a hard knock before it unlearns the lessons of childhood.

Spoiling a child—that is, permitting it to get results by methods displeasing to adults—is merely a postponement of punishment. Failure to punish, when punishment is needed, is to store up other forms of punishment for the future.

"I don't believe in punishing a child" usually means: "I believe in dodging a disagreeable duty when I can think up an alibi to fool my conscience."

If adults saturated with ethics can't be kept in paths of virtue without threat of punishment, why expect children to attain perfection without benefit of the same threat?

Punishment for violation of law is Nature's way, and no other can take its place. Jails still serve as the chief support of righteousness.

What kind of punishment shall be administered? The answer is simple—effective punishment.

If a burglar can be taught to mend his ways by being deprived of his supper, well and good. If not, let him dread a more bitter dose.

It is foolish to spank a child if a word of rebuke will serve as well. It is equally foolish to refrain from spanking if the laying on of hands is necessary to a cure.

The test of a punishment is the result achieved. If it doesn't work, it is wrong. If it gets results, and is the minimum that can get results, it is wisdom justified of her children.

William Tyler Page's 50 Years.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

When the House of Representatives convened today, William Tyler Page, its Republican clerk, had served 50 years, lacking 12 days, in that historic chamber. It was as a page boy, 13 years old, that he first entered the House. Thomas Brackett Reed was then just a congressman from Maine, and his reign as "czar" lay in the years ahead. Since that inauspicious entry twelve inaugural parades have passed through cheering throngs up Pennsylvania avenue to Capitol Hill. Cleveland, Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding and Coolidge have come and gone. Nine Speakers have risen to power and fallen. Washington, the Dakotas, Wyoming, Idaho, Utah, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona have hung stars in the flag. Four times there has been the terrific struggle of amending the Constitution. From the presence of women members Mr. Page looks back on the heyday of high hats, tall collars, long coats and stiff shirts, and acquaintanceship with 8,000 congressmen in the years that lie between. Somehow a Democratic House will surely find a way to keep him in service until he at least rounds out his 50 years.

Speaker Garner.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Organization of the House in the new Congress was effected by the Democrats according to schedule. By a vote of 218 to 207 Mr. Garner, of Texas, was elected Speaker, the first of his party to hold this office since Champ Clark wielded the gavel in the Sixty-fifth Congress. The Democrats' choice expresses a unity among the members of the party which is lacking among the Republicans, for the contest between Messrs. Snell and Tilson has left its sore spots. It has long been apparent that in the event of a Democratic return to power Mr. Garner would be Speaker. He has fairly earned the honor by his service to his party in Congress. His abilities and character have won him the esteem of his political opponents. There is general confidence in his fairness as a presiding officer, and it is believed that he may exercise a restraining influence on the radicalism of his fellow Democrats, especially should it take a form potentially harmful to business.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Citizen Says Gas Plants and Gas Tanks Do Not Present Undue Hazards to Residents in Immediate Vicinity.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The Southeast Washington Citizens Association, through its chairman, is rather worked up over the gas-producing plants and gas holders in the District. The association should not be unduly alarmed.

Gas plants are not picturesque, but they are necessary; and those in the District are not in places where they clash with future planning.

Gas plants do not pollute the earth, air and water. Though not the most desirable part of a town in which to live, it is healthy around gas plants; probably the antiseptics used by the association are byproducts of gas plants.

Gas holders or tanks are not a menace, but, like many other parts of present-day life, they are a potential, yet remote hazard. The gas in a holder can not explode unless a certain amount of air becomes admixed; this happened at Pittsburgh in November, 1927, as referred to by the association. For illuminating gas in air the explosive limits are 5 to 31 per cent, for water gas in air 6 to 9 to 55 to 70 per cent, and for natural gas in air 5 to 14 per cent.

There are thousands of gas holders in the United States and in foreign countries; they are well maintained and safeguarded, particularly the new waterless type. But rarely does anything happen to any of the holders. In the National Fire Protection Association Quarterly for January, 1927, is an unsigned article entitled "The Hazard of Gas Holders." It briefly reviews seven fires and five explosions at twelve holders—eight in North America and four in other countries—one each in 1905, 1906, 1908, 1910, 1920, 1922 and 1926, three in 1924 and two in 1926. In summarizing, the article concludes:

> Fires in gas holders are of comparatively rare occurrence. Even though several of the fires that have occurred have been serious, only one or two did material damage beyond the immediate vicinity. In only one fire was there loss of life. (Some persons were injured.) The Factory Mutual Record * * * concludes that the gas holder constitutes no great exposure hazard to the buildings in its neighborhood, and certainly is a much less severe exposure hazard than a lumber yard or wooden buildings of quick-burning construction.
> Gas-holder fires may be prevented by careful maintenance which will prevent corrosion or other mechanical failure.

Why disturb the peace of the people by forecasting improbably trouble?

Wet Thinks That Legalization of Wines and Beer Would Not Augment Crime.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In The Post appeared a letter from Arthur Gibson Morse, vehemently opposing the proposition to modify the prohibition law so as to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer.

The gentleman seems to fear that we will have a great deal of drunkenness and crime if we have legalized wine and beer. But I think that the police and court records will give ample evidence that there is just about as much drunkenness and crime in these days of prohibition as there was in the "old bad wet days."

The gentleman says that if we legalize wines and beer "our jails and almshouses would have to be put in repair and taxes levied for their maintenance." Is it possible that the gentleman thinks that our prisons and poorhouses have all been abandoned, under prohibition? Why, these institutions are crowded to capacity. Many of our jails have had to be enlarged.

Prohibition has been a curse to our country ever since it has been inflicted on us. Because of it, the illicit traffic in liquors has actually become one of the largest of American industries. Its principal beneficiaries have been criminals and grafters. It has utterly failed to accomplish its object. HUGH B. ROSSELL.

Says Rich Plan to Reduce Government Clerks' Salaries 10 Per Cent Would Do More Harm Than Good.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Mr. Rich, banker and business man, and newly elected representative from Pennsylvania, proposes to reduce the salaries of Government employes, except the members of Congress.

Maybe the following statements will afford him some enlightenment: Such a reduction would mean little in saving to the Government, but everything to the employes, who in many instances are helping and caring for dependents. Furthermore, the Government employe was grotesquely underpaid for years and during periods when the salaries of everybody in industry were tremendously increased to meet the ever mounting costs of living. So the present salaries of the Government employes, which are low enough, is nothing more than the recognition and adjustment of a great injustice suffered so long by them. A. S. L.

Architectural Style of State, War and Navy Building Is Very Pleasing to the Writer—Different Styles of Architecture Add to Beauty of the City.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It gave me much satisfaction to read in your columns of December 13 a defense of the architectural construction of the State, War and Navy Building, which to me has always seemed the most artistic of the department buildings and one which never ceases to give me pleasure each time I have occasion to pass it.

I can feature nothing more depressing than a long line of buildings of the same type arranged along Pennsylvania avenue. It would seem that the Senate and two rows of House Office buildings should be sufficient of that ilk. V. G. F.

DRY CAMPAIGN ADDS THOUSANDS TO FOLD

Benefits of Prohibition Are Stressed in Closing Conferences.

Dry recruiting officers, representing the Allied Forces for Prohibition, terminated their campaign in Washington with a mass meeting last night after a visit of three days during which the Nation-wide army defending the eighteenth amendment was enlarged by several thousand.

The exact number enrolled in the Capital will not be known until estimates have been completed. Hundreds of thousands are being gathered into the fold throughout the Nation and young people are signing up at the rate of 1,000 a day, according to Dr. Daniel A. Poling, of New York, chairman of the Allied Forces for Prohibition.

Dr. Poling announced yesterday that the tour by the allied campaigners will be extended to 587 cities instead of to 261, as originally planned, and that a total of 2,000,000 voters is expected to be reached by June of next year when the campaign ends.

Dr. Poling Honored.

Dr. Poling, who is manager of the J. C. Penny Foundation and editor of the Christian Herald, was guest of honor at a luncheon yesterday at the Mayflower Hotel. Together with Dr Oliver W. Stewart, president of the Flying Squadron Foundation and vice chairman of the allied forces, he was the principal speaker at the concluding mass meeting last night at the Calvary Baptist Church. Col. A. W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, presided.

"Not all of God's children are on our side," Dr. Poling admitted in his address. "We recognize the fact that there are honest and patriotic citizens who are opposed to our position. We shall strive to lift our campaign above personalities. In the advocacy of our cause we shall seek to advance good will."

"We do not believe," he continued, "that prohibition is the only issue or that candidates or parties should be nominated and elected merely because they favor the eighteenth amendment. We must face the problems of poverty and unemployment. We must accept our share of the economic burden. We must go forward united to destroy war and to perfect the machinery of peace."

The chairman of the allied forces declared that the Canadian plan can never be made an adequate substitute for the eighteenth amendment, adding that he does not believe it will survive in the Dominion of Canada. He pointed out that the plan has been tried in South Carolina, in Iowa and South Dakota and that it was deserted for State-wide prohibition.

Attacking the argument of the wets that legalized beer will bring back prosperity, Dr. Poling observed that 500,000 men were employed in the entire beer enterprise. Of these, he added, 400,000 were connected with the distribution in saloons, adding the comment that every wet declares against the return of the saloon. Dr. Poling voiced the claim that more men and women are employed in the soft drink and delicatessen trade than were in the entire liquor traffic.

Asserting that conditions in the field of enforcement are growing steadily better under the leadership of Col. Woodcock, Dr. Poling opined that "prohibition at its worst is immeasurably better than license ever was at its best."

He charged that prohibition has "uncovered the speakeasy" instead of creating it as the wets contend. He thanked the press for the cooperation received in the 97 cities visited. "My hat has been off tho the fourth estate," he said. "We've received every stick of news the campaign deserved."

Urgency Stressed.

Dr. Stewart declared that the situation created by the disappearance of the old-time community and the coming of the modern whirl of life awaits the attention of "some great leader of democracy." "The crisis is approaching," he said, "and no time must be lost in concentrating the scattered forces of the drys to repulse the attack of the wets."

Dr. Stewart also spoke at a meeting yesterday afternoon at which Dr. E. M. Ellison, local physician, presided. In his address at this time, Dr. Stewart admitted that the depression may give the wets arguments against prohibition, but averred that they will be only temporary.

"The measures of relief proposed by the wet press, if accepted, will bring the country more certainly than ever to the proposition that all which concerns the individual concerns the Government," he declared. "The permanency of our civilization depends upon the rock-bottom foundation that the Government must first consider the welfare of all, and that no citizen can have the right to pursue a course which by the harm and injury it does others, invades their rights.

"Let that be granted," he concluded, "and the liquor traffic is as dead as a mackerel."

Young People Ask Hoover To Work for Arms Cut

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover was urged yesterday by representatives of youthful citizens to "take leadership with a definite program for the reduction of armaments."

About twoscore officers and leaders of the International Society of Christian Endeavor presented to the Chief Executive an engraved petition calling for a strong program at the Geneva disarmament conference.

Mr. Hoover received the petition on the south lawn of the White House, where he stood with Dr. Daniel A. Poling, president of the society, and the entire delegation.

Purse-Snatcher Strikes Woman

Thief Flees With Money and Another Pocketbook; $49 Taken.

Negro footpads struck one woman in the head, fleeing with her purse containing $15, and snatched the purse of another woman last night.

Mrs. Ethel Mason, 45 years old, of 320 B street northeast, told police that when she was putting an automobile away at 213 B street northeast, she was struck in the head by a young colorod man who grabbed her purse and ran. She was treated by a private physician for a laceration to the scalp.

While walking near her home at 108 Fourth street southeast, Miss Agnes Heath told police that a colored man about 25 years old snatched her purse and ran up a nearby alley. There was $34 in the pocketbook, she said.

SEDAN IN COLLISION AND ONE OF TWO MEN KILLED

Two persons lost their lives and five others were injured in a crash between this sedan and a large produce truck on a hill two miles south of Woodbridge, Va. Inset is Opie F. Lindsay, driver of the sedan and one of those killed. The other man killed was G. E. McDonald, who was riding on the front seat with Mr. Lindsay.

to Washington about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

They had reached a point about 28 miles south of Washington when the accident occurred. The big sedan was taking a hill when it met the heavy truck, owned by the Robert B. Pace & Son Produce Co., of Charlottesville. The truck was returning south from Baltimore, where it had been laden with produce for Southern markets.

One of the drivers misjudged the distance between the cars, in the opinion of Prince William County authorities. In some manner they lurched together and the sharp sides of the truck sheared away the top of the sedan like a giant pair of shears and piled the wreckage in the back seat. The sedan was turned over, and the truck lurched on, coming to a stop at the bottom of the hill.

The impact of the crash threw Mr. McDonald and two of the occupants of the rear seat of the sedan into the highway. Mr. McDonald's body was badly crushed. Mr. Lindsay, who was on the side of the machine which took the force of the collision, was pinned in by the wreckage. His body was also badly mangled.

Between Two Garages.

The accident occurred between two garages, one to the south owned by Wallace Dawson and one to the north owned by Barclay Davis. These men heard the crash and hurried to the scene and both aided in taking the three injured passengers from Lindsay's car to the Marine Base hospital at Quantico.

Carter was taken to Alexandria hospital by the driver for a Washington bakery who happened by the accident scene.

The bodies of the two death victims were removed to the undertaking parlors of Hall & Goff at Occoquan as soon as Prince William County authorities had completed a preliminary investigation of the accident.

Justice of the Peace Thomas Sheppard, of Woodbridge, ordered the truck impounded, pending outcome of a more detailed investigation of the accident. An inquest will be held by Coroner E. H. Marsteller at Manassas at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mr. Lindsay is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clara Lindsay, and two small children, Mary, 2 years old, and John, 8 years old. He is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lindsay, 1216 Kennedy street northwest, and five sisters. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Man Hurt in Auto Crash Which Snaps Light Pole

One man was slightly injured, two cars wrecked and an electric light pole was snapped off at its base yesterday afternoon as the result of an automobile accident at Twenty-first and R streets northwest.

Francis J. Stoegerer, 41 years old, of 3327 Seventeenth street northwest, was taken from the wreckage of his taxicab to Emergency Hospital by Third Precinct police. He was treated for bruises about the chest. The Stoegerer taxicab was in collision with another machine operated by William J. Gallagher, 26 years old, of 2125 G street northwest, and the impact threw the cab against the light pole, breaking it off.

Merchants Suggest Study Of Ads as Rush Buying Aid

With Washington facing the busiest shopping season of the year during the next ten days, Edward D. Shaw, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, yesterday offered six suggestions as to how shoppers may simplify their tasks and get better results:

His suggestions follow:

1. Make out at home tentative shopping lists. Study your newspaper advertising columns, remembering that expert merchandisers have given intensive study to the gift suggestions carried in these Christmas store announcements. By listing your gift needs, and studying store advertising, you can route your shopping trip and save many unnecessary steps.

2. Get downtown early in the morning. Stores are far less crowded, clerks less tired, and stocks are in better shape during the first two hours after the store opens.

3. Carry home at least your small bundles. Remember that during the few remaining shopping days before Christmas stores will be doing double their normal daily business, and that annoying mistakes in the delivery of your packages are far more likely to occur at this season than at any other time.

4. If the article must be delivered, find out from the clerk the probable time of delivery and have some responsible person at your home at that time to receive the package. Much Christmas merchandise is delayed through failure to do this.

5. Keep young children out of the downtown section during the rush season unless accompanied by parents or some responsible older person.

6. Make every possible purchase during the next few days. Early shopping has been unusually heavy this year, and the merchants' stocks are being depleted rapidly.

Missing Employe Of U. S. Is Hunted

Hunger Army Sympathizer Gone 9 Days From East Falls Church.

Missing since last Monday, when he threatened to join the ranks of the "hunger marchers," Wilbur Dickhut, 37, a government clerk of East Falls Church, Va., is being sought by police and government officials.

Dickhut told fellow employes at the general accounting office that he thought he would join the marchers. The day after he did not appear at work, and his wife came there asking for him.

Yesterday officials were still trying to locate him. He came to work for the Government in May, 1930, from Quincy, Ill. His superiors said he had an excellent record. He is 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighs about 150 pounds and has brown hair and gray-blue eyes. He was operating a Ford car.

Bailey Layne Missing From Home Nine Days; Foul Play Is Feared.

With the absence of Bailey Layne, 27-year-old motion picture operator, from his home at 1747 First street northwest for more than a week, Mrs. Anne Layne, his mother, and C. O. Goodman, brother-in-law, last night expressed to police the belief that he had met with foul play.

Layne left home last Monday evening to go out for the evening with friends. He has not been seen since. Wires to Lynchburg, Va., whence the young man came several months ago, elicited the reply that he had not been seen there.

The missing man has been married, but is separated from his wife, it was said by his mother. He is of medium height and weight, has blond, curly hair and blue eyes. Police check of hospitals and arrest records have disclosed that the man has been neither injured nor arrested.

With nine days to go and $100,000 yet to be solicited from almost 18,000 employes, the Government workers' relief fund campaign is rapidly nearing its $1,000,000 goal.

Figures announced Monday following a meeting of divisional chairmen, headed by Thomas E. Campbell, president of the Civil Service Commission, at the State, War and Navy Building, showed that $899,649.47 had been contributed by 65,601 employes. The fund will be far oversubscribed if the remaining employes donate at the rate pledges have been made by fellow workers—nearly $14 per capita.

December 12 was fixed as final day of the campaign, but because of the number of employes on personal or official leaves and other delays encountered, the deadline was extended to December 24.

At close of the campaign another meeting of those in charge will be held and a final accountnig will be made.

A considerable sum has been received from residents of nearby communities for charities at their homes rather than the Washington Community Chest.

As the Community Chest drive does not begin until the first of the year, this money—an undetermnied amount—will go directly to designated agencies.

pleased Santa Claus. Everybody forgot what a gloomy year this had been in the world and went about with smiles on their faces. Friends of the toy fund were arriving with boxes of toys and the Spirit of Christmas was standing quietly in a corner of the counting room of The Post watching the good cheer. He was smiling, too, because he knew that although it was rather late in starting The Post Toy Fund will not cease its efforts until Christmas Eve, and it knows that every needy child in the District has been provided with a toy of some kind or other.

No Washington child is going to ask the question which came to the editor of the New York Sun some years ago from a little girl, which read, "Is there a Santa Claus?" This was the letter and it has become a classic somehow because it had in it the universal note and real appeal to all kinds and conditions of men.

"Dear Editor," it read, "I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says 'If you see it in the Sun it is so.' Please tell me the truth. Is there a

Answer to Little Girl.

In the editorial columns next day Virginia read the answer.

"Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe unless they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant in his intellect as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas, how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment except in sense and light. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

"Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus.

But even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those which neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course, not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that are unseen and unseeable in the world.

Real Things Unseen.

"You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance can push aside that curtain and view and picture the beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

"No Santa Claus! Thank God! He lives and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

To continue that faith in Santa Claus, so dear to the heart of Washington children, The Post this year is asking for contributions of money and toys for the Christmas Toy Fund. It will be used to make happy boys and girls who otherwise might be forgotten. What more need be said? Send your check today to The Post Toy Fund and keep alive that faith.

PLAGUE AREA BEGS HELP FOR STARVING

Two Deaths From Hunger Are Pointed To in Crisis in Nebraska.

Verdigre, Nebr., Dec. 16 (U.P.).—Officials broadcast an urgent plea tonight for money and food to prevent additional deaths from starvation and to curb suffering among farmers of plague-stricken northern Nebraska.

Two already have died from hunger. Hundreds are in acute want.

Suffering centers in seven counties where grasshoppers destroyed all crops last summer. A long drought added to the insect scourge. Winter brought severe storms, with temperatures falling below zero and ice and snow covering the countryside.

Larders are empty. Fuel bins are bare. Clothing is ragged and local funds are exhausted.

Death from starvation of Larvern Trudell and Luva Roullard, small Indian girls, emphasized the emergency.

Carloads of food and clothing, assembled in various sections of the State, are being distributed to the needy farmers. Cash, collected in the State's larger cities, is being converted into foodstuffs. Meat has been promised, and will be used to supplement the rations of flour and lard now being handed out.

"There must be no delay in supplying relief," said W. H. Smith, State tax commissioner and chairman of Gov. Charles W. Bryan's State relief committee. "Two persons already have died. Others are on the verge of actual starvation. Nebraska must act at once to avert widespread human suffering and tragedy in the seven counties."

Dr. Jacks to Lecture Tonight.

"Leisure, Recreation and Art" will be the subject of a lecture tonight at 8:30 to be given by the eminent English authority on adult education, Dr. Lawrence Pearsall Jacks, who will speak before education and recreation leaders at the home of Mrs. Henry F. Dimock.

The True Spirit of Christmas Is Best Expressed By The Distinctive Services and Shops Of . . . . . .

CONNECTICUT AVENUE

There is a pleasure in shopping at Connecticut Avenue establishments that can not be duplicated elsewhere. Of primary importance is the fact that one may deal directly with the proprietor, or his immediate assistants, and secure the advantage of their intimate knowledge of merchandise, quality and comparative values . . . Connecticut Avenue is a community of specialists who are devoted to the higher ideals of character and individualism in merchandise and service. They have a genuine admiration for artistic expression, in workmanship and design, that has influenced them to cater solely to the desires of the discriminating few rather than to the great mass who are satisfied with the stereotype. They find a pleasure in their business relationships that is denied to those to whom merchandise and service represents merely a row of price figures, and their attitude results in greater satisfaction and service to their patrons . . . And Connecticut Avenue prices are most reasonable, too! Quality for quality you will find them no more, and frequently less, than what you would be compelled to pay for the ordinary elsewhere.

Exclusive Millinery

The pert self-confidence of the youthful miss or the mature dignity of her elder sisters are alike expressed in individually fashioned hats.

OPENING HAND BARES RIVAL BRIDGE IDEAS

Differing Bidding Systems, With Same Result, Seen in Initial Play.

New York, N. Y., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Different methods under rival bidding systems, which would have produced the same result, were illustrated in hand 228 of the Lenz-Culbertson series in which Jacoby made four hearts. The hand:

Lenz (North).

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
One heart	Pass	Three hearts	Pass
Four hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

The opening lead was the ten of spades.

Jacoby commented that his opening heart bid was possible only under the official system. Culbertsonites reported that while true Jacoby's hand would have been passed originally by most Culbertson players the third hand would have bid and a heart contract would have been reached.

Jacoby Praises Opponent.

Hand 232, the first of rubber 42, in which Mrs. Culbertson made two diamonds, drew the comment from Jacoby:

"Beautifully played."

Lenz Makes Spade Contract.

With no score below the line, Lenz contracted for 2 spades on hand 233 and made four. Culbertson said the officialites had a lay-down game in spades which would have been bid under his system. The hand:

The Bidding:

The opening lead was the six of clubs.

Culbertson commented that Jacoby would have doubled under the Culbertson system not over called. Jacoby said the Culbertsons could have made a strategic defense by bidding five hearts on which they would have been set.

Forcing Three-Bid Illustrated.

The forcing three-bid of the official system, which is similar to the Culbertson forcing two, though not requiring such strength, was illustrated in hand 243 on which Jacoby was set one in a contract for four hearts. Followers of the Culbertsons doubted that they would have arrived at a game contract on such cards. The hand:

The bidding:

Final contract, four hearts by Jacoby, opening lead, seven of spades by Mr. Culbertson.

Jacoby said he stretched things a bit by his first bid but feared the opponents' spades. They failed to double because of the forcing bid.

Two of the most illustrious stars of the stage turned back the clock in the National Theater last night; turned it back to that cherished day when the noblest traditions of the American theater were in the making and Thespis nutured less a debauched and ravished business than a virile and a soaring art.

Not in years has a theater in the National Capital resounded with the roar of applause with which a large, distinguished and expectant audience greeted Maude Adams, returning after an absence of almost a decade and a half, and Otis Skinner, seen more frequently during that period but none the less welcome on that account, upon their first entrances in their revived version of Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice." However high the hopes of those in attendance may have been pitched, whatever glorious memories may have arisen in the minds of the elder members of the huge house or what anticipation may have warmed the eager expectancy of the younger, none was disappointed by the brilliance of the performance that was offered.

Miss Adams comes back to an adoring public no whit different than when she left. Sparkling, whimsical, elfin, gossamer, elusive, all these still are adjectives that only meagerly characterize that evasive quality that renders everything she does delightful. Not a tone of her infinitely expressive and fascinating voice has altered; not a charming mannerism changed.

It may be that Portia is not the ideal Adams role. There is, perhaps, too much that is captivatingly and unequivocally feminine in her voice and bearing to lend itself with utter conviction to the enactment of the courtroom scene. The fact, nevertheless remains that by again lending the distinction of her presence to the stage, this actress, beloved by so many, has increased rather than diminished the luster and the prestige of her name.

Mr. Skinner, in the role of Shylock, finds himself on familiar ground. His is an intensely human, contained and rational Jew, shrewdly contrived, consistent, grasping, vengeful and believable. No scene ever has been more deftly played than his, in which, baited by his friend Tubal, he oscillates between the most poignant despair over the depth of his own misfortunes and jubilant rejoicing at the completeness of his enemy's.

The succession of scenes in the present acting version of the play—a new one, I believe, never before employed—will be found considerably altered. Many familiar episodes have been materially curtailed—Shylock's remorse at the desertion of his daughter, Jessica, with so much of his worldly goods, for one—and others have been rearranged, rather to the comedy's advantage than disadvantage.

For example, the long scene in which Portia's suitors make their selection of the jewel caskets to determine which shall win her hand in marriage, has been divided into two intervals of the play, one occurring as scene three in act one; the other as scene one in act two. This is an adroit bit of tinkering, since the first scene is devoted entirely to the unsuccessful aspirants for the fair heiress' hand, and the second wholly to the favored quest by Bassanio and his ensuing love scene with Portia. It is a more closely knit, more swiftly moving and more thoroughly interesting drama that results from these intelligent and skillful changes.

The supporting company is one that functions with sufficient smoothness to lend further note to a production that has been staged with impeccable taste and a keen eye for artistic effect. Particularly is this true of the courtroom scene—one, by the way, in which appreciable curtailments also have been made—the scenes in Portia's home at Belmont and the final garden scene, which might, I think, do with a bit more lighting.

Foremost among the supporting players is Jerome Lawler, in the role of Bassanio, who reads with an easy grace and intelligibility that places his among the most natural, sympathetic and convincing of the character's interpretations. Martin Burton, similarly, gives a finely modulated performance, as Lorenzo, the young lover of Jessica, played by Cynthia Blake. Audrey Ridgewell is a competent and decorative Nerissa and Joseph Curtin an energetic and amusing Launcelot Gobbo.

An innovation in the presentation of "The Merchant of Venice" is the opening of the first act by an instrumental quartet consisting of violin, flute, guitar and harp, in a narrow, center-stage curtain aperture, before a character has entered or a line been spoken. Music, indeed, plays an important part throughout the three acts.

These, however, are all minor considerations compared with the evidence afforded by this distinguished engagement that the American theater is not dead to offerings such as this of the native stage's two most revered artists.

$10,000 Is Jury Award In Accident 4 Years Ago

A jury in Justice Oscar R. Luhring's court yesterday awarded Walter A. Kirschner, 21 years old, a verdict of $10,000 for injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile owned by Stanley Horner, Inc., July 29, 1927.

Testimony in the case was that Kirschner, then 17 years old, was riding a motorcycle on the Columbia Pike, in Arlington County, when the company's automobile allegedly driven on the wrong side of the road, struck his machine. Kirschner lost the use of his left leg, he said. Attorneys Frank H. Myers and Charles B. Tebbs represented the plaintiff.

PHILHARMONIC WINS PRAISE AT CONCERT

Toscanini, Busch and New York Orchestra Star as Season Opens.

Toscanini, incomparable master of the baton; Adolph Busch, violin virtuoso, and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra proved an irresistible trio in a program yesterday at Constitution Hall in the first subscription concert of the orchestra here this season. The concert was given under the local management of the T. Arthur Smith Concert Bureau.

The concert was unique because of the predominance of compositions written for the strings and during part of the program only the players of stringed instruments were on the stage. Even the symphony of the afternoon, Mozart's "Symphony in A major," carried forward this ideal in its four movements, each of which vied with the other in beauty of tone and performance. To many in the audience the menuetto was the most enchanting movement in the symphony, while others expressed a preference for the andante movement with its smooth-flowing legato tones.

The first appearance of Mr. Busch in Bach's "Concerto for Violin and String Orchestra in A Minor" concentrated the interest on him. It was well rewarded by his virtuosity, his admirable control of his difficult instrument and his command of the bow, the test of the violinist.

The next number before the intermission was Franck's "Symphonic Piece From the Redemption," which was played by the full orchestra in a rhapsody of tone coloring and satisfactory ensemble interpretation.

Arturo Toscanini displayed the fire of leadership which has become associated with his name and fame and the welcome and ovations he got from the audience must have convinced him of their very real appreciation for his work. No one was more enthusiastic than Mrs. Herbert Hoover with a party of friends in the presidential box.

After the intermission the concert was concluded with a stirring and effective rendition of Beethoven's "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in D Major," with Adolf Busch again as solo violinist. The full orchestra came into its own again in a spirited rendition of the "Overture to 'The Flying Dutchman,'" by Wagner.

Arrested three hours after the report of a safe robbery at the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. at Third and B streets southwest, William W. Dyson, colored, 27 years old, of 5 Crabtree court southwest, was charged last night with housebreaking in connection with the robbery, after admitting the theft to Detective Sergt. ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

ALTHOUGH RKO-Keith's isn't letting anybody in on the secret (oh, yeah?) Christmas present promised entertainment lovers of Washington, the management is announcing several important picture bookings for the immediate future.

Among them are Wheeler and Woolsey in "Peack o' Reno," which transplants these comedians of many stage and screen successes to Reno and the divorce colony, where they go in for marital freedom at reduced rates, with results that are said to be devastating. Ann Harding in "Prestige" and Dolores Del Rio, supported by Leo Carillo, in a new camera-and-microphone version of David Belascoe's famous play of "The Dove."

Come, come, Mr. Meakin, what IS the vaudeville policy you are going to put in our stockings?

Word comes from Fred W. Jordan that "Blossom Time," which is headed this way, finished a record-breaking run in Chicago last Saturday night. Although the termination of this engagement marked the fifty-eighth week the delightful operetta had played the Windy City, such long box-office lines formed that a portable box office had to be set up in the lobby to meet the emergency.

What! No depression?

In view of his excellent work on other productions either recently seen or well known by reputation, it is pleasant to know that Jo Mielziner is designing the settings for Dan Totheroh's new play, "Distant Drums," in which Guthrie McClintic will present Pauline Lord in Washington the week of January 4, as the fourth attraction of the Professional Players' current season.

Mielziner was responsible for the scenery of "Brief Moment," which McClintic produced here a few weeks ago, and for "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," in which Katharine Cornell is appearing in New York.

This column's view that the volumes of applause showered upon the latest edition of Balieff's "Chauve-Souris" are as much a matter of sentiment as an expression of appreciation of the offering currently on view at the Belasco is strengthened by the fact that a large proportion of it is bestowed upon Nikita Balieff himself every time he presents himself between the curtains to explain the character of the act next to be presented.

By the time the evening has fairly progressed this gets just a bit monotonous and serves no more useful purpose, it seems to me, than to drag out the length of the performance unnecessarily. Two or three hearty salvos surely would be assurance enough to Balieff that he is thrice welcome back in our midst. Fifteen of them, or am I wrong again, is laying it on just a bit thick.

However, you do just as you please—I've already been there!

And reverting momentarily to Leon Errol, as the Baron von Schwartzdorf, with Marilyn Miller in "Her Majesty, Love," at the Earle, a few of the most suggestive lines of the season are incorporated in the scene in which he undertakes to order the bridal supper in the Berlin Cabaret. That they apparently go unnoticed and unresented is a tribute to the cleverness of the playwright and director—or is it?

For the first time this season, to the best of my recollection, a costellar combination is to make its second appearance in a vehicle other than that in which they first appeared, when Mary Ellis and Basil Sydney come to the Belasco Theater New Year's week in "Jewel Robbery."

It will be remembered that Miss Ellis and Mr. Sydney were among the first of the season's luminaries at the National in Arch Selwyn's production of "When Cherries Are Ripe." In their new play they are supported by Cora Witherspoon, last seen here in George Kelly's "Philip Goes Forth," and Robert Vivian, a member of the original cast with Maude Adams in "A Kiss for Cinderella" and with Mary Pickford and Ernest Truex in Belasco's "The Good Little Devil."

When Earl Sande, the famous jockey, appears as chief feature of the stage portion of the program at the Fox Theater, beginning Friday, he will not be booting a winner down the rail at Laurel, or Pimlico, or Bowie, but probably just as many people will be pulling for him!

Earl Sande made his professional debut at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club in November, 1930. He had always had a desire to sing, but didn't take it seriously until three years ago when Estelle Wentworth, well known Washington vocal teacher, heard him, and urged Sande to let her train his voice.

Miss Wentworth says that proper breathing came very naturally to Earl, this being a bit out of the ordinary, for athletes of all sorts can rarely be singers. It's their tautness—their inability to relax properly.

Earl remarked recently that "When I sing a song the best I know how to, and feel that everything has clicked throughout, it's the same thrill exactly as bringing Gallant Fox home in front!"

He favors the McCormack type of melody, but holds in reverence also the robust vigor of Lawrence Tibbett. He will do several songs at the Fox, assisted by Liana Blair.

All this is probably by mutuel consent!

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

New York, Dec. 15.

WE DO a lot of talking about the beauties of the silks worn by smart women this winter, but few of us realize how much time, effort and expense it's taken to produce them. So long as the silks do exist, and are within reach of our pocketbooks, we haven't investigated their whys and wherefores very deeply. But I've been asking questions and reading bits of information from one source and another, and I really found it fascinating.

For instance, who doesn't know and love the new phosphorescent colors—those interesting new colors, not as pale as pastels, not as bright as the wool and silk crepe frocks that have been worn heretofore under our winter coats. These phosphoresecent colors aren't wishy-washy—they have plenty of character beneath their silvery-lustrous surface. And these new colors didn't just happen by themselves.

An under sea diver described to a silk manufacturer the lovely, unusual colors found only at the bottom of the ocean. And the manufacturer found an artist to go to the depths of the sea to get these exact shades! If you think just anybody carries on research work beneath the waves, or does it for love of the job, you're mistaken. This getting special colors for enhancing the loveliness of fashionable women is both perilous and expensive—but women must and will be served, no matter what the cost, and so the silk manufacturer pays and pays.

Still another great silk house has appointed as director the world's most famous theatrical producer, one whose recognition of beautiful women is taken as authority in every land—so we can expect still lovelier developments in the silk line in the near future.

Woolens, jerseys and knitted fabrics have all been justly called popular this season, so what shall we say when all three are combined in a smart ensemble by no less an authority than Schiaparelli? Anyway, I illustrated it for you today so you could form your own conclusions. The coat is heavy blue wool, with a knitted collar showing a tiny white design; the blouse is of blue jersey, with silver "pincher" fastenings, and the skirt is of the same material as the coat scarf.

S-h-h-h, why isn't that a way to use up the bits of this, that and the other that have been hanging around for so long?

A round, round ball for the kiddies, made of colored worsted or, oh-h-h, tinsel! And we hang them on the Christmas tree for ornaments, and then give them for gifts. And a funny man with silver waistcoat and red trousers, a bead face and popcorn hair, oh, well, then these are only some of the cute ideas we tell you how to make in this week's illustrated leaflet of Christmas tree ornaments you can make at home—out of empty eggshells, most of them! Send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the leaflet, and have a couple of gleeful and hilarious evenings with the kiddies, not to mention profitable ones, making your own Christmas tree ornaments.

DOORMAN SHOT MAN IN BACK, COURT TOLD

Ignored Victim's Plea to Be Spared and Fired Again, Taxi Driver Says.

From the words of a taxicab driver into whose car Capt. William Frank Norman was about to step when he was shot and killed August 12 near the main entrance to the Wardman Park Hotel, a jury of six men and six women yesterday heard the story of how Joseph Henry Diggs, colored doorman, fired two bullets into Capt. Norman's back, and then, while he was lying on the ground pleading that he be spared, received two more bullets in his body from Diggs' gun.

The driver, William O. Pierson, said that Norman had hailed his cab, and was about to step into it when Diggs, approaching from the rear, quickly fired two shots that struck Norman in the back. The driver testified Norman then fell on his back, and that while he waved one hand in the air to hold off the doorman, and also pleaded with him not to shoot again, two additional shots were fired at close range.

With that, it was testified, Diggs walked into the hotel and surrendered. Ten minutes later he was incarcerated in the Fourteenth Precinct, and was subsequently indicted for first degree murder.

Assistant United States Attorney Julian Richards, prosecuting the case, and E. Russell Kelly and Frank J. Kelly, for the defense, parried throughout the morning session in picking the jurors. The defense used all of its 20 challenges, while the Government used ten. A score of jurors were excused by Justice James M. Proctor when they expressed "conscientious objections" to the imposition of the death penalty.

Only a handful of witnesses had been sent before the jury at adjournment yesterday. The case probably will require until tomorrow to submit to the jurors.

Navy Asked to Give Up Four Sailors in Beating

Honolulu, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Naval authorities were requested today to send four enlisted men to police headquarters for questioning concerning the kidnaping and severe beating of Horace Ida, Hawaii-born Japanese, Saturday night. They promised to produce the men Thursday on their return from sea. No arrests have been made.

Ida was one of five men charged with criminally assaulting the wife of a naval officer September 12. He was at liberty on bail after a jury disagreed. He was taken to the far side of Oahu Island by about 20 men and left lying in the roadway after a beating failed to obtain a confession.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Elliott F. Hoffman, treasurer of the Alexandria United Charities, announced yesterday that the most generous contribution to that organization had been given by the Mutual Ice Co., through Harry Hammond, its vice president.

The company will give $100 per month for five months, beginning with December, and yesterday a check was sent Mr. Hoffman for $92.73 for the month of December, representing the donation of one day's pay per months for five months of each employe of the company. Also, the company has opened a woodyard where their employes contribute one day's work per month in sawing and splitting the railroad ties donated by the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad. This wood is to be distributed through the United Charities. The woodyard is operated in cooperation with the railroad through C. E. Dare, resident engineer.

Mr. Hammond states that a number of the employes of the company are now sharing their incomes with unemployed relatives and these are not asked to contribute any part of their salary, but are contributing their labor in the woodyard.

In the corporation court, Judge William P. Woolls, presiding, additional indictments have been returned by a grand jury. They are:

Robert Welch alias "Maggie" Welch, Dewey G. Welch and Claude Meade, breaking and entering the store of J. T. Finnell and stealing $8, on December 12.

John Smith, alias Othello Washington, colored, assault on Policeman Russell Hawes, December 28.

Rockville Hearing Opens for Ewell Bean in Soldier's Killing.

Trial of Ewell Bean, 26 years old, of Rockville, for manslaughter in connection with the death of Corpl. Mack Marosy, of Washington, August 23, on the Rockville Pike near Bethesda, Md., was begun in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville, Md., yesterday. The State had completed its testimony and the defense was presenting evidence when court adjourned last night.

Corpl. Marosy, a member of the Military Police, Twenty-ninth Division, District National Guard, was returning home from the annual National Guard encampment at Camp Ritchie, Md., when his car was struck by Bean's car, said by witnesses to have been on the wrong side of the road.

The State endeavored to show that Bean's car was on the wrong side of the road and that he had been drinking at the time of the accident. Dr. Joseph Cusick, of Georgetown Hospital, however, testified that Bean showed no evidence of having been drinking when he examined him at the hospital shortly after the accident. Trial will be resumed this morning.

Taxi Driver Reports Two Fares Robbed Him

Held up at the point of a gun and a dagger in the hands of two unidentified colored men, near Virginia Highlands, Arlington County, C. W. Bockover, of 27 Seventh street northeast, handed over $4.50, according to county police last night.

According to the story told Officer Edward Duncan, Bockover picked up the two men at Tenth and E streets northwest, in Washington, and was hired to go to Virginia Highlands. Reaching that point they ordered him to turn over his money.

Silver Spring Children To Get Shoes From Club

Shoes for every needy child in the Silver Spring area are to be provided this Christmas by the Lions Club of the town. They are to be distributed by the Social Service League of Montgomery County.

The club also will contribute its Christmas charity money to the League rather than deliver its own baskets as heretofore. This step was taken in accord with wishes of the county relief committee to avoid duplication of effort. Dr. Howell Forsyth, of Silver Spring, is president of the club.

HEARING ORDERED IN CAMERA ATTACK

Two Policemen Are Cited to Explain Slugging of Photographer.

Asserting their intention to give full protection to all persons performing any legal duty, the Prince Georges County commissioners yesterday ordered two policemen to appear before them and explain their interference with photographers who attempted to take pictures at a recent inquest in Bladensburg, Md. The commission's action was taken without any request for such an investigation.

Constable Howard Slater and Policeman Ralph Brown were directed to appear before the board December 22 to justify their action. The order was issued as a resolution which called the action of Slater "a proper subject of inquiry." It was Slater who slugged Thomas McAvoy, a cameraman for the Daily News.

The original resolution, introduced by Commissioner Robert E. Brown, asked for an explanation only from Slater. Commissioner Frank Small, jr., amended it to include Brown. Brown seized and broke plateholders belonging to other photographers, and also confiscated a camera belonging to The Post.

After being hit by a blackjack in the hands of Slater, McAvoy was charged with assault on the officer and being disorderly. These charges were dismissed in county police court. At the trial Brown said he was acting on the orders of some "man with a badge" when he issued instructions against picture-taking.

AID FOR PRESCOTT HELD UNNECESSARY

Montgomery Commissioners Say He Is Well Able to Defend Validity Case.

Citing State's Attorney Stedman Prescott as one of the ablest members of the Rockville, Md., bar, the Montgomery County commissioners yesterday voted down a proposal made by the Takoma Park Town Council that the county provide extra counsel to aid in defending the constitutionality of the Takoma Park Police Court. The commissioners stated in a letter to Mayor Ben G. Davis that they felt State's Attorney Prescott to be fully competent to defend the case.

The validity of the court's establishment has been attacked in a writ of habeas corpus filed for Reuben D. Day, of Takoma Park, by the law firm of Whiteford & Cissel, of Rockville. Day had been sentenced to jail by Judge A. L. Wilson in Takoma Park Police Court for violation of the motor vehicle laws.

Hearing on the writ, scheduled for yesterday in Montgomery County Circuit Court, was postponed by Judge Robert B. Peter as a manslaughter case was expected to take up the whole day in court and because of the possbility that further counsel might be retained by the county to aid in defending the law.

The commissioners said in their letter to Mayor Davis that they did not believe the case warrants employment of special counsel in view of the ability of Mr. Prescott and cited a communicatoin from the attorney general of Maryland which states that his office will assist if the case is carried to the court of appeals.

Day's counsel contends that the court is illegal because the statute creating it named Judge Wilson police court judge instead of a justice of the peace.

New System of Bonding Aimed Against Disputes

An affidavit which all Prince Georges County professional bondsmen must sign when writing bonds has been drawn up by State's Attorney Alan Bowie, and a number of the forms have been ordered printed.

The new form will eliminate such conflicts as occurred some time ago in Hyattsville when one magistrate refused to accept a bond from Neuman G. Dudrow, holding that he had not settled for a forfeited bond. Another magistrate did accept Dudrow's bond, however, and released the prisoner for whom bail was offered.

The blank provides affidavit space for a statement of Maryland real estate owned by the bondsman, and for all encumbrances on this property. He must also state the name of other persons he has bonded and the amount which he has given as security. This statement is sworn to before the magistrate and must accompany the bond.

The sworn statement is provided for in an act of the 1931 Legislature. This law states that the assessed value of a bondsman's property shall be the legal value, and that it may used as security for bonds up to four times its value. Any bondsman who swears falsely to the affidavit shall be barred from writing bonds.

BOARD IN ARLINGTON ASSAILS INJUNCTION

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The board of supervisors at its meeting yesterday instructed Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth to proceed with necessary papers to present to the circuit court, asking that the recent injunction restraining them from spending funds, be vacated.

Chairman Edward Duncan declared that the injunction charges the board with projects of which it has no knowledge, especially that of extending water mains from Wilson boulevard to Glencarlyn. That matter has not come to the attention of the board, he says.

Referrnig to the injunction, the board says that at no time has it been its purpose to take any action that would involve the new board, as far as the spending of funds were concerned; that as far as additions to the county courthouse to take care of the new county court chambers for the county judge, offices for county manager and needed room for other departments the new board-elect has been called into conference with it, but thus far it has heard nothing from them as to any recommendations they might wish to make.

Chairman Duncan stated that notes on county fire equipment are now due, but unpaid because of the injunction, and that the injunction also restrains them from purchasing fire hose.

Among those matters referred to the new board was the settlement of the Falls Church water project. Maj. L. P. Daniels, mayor of the town, appeared and was prepared to turn over approximately $14,000, but the matter was not taken up by the board.

The question of the county taking over the water system of J. Lee Price, in Aurora Hills, also was referred to the new board despite the fact that Mr. Price declared that the matter was an emergency one in that the county health department has already closed one of his wells.

J. C. McClellan was elected president of the Jefferson District Citizens Association at its meeting held last night in the community hall. Other officers are: Archie Davis, first vice president; E. COUNTY ASKS B. & O. TO REPLACE BRIDGE

Negotiations Opened on New Span to Be Built at Cottage Grove.

Negotiations have been started by Montgomery County commissioners with officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad for replacement of the "humpbacked" bridge at Washington Grove in connection with improvement of the road from the Frederick pike through Oakmont and Washington Grove to connect with the road to Gaithersburg and Laytonsville.

The road is part of the original county-wide program for which bonds have been issued, but it was thought advisable to settle location of the bridge before starting work.

The commissioners awarded a contract for a storm sewer from Eastern avenue to a nearby stream to drain off surface water from the Fern street underpass to Daniel Marine, of Baltimore. The Marine bid was $2,543.30.

The commissioners yesterday practically approved the new courthouse at Rockville and authorized payment of nearly all of the contract price with exception of a small portion retained to insure correction of minor details.

Arlington Hall Girls Help Needy Children

Following their annual custom, students of Arlington Hall Junior College for Girls at Ballston, Arlington County, brought Christmas cheer to the hearts of 40 of the needy children in Arlington County last night.

Surrounding the huge Christmas tree in the gymnasium were large baskets filled with candies, nuts and fruit in addition to large packages containing gifts from the students. They were distributed by F. J. Hallock acting as Santa Claus. The college will close for the holidays tomorrow morning, reopening Wednesday, January 6.

MAYOR TO APPOINT COUNSEL FOR TOWN

Harry Keyser May Be Named to Advise Officials in Falls Church.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

The Town Council of Falls Church, Va., at its monthly meeting adopted a resolution authorizing Mayor L. F. Daniel to appoint a resident attorney to serve without pay to advise the town officials and the council in legal problems. The attorney will not represent the town in court procedure or make exhaustive researches, but will act merely in an advisory capacity. Mayor Daniel intimated that he would appoint Harry Keyser.

Another regulation was adopted making it unlawful for any person not an authorized representative of the town water department to tap the water main to make repairs or install water meters. The regulation also made it unlawful for more than one place of residence or business to receive water service through one meter.

The council authorized Mayor Daniel to issue written authority to the State Highway Commission allowing work outside of the present State right-of-way line on the Lee highway in front of the Falls Church Episcopal Church. The State Commission has agreed to widen the roadway at this point about 12 feet using a surface tar treatment to the present line of trees.

The proposed ordinance imposing town licehse taxes on all business and professional activities within the corporate limits was discussed in detail.

The council voted to seek amendments to the town charter during the next session of the State Legitlature. The first amendment would allow the council when authorized by the majority of the resident freeholders to install, maintain and operate municipal water works and a municipal sewerage system.

The second amendment would make the town a separate fire district, giving the town council power to appoint the principal officers of any volunteer or paid fire departments, within the corporate limits.

HERR HITLER GIVES ANOTHER INTERVIEW.

"YOU may quote me as saying that the present German government is as good as sunk," said Herr Hitler, twisting his mustache, as he gathered the press about him outside the Chancellery of the Reich. "Better than sunk, as a matter of fact."

"Do you contemplate a Nazi drive on Berlin?" he was asked.

"Drive?" asked Hitler, stealing an old one. "Why, it isn't even a putt."

"You plan to take over the government soon?"

"Whenever I feel like it," said Herr Hitler. "I can do it any moment. I would do it now, except that I haven't had lunch and I hate to take over a government on an empty stomach."

* * * *

"Have you no doubts about your ability to seize power?"

"None!" thundered Hitler, turning to poke his finger in the eye of a passing member of the cabinet. "It's just a question of moving in. There are certain matters of etiquette that are delaying us, nothing more. For instance, I am not certain whether good form requires that I throw Von Hindenburg downstairs or lower him through a window like a piano."

"But do you consider Von Hindenburg like a piano?"

"Very much, when you look at him from the rear. Not a baby grand, of course, but a good old-fashioned square piano with carved mahogany legs. I should enjoy lowering him from a window."

"But would the German people stand for it?"

"I am the German people," thundered Herr Hitler, thumbing his nose in the direction of Chancellor Breuning's office.

"You admit it?"

"Everybody admits it. It is indisputable. I dare anybody to deny it."

* * * *

"WHAT about the gold standard?"

"Well, I expect to have a lot of fun with the gold standard, but I do not want to tip my hand now. But it will be great sport, I can tell you."

"What will be your attitude toward France?"

"France. Ah, how I'd love to tell you what I plan to do about France, but I can't give away my plans along that line for another day or two."

"What do you intend to do about Germany's debts?"

"Whatever I like. I have made up Germany's mind not to pay any war debts. As to private debts, I may and I may not. Just now I think I may pay them. Tomorrow I may feel that it would be foolish. I'm very fickle that way."

* * * *

"How about national honor?"

"National what?"

"National honor?"

"Oh, that stuff!" ejaculated Herr Hitler. "Don't be old-fashioned, please."

"Is there any problem concerning which you have not made up your mind?"

"None," roared Herr Hitler.

NINE BANKS CLOSED IN MASSACHUSETTS

$58,700,000 in Deposits Is Tied Up; National Credit Plan Offers Hope.

Boston, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—A group of nine Massachusetts banks, having aggregate deposits of approximately $58,700,000, of which the Federal National Bank of Boston was the central figure, was closed today.

The Federal National Bank, with which the other eight were affiliated, had deposits of $28,235,336, according to its most recent statement of condition.

Three other national banks were in the group that closed today. They included the Middlesex National Bank of Lowell, with deposits of approximately $4,000,000; the State National Bank of Lynn, with $2,013,565 in deposits, and the Gloucester National Bank, Gloucester, which has deposits of approximately $1,600,000.

Five State banks, trust companies, had their affairs taken over by the bank commissioner who announced their deposits approximately as follows: The Bancroft Trust Co., Worcester, $6,000,000; the Lawrence Trust Co., Lawrence, $8,860,000; the Brockton Trust Co., Brockton, $1,500,000; the Inman Trust Co., Cambridge, $3,500,000 and the Salem Trust Co., Salem, $2,200,000.

The bank commissioner estimated that 75,000 depositors were affected by the closing of the State banks.

Gov. Joseph E. Ely of Massachusetts expressed the belief that if prompt action were taken by Federal authorities, making use of the National Credit Corporation, with the aid of State authorities, a speedy plan of reorganization could be accomplished for reopening of all the institutions. He said he knew of no reason why any other banks in the State should be affected.

Havana Society Couple Dies in Pact in Club

Havana, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Dr. Bernardo Gonzales Reyul and his wife, both prominent in Havana society, were found dead today in a room of the fashionable Vedado Tennis Club.

Police said the physician shot his wife, then committed suicide. They left more than a score of letters to friends and members of their family explaining that they had decided to end their lives. They had been married little more than a month. Several weeks ago Francisco Pons, a young sportsman, committed suicide in the same club.

Three Killed in Crash At Crossing in Indiana

Columbia City, Ind., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Three persons were killed today when an automobile collided with a Pennsylvania Railroad train at a crossing 10 miles south of here. The dead are Arthur Roe, 42, and his wife, 36, and Thomas Scott.

Roe and his wife recently moved to Laud, Whitley County, from Chicago. Scott's address is unknown. The automobile struck the express and baggage car of the Manhattan Limited, bound for Chicago. The railroad car was derailed by the force of the impact, but no one on the train was injured.

Jury Is Selected To Try Dr. Andre

Dentist Faces Court Today in Former West Virginia Woman's Death.

Reno, Nev., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—The selection of a jury to try Dr. Carl Pierce Andre for the murder of Mrs. Martha Hutchinson, former deputy clerk of Marion County, W. Va., was completed late today, and the prosecution prepared to proceed with opening statements tomorrow. All jurors are men.

Dr. Andre is charged by the State with having killed the widowed Mrs. Hutchinson by pushing her from his automobile the evening of September 13.

The State has said that it has evidence which will prove that Dr. Andre and Mrs. Hutchinson had quarreled, one quarrel being at a party at Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr.'s Dude Ranch, near Reno, and also that it may call a former roommate of the dentist to give testimony which might disclose that Andre had a motive for the alleged crime.

2 Die, 6 Missing In Asylum Blaze

Jails May Be Emptied to Care for Maniacs of 400 Rescued.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—With two patients known to be dead and six others missing in a spectacular fire that razed the Falconwood Hospital for the Insane, the tiny hamlets near here were confronted tonight with the problem of housing the 400 patients who escaped the flames.

All of them are deranged mentally, some very slightly but others dangerous maniacs. The only suggested solution was to empty village jails of prohibition offenders and vagrants to provide room for the violent cases.

The two dead were John MacKenzie, 65, of Wood Island, and Francis MacDonald, 35, of Forest Hill, both injured fatally when they fell to the frozen ground from top-floor windows in frenzied efforts to escape.

Leavenworth Riot Subsides to Calm

Occasional Defiant Shout All That Remains of Two-Day Disorders.

Leavenworth, Kans., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—An occasional defiant whoop from a cell—uttered while the guards' backs were turned—was all that disturbed the quiet of Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary tonight.

Conditions were getting back to normal after a two-day mutinous demonstration by hardened convicts which followed last Friday's break for liberty by seven inmates, three of whom were killed and the others recaptured.

Prison industries remained suspended today. Officials said the regular routine probably would be resumed tomorrow, depending, however, upon the mood of the recalcitrants who have been kept in their cells.

Spoils System Is Extended To House Phone Operators

Oklahoman to Wield Ax as Chairman of Democrat Patronage Committee; 13 of Staff of 20 Are Slated to Leave.

Gibraltar has fallen, figuratively speaking, before the onslaught of the army of "patronage" in the Capitol.

A change in the control of the House from one party to another always is accompanied by demotion or ousting of some and the hoisting or hiring of others.

Spoils belonging to the victorious party always are claimed and hearts are hardened with the thought that those congressional employes who won their jobs because they are good Republicans should be willing to recognize that they ousted equally good Democrats and, having lived by the spoils should die by the spoils.

There are just so many jobs on Capitol Hill and every member of Congress is beseiged by scores who knew his forty-second cousin or who is a friend of Joe Doakes who voted for the member in the election back home.

But the new Democratic regime has set a precedent and added the telephone operators of the Capitol to the "patronage" list.

Never before have the operators been subject to the ebb and flow of party control. Under the guidance of Miss Harriet Daley, chief operator, there was built up a phone service which is unique. Probably no other corps of telephone operators are called on to perform tasks which the Capitol operators accept as part of their job.

When Irving Caslus Smith comes to Washington from somewhere out in the country, he telephones his representative and the Capitol operator never pauses to study a directory of the branch numbers of the various members but starts ringing the office of the man called for, although he may be such a new man that he hasn't even got to Washington.

In that event the operator will tell the caller that Mr. Blank is not in Washington, when he will be here and various other details. Long hours after Congress has adjourned persons seeking to find their representatives have been helped by the operators, who have, through long service, a mental directory such as is carried by no other group of telephone operators.

In addition to knowing where each of the 531 members of the House and Senate is to be located in the course of the day or night, the operators have to remember the many committee rooms and special meeting places, the cloakrooms and the scores of other offices about the Capitol.

Under the regime of Miss Daley the operators have been drilled into a calm, quick concern to give service, and never is an operator too busy to give adequate time and satisfy the inquirer.

Miss Daley is not to be one of those hit by the patronage ax. She took up her work December 12, 1898. Now there are 31 operators under her jurisdiction. Twenty of these are charged to the House.

Of these thirteen are to feel the ax of the spoils system, with Representative James V. McClintock (Democrat), of Oklahoma, in the role of head axman as chairman of the Democratic patronage committee.

Couple Shot as They Fight Fire, Thought Incendiary

Special to The Washington Post.

Mount Airy, Md., Dec. 15.—An elderly couple were shot and seriously wounded this morning as they attempted to fight a fire which bore evidence of having been started by an incendiary on the front porch of their home at Eldersburg, lower Carroll County.

The man, Henry Steele, was wounded in the head and his wife, who found him on the blazing porch, was shot in the face and side as she went to his aid. While their wounds are regarded as serious, it is believed they will recover.

Smoke from the fire on the front porch aroused Mr. Steele, a retired farmer and who is reputed to be wealthy. His wife ran to the rear of the house to get some water. When she came out of the house she found her husband lying wounded on the blazing porch. As she bent over him she was shot twice.

Members of the Westminster Fire Department, who responded to an alarm, said that, in their opinion, fodder had been dragged on the porch and saturated with coal oil and the fire started. Neighbors smothered the blaze with small damage to the house before the fire department arrived.

Neighbors who are caring for the wounded couple could assign no reason for the attack. Mr. and Mrs. Steele are parents of the late Guy Steele, who was a prominent Westminster attorney.

Vigilante's Fire Fails To Halt Bank Bandits

Highland, Ind., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Vigilantes, shotgun slugs and an automobile chase were of no avail today and three robbers escaped with $3,000 in cash and bonds from the Highland State Bank, between Chicago and Gary.

The robbers lined up four officers, scooped up the currency and bonds and headed for the doorway. Outside a group of vigilantes fired shotguns as the bandits scrambled into their automobile and headed west into Illinois.

PHILADELPHIA LACKS CASH TO PAY 26,000

City and County Employes to Get Certificates; Banks Refuse Loans.

Philadelphia, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Twenty-six thousand city and county employes went payless today because there was insufficient cash in the municipal treasury to meet the December salary payments.

City officials tried to borrow the money, but Philadelphia bankers refused to lend them $3,500,000 they asked to take care of both December semimonthly pay days.

Issuance of individual pay warrants to the officeholders was promised in lieu of cash. The first of these warrants, because of the amount of clerical work involved, are not expected to be ready until the latter part of the week.

It probably will be next week before all the city workers are given their warrants, for a total of $1,625,000. Holders of the warrants will get cash for them from whoever will honor them, either at banks, stores, for establishment of credit, or friends.

The bankers' refusal to lend the city money for the pay roll, it was explained by Mayor Harry A. Mackey, was based on their demand for assurance that city taxes and water rents to be collected in December would be sufficient to repay the loan at the end of this month.

"We could not give the bankers such assurance," he said, "because the tax receipts are falling below those of December last year."

City Controller Will Hadley estimated delinquent city taxes at the end of the year would total $22,400,000, compared with $17,400,000 at the end of 1930. Delinquent water rents, he estimated, will probbaly be $3,400,000, compared with $2,400,000 last year.

OHIO PRISON RIOTERS END SOLITARY TERMS

forty thieves." To the guards, they became "the red shirts"—leaders of rebellion.

Today they shuffled from the cell block, their eyes downcast, faces pale, lips closed.

All the rights of other prisoners have now been restored, except those of working and of eating in the regular mess hall.

Hugh Gibbons and Clinton Crate were two given life sentences for their part in the fatal riot. They had confessed lighting the fires that brought death to 322 of their fellows. They had been the most violent of those who rattled doors, incited unrest, and shrieked curses at the guards, after their confinement.

Today, it was said, some of the prayers of the men could be heard in the corridors at night. They had turned to religion for comfort against the awful silence.

RECORDS SHOW NATS' PITCHING SECOND BEST IN '31

Macks' Staff Sets Pace in League

Boasts 3.47 Average in Earned Runs to Nats' 3.76.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

TWO more sets of official American League figures have just been released and appear in this morning's Post. In one set a conglomeration of miscellaneous batting dohigs, there is little of interest to followers of the Washington Club; but, according to the other—pitching averages—the Nats came mighty near living up to their preseason dope, finishing behind the Mackmen only.

Pitching is generally rated as at least 60 per cent of a team's defense, and this being the case it is no wonder that the Athletics captured their third straight pennant. Their lanky southpaw ace, Lefty Robert Moses Grove, again was the most effective pitcher in the league, allowing an average of but 2.05 earned runs per game, while the entire Mackian staff saw its combined offerings hit for but 3.47 earned runs a game—a good record for one pitcher, to say nothing of a group.

And, in addition to being the most effective flinger in the circuit, Grove also had the best average, the result of 31 victories as against but 4 losses, for a percentage of .886, the best record of any league pitcher since 1900.

Nats' Hurlers Show .376 Average.

Washington's team showing was considerably better than that of any of the other entrants in the league race, the Nat staff as a whole having in average of 3.76 earned runs per game scored against it, with the Yankees next in line with 4.20. Skipper Walter Johnson's flingers also granted the second least number of hits, runs, and earned runs and were second in the number of batters hit.

Trailing Grove in effectiveness was Vernon Gomez, of the Yankees, with Ed Rommel, of the A's, third; Irving Hadley, of the Nationals, fourth, and Lloyd Brown, also of the home guards, fifth, giving southpaws three of the first five places. Hadley, recently traded to the White Sox, although credited with allowing but 3.05 earned runs per game, was not of as much value to his club as this record indicates. Of the 11 games he started, he was able to finish but 2, while his won and lost record was .524—just a little better than an even break. The figures are: 11 victories; 10 defeats.

Brown Went Route 15 Times.

Lloyd Brown, Fred Marberry and "General" Al Crowder were of more value to the club than was Hadley. Brown's effectiveness mark was 3.20, and he won 15 games while losing 14, going the route 15 times. Marberry yielded 3.46 earned runs per game, but easily topped the Nats in percentage of victories, having an .800 average as a result of 16 victories as against but 4 losses. Crowder won 18 and lost 11, after a poor start, granting an average of 3.89 earned runs per game.

Two no-hit no-run games were pitched during the season and one of these fell to the lot of Bobby Burke. The lanky southpaw entered the "hall of fame" here on August 8, against the Boston Red Sox shortly after Wesley Ferrell, of the Indians, had turned the trick at the expense of the St. Louis Browns. Oddly enough, Bob went the route in but three of his thirteen starts, and his no-hit no-run effort was one.

In addition to showing the way, Grove also pitched the most innings and led in strikeouts, with 175. He and George Earnshaw, a teammate, tied with three shutouts each.

Cronin Leads Club in Batting in Runs.

According to the miscellaneous batting averages, Joe Cronin, although trailing Sam West in hitting, showed the way to the Nationals in the all-important feature of runs batted in, being responsible for 126. This put him fifth in the league. Lou Gehrig being the leader with 184, and being followed by Babe Ruth, Earl Averill and Al Simmons. Gehrig's figures create a new record, topping the Yankee first sacker's own mark of 175, which was made in 1927.

Cronin was one of a dozen players driving home more than 100 runs. Thirteenth on the list was Ossie Bluege, with 98, while West was fourteenth, with 91.

The Yankees set a new major league mark in drawing 748 bases on balls, the previous high being credited to Detroit in 1915. Ruth was the greatest beneficiary, drawing 128, with Lu Blue, of the Chisox, only one behind him.

Tia Juana Citizens As Race Tax Cut

Tia Juana, Lower California, Mexico, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Alarmed by rumors the Agua Caliente Jockey Club would discontinue racing soon except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, a committee was appointed by the Tia Juana Chamber of Commerce today to confer with Gov. Augustine Olachea in an effort to obtain a reduction of one-third in Lower California taxes.

The committee also was instructed to attempt to obtain tax reductions for other Lower California businesses, with especial emphasis on the wholesale and retail liquor business, brewing and and distilling.

Men connected with the liquor business said they not only faced a depression in Lower California, but that "speakeasies were furnishing unfair competition on the California side of the line."

Tulane Gridmen Start Work Again

New Orleans, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—After a week's rest, Tulane's Green Wave has started intensive practice for the New Year's Day game with Southern California, but without the services of Jerry Dalrymple, all-America end.

Dalrymple was allowed to leave the hospital today but his physicians ordered several more days of rest in the hope that his bruised kidney, suffered in the Washington State game, would heal.

Fear was expressed today by Tulane officials that Dalrymple may not be able to go in the New Year's game.

Dalrymple's absence in the line-up would be a heavy loss to Tulane as his leadership and diagnosis of the opponent's play are regarded as more valuable than his hard tackling, blocking, and pass receiving.

G. U. Quintet Wins, 32-23, In Debut

By BOB CONSIDINE.

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY'S 1931-32 raw-boned basket ball squad, "mesmerized" into a right smooth unit by the labors of its new coach, Fred Mesmer, found success at the start of a new regime last night at Tech High, vanquishing Mount St. Mary's, of Emmitsburgh, 32 to 23. Tech High's gymnasium was the scene of the game, which attracted a crowd of several hundred fans.

To win the game the Hoya squad, defensively, was forced to stake all on the repression of a boy who could not make the Hilltop squad while a student here, and then rose to be a figure in Mount St. Mary's basketball life. Joe Lynch was the lad, a hard-running, clever player, with a penchant for dropping in shots from midcourt and otherwise stamping himself as a triple-threat performer.

The end found Lynch in the act of storming the Georgetown University basket once more, with four goals and three foul shots already to his credit, and it was a rather relieved covey of winning athletes who tramped into their dressing rooms.

Team Play Wins For Georgetown.

But Joe Lynch was not St. Mary's, and the better team play of Georgetown transcended the antics of the one-man show from the start. For one brief moment the Mounts were ahead, early in the first half, by the margin of 8-5. Once more, midway in the last period, a nice offensive overhauled and came abreast of Georgetown's more spread-out prowess, but otherwise the Hoyas, passing the ball about neatly, and showing distinct leanings toward becoming a good team, were the masters of the situation.

Georgetown went out on top definitely midway in the first half when Slim Connors flicked in a neat snowbird and then made good on a foul shot he was awarded simultaneously. Having conjured up a score of 9-8 by these actions, Connors bolstered the G. U. lead a moment later on a beautiful one-hand running shot, and by half time G. U. led, 16-10. Mount St. Mary's additional two points having come on the crest of a long arching shot by Lynch.

Mounts' Rally Ties Score.

The Mounts began a determined comeback at the start of the second half after Jim Murphy had put two of his five foul shots in, and caught up with Georgetown at 20-20 midway in the period, aided by two fine shots by Chanowski. Back on even terms, after displaying what seemed to be the finer brand of basket ball, Georgetown showed its spirit at this time. Connors made good on a foul, the opening note in a Hoya offensive which boosted the score seven points before the Mounts could score one. Tommy Carolan dominated the attack with two stirring shots from scrimmage.

Georgetown won going away at the very end, with Jim Murphy and Dick King holding the center of interest, and with Joe Lynch in every tangle and a perpetual threat.

Form Players Cash Only One Bet

Believe It or Not, at 19-1, Pays Best Odds of Afternoon.

JEFFERSON PARK RACE TRACK, Newew Orleans, La., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Favorite players ran into disaster here today, the climax coming in the fourth event, which was the star attraction on the card. Mrs. W. R. Padgett's Prometheus, odds-on favorite, under weird handling from Jockey C. Landolt, could do no better than finish fourth. King Cherokee galloped home by four lengths, while Deemster took the place from Crazy Coot by five lengths.

Seven horses started in the six-furlong event, with Prometheus held at 7 to 10. The winner paid $8.40 for $2 and made the good time of 1:13 3-5 over a fast track.

Prometheus Taken Up At Start.

When the start came, Landolt took up Prometheus, while Tiger Flowers got off very slowly. Crazy Coot was first to show but could not stay there. Black Patricia rushed into a length-and-a-half lead, pursued by Deemster and King Cherokee.

The King took command as they left the back stretch and Melvin Lewis let him sprint into a safe lead. He drew away through the stretch with little effort. Landolt had Prometheus shut off behind horses with no chance to make up ground. Deemster easily stood off Crazy Coot when the latter finished fast.

Beauty Secret ran a remarkable race to account for the purse in the inaugural event in a driving finish with Nell Kuhlman and Mankanda. Off among the trailers Beauty Secret gradually worked her way up and passed ten horses before she reached the judges. Jockey Elston really won the race by stealing through on the inside at the head of the stretch, thus saving valuable ground. He got the filly to the front in the closing strides to score by a half length. Nell Kuhlman took the place by a similar margin. The winner paid $19.

Jockey Gilbert Elston, apprentice star, made it two in a row by piloting the long shot, Banal Girl, first to the wire in the second race. The filly, in leading home eleven other 3-year-olds, rewarded her backers with $37.60 for $2.

Banal Girl Hustles to Front.

Yarrow was second, four lengths away, and a length and a half in front of Shasta Lover. Sweep Past, the favorite, never figured seriously in the running. Banal Girl dashed to the front after breaking with the first flight and merely breezed the rest of the 6 furlongs.

The third straight long shot to score was F. P. Carpenter's Tack, which returned $22.80 and won easily from Adalor T., with Draha in the third hole. Tack followed Tommy Tickle's early pace and when the latter stopped around the bend, Montgomery sent Tack into a safe lead which never was menaced thereafter. The gelding scored by two lengths. Adalor T. came from far back and might have won with an equal start. Draha, beaten half a length for the place, with Elston up, was shut off in the back stretch and had to make up lost ground to finish third.

Form continued to be well scrambled with the running of the fifth contest. Believe It or Not, well named for this occasion, took the purse and paid $40.40 for $2. Loop was second, a length and a half back, and a length before Petabit. The start was bad, Entice being as good as left and loop faring not much better. The latter would have won had he been prepared for the start. Solon G. Wilson and Believe It or Not battled for the lead and when Solon quit, Believe It or Not went on in the stretch but had to be smartly urged to withstand Loop's belated rush.

Form Players Finally Rewarded.

The talent finally landed on a winner in the sixth number. Constance Ann, split choice with Sistony, had to run a marvelous race to take down the spoils. Forced to take up shortly after the start, Jockey Neel got the filly to running after half a mile, and she gradually stole up on the pacemakers. Around the bend and turning for home Constance Ann was steered to the outside of the leaders, and through the final furlong the game miss nabbed Sistony to win going away by a length and a half. Sistony, which also was away slowly, worked his way to the front in the stretch and saved the place from Agnes Sorel by three lengths. The winner paid $7.80.

Punkie, $22.80, gave Jockey Lewis his second winner in the nightcap, leading all the way to win by eight lengths. Black Alice beat Gold Handle half a length for the place.

BEAUTY SECRET, far back in the early running, moved up with a great saving of ground and finished with a rush the last fifty yards and passed NELL KUHLMAN. Latter raced BEAUTY BRIDE into submission and fought it out gamely, but could not hold off the winner. MAKANDA, pinched back at the start, saved much ground and made a determined effort to overhaul the leaders in the stretch, but was not good enough. BEAUTY BRIDE tired in the last furlong after setting the pace.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $600; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 2:31. Off at 2:32½. Winner, S. N. Hurwitz's b. f. (3), by Bubbling Over—Doreid. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BANAL GIRL, $37.60, $19.80, $8.20; YARROW, $8.80, $6.60; SHASTA LOVER, $8.20.

BANAL GIRL, alertly ridden, was hustled to the front soon after the start and drew out to win well in hand. YARROW moved into a good position in the first quarter and held on well. SHASTA LOVER showed good turn of speed after going a quarter, but hung in the final drive. TRAUMEL, away poorly, closed a big rap.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $600; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:58. Off at 2:59. Winner, F. P. Carpenter's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—TACK, $22.80, $12.80, $6.40; ADALOR T., $13.60, $7.00; DRAHA, $4.60.

TACK, going in his best form and kept close up from the start, took command from TOMMY TICKLE after seven furlongs and was safe from ADALOR T.'S strong rush. ADALOR T., taken back after the start, a distant trailer the first quarter, but made up ground with a great rush. DRAHA met with interference in the back stretch, but finished well. SPORTING BLUES had scant chance with his inexperienced handling.

KING CHEROKEE, lucky, took command from BLACK PATRICIA after three furlongs and held a safe lead on DEEMSTER through the stretch. DEEMSTER, crowded back in the turn, closed steadily and blocked PROMETHEUS. CRAZY COOT went very wide and tired. PROMETHEUS, knocked back sharply at the start, was again knocked nearly over the rail by DEEMSTER in the stretch or he would have been second. BLACK PATRICIA showed early speed, but tired.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. (Substitute race for original fifth race declared off). Purse, $600; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start bad. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:51½. Off at 3:58½. BELIEVE IT OR NOT, showing sudden improvement, was off on the early foot, raced SOLON G. WILSON into defeat and was safe from the strong finish of LOOP. Latter, much the best, was practically left at the post, but saved much ground and finished strong. PETABIT was outrun. ALPAYE B. had no excuse.

CONSTANCE ANN, forced to pull up going to the first turn, made up ground rapidly after the first half mile and, finishing with a rush, passed SISTONY. Latter, also far out of it in the early running, made up lots of ground and held on well. AGNES SOREL, a keen factor from the start, raced PATTIE KATE into submission and then tired. UNCLE CHARLIE showed a good effort and held on well.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $600; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:49½. Off at 4:50½. Winner, H. H. Chopin's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PUNKIE, $22.80, $8.60, $4.20; BLACK ALICE, $13.60, $5.60; GOLD HANDLE, $4.40.

PUNKIE raced as if much the best, taking the lead at once and, saving ground all the way, was safe from BLACK ALICE'S bid. BLACK ALICE, close up from the start, met with interference but finished well. GOLD HANDLE, far out of it early, finished resolutely in close quarters. GERTRUDE READE also came from far out of it, but had to go wide and was blocked.

G. W. Frosh Tossers Down Bethesda, 40-9

With Bill Noonan, former Eastern and all-high court star, leading the way, the George Washington University freshmen basket ball team encountered little trouble in swamping the Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School team by a score of 40-9 on the Colonials' floor yesterday. Noonan found the net for five field goals and a pair of foul shots. Another former Easterner and all-high player, Dallas Shirley, played a guard position for the frosh.

—Jefferson Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

JEFFERSON PARK RACE TRACK, New Orleans, La., Dec. 15.—With the return of clear weather and a fast track likely, the Jefferson Park program tomorrow should attract a fair-sized crowd of turf fans to witness the well-balanced card. An allaged handicap, which received a list of eight sprinters, will feature the program. The event carries a purse value of $700 and will be decided over the six-furlong distance.

The headliner, fifth event, is an evenly matched affair and should produce a spirited contest. The entrants are closely rated, but under the weight assignment, GRACIOUS GIFT, from the F. Carpenter string, which scored impressively on the opening day card, is favored to annex the feature. LEROS showed a dull effort last start when installed the choice and is capable of better performance. GLIDELIA displayed speed in her New York campaign and figures to show.

FIRST RACE—PENN, a recent winner, is selected to repeat. SUFFER finished behind the top one last outing and should go as well here. RUN ON holds a slight edge over the others for the minor award.

SECOND RACE—NIM THE NYMPH and MARABOU, two consistent platers, are closely matched and should finish in that order. DISTRESS SIGNAL has raced well recently and is the show selection.

THIRD RACE—TRICE, from the G. L. Stryker Stable, turned in several sparkling efforts at Bowie and on his recent splendid workouts, is given the call. WAYFARER is favored for the place, with HARASS picked to save the minor prize.

FOURTH RACE—STIMULATOR, a clever youngster from the stable of R. A. Fairbairn, who scored in his two previous efforts, is fancied over SIMPLE SINGER. The latter has raced well at this route and must be accorded a chance. CAMP DOUGLAS should hold PURSUIT safe for the minor honors.

SIXTH RACE — HERENDEEN has been dropped into a soft spot and should score. CLOWNISH is given the place call, with HARPOON third.

SEVENTH RACE—VANQUISH is favored to show the way. CORBEAU, a steady plater from the L. J. Sandrock Stable, will have PRETTY PENNY to beat for the place.

EIGHTH RACE—The usual substitute race has been added to the program. In this ST. JIM, showing improvement in recent races, is given the call, with VLADIMIR is favored to finish in the money.

WISCONSIN U. HEAD WILL TESTIFY

Legislature Group to Quiz Frank About Sports Finances.

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 15 (A.P.). President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin today was requested to be the first witness in the legislative investigation of the university athletic department.

The legislative committee, composed of two senators and three assemblymen, held an organization meeting and announced the taking of testimony from President Frank would begin in a secret session tomorrow.

When asked whether the committee would inquire into the resignation of George Little, director of athletics, Assemblyman Frederick Krez, committee secretary, pointed out that the resolution calling for an investigation was concerned primarily with athletics department finances.

New Salary Scale Recommended.

One of the recommendations made by the athletic council was that the administrative and coaching staffs be reduced "to the minimum consistent with efficiency" while another called for a salary schedule "in terms of the salary scale of the university as a whole with due regard to unavoidable Big Ten relationships."

The cause behind Mr. Little's resignation, as yet only a matter of conjecture, is expected to be brought into the open by the investigating committee. The resignation is generally attributed to the conflict between the alumni members of the athletic council and the athletic director over the status of Head Football Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite.

Coach Thistlethwaite Will Not Quit.

The athletic director last year fought for the retention of Coach Thistlethwaite, but this year was reported to have asked for the latter's resignation. Coach Thistlethwaite yesterday said he had not submitted his resignation and did not intend to do so.

Meanwhile, the assembly awaited the completion of the investigation before acting on a resolution introduced last night. The resolution asks Director Little to reconsider his resignation and requests that the board of regents refuse to accept it.

Three Games Today For Scholastic Fives

Business High School's basket ball team is in for some of its stiffest competition of the year today, tomorrow and Friday, meeting, in succession, the freshman teams of Catholic University and George Washington and Washington-Lee High.

The Stenogs take on the Cardinals' frosh team at C. U. this afternoon at C. U.'s big gymnasium in what is the choicest of three games in which high school teams are engaged today. Business has a good chance of winning. In the two remaining tussles Western meets Alexandria High there and Devitt engages a much stronger squad of tossers in Georgetown University's frosh.

On the records shown by the teams thus far Western is expected to trim Alexandria and Devitt will continue its losing streak against the college freshman team.

MERIDIANS WIN FIRST.

The Meridian unlimited basket ball team opened its season with a 20-5 victory over the Swann Service quint at Kensington last night. The all-around play of Vincent Scafide was the high spot in the Meridians' play.

G. W. AND CATHOLIC FIVES OPEN HOME SEASONS TONIGHT

New Colonial Basketers In Debut

Parrack, Hertzler to Face Shenandoah in First Test.

Grid Talent Bolsters C. U. for Maryland Normal Game.

THE infant collegiate basket ball season is due to sprout considerably tonight when George Washington and Catholic University open their seasons at home in games with Shenandoah College and Maryland State Normal, respectively. Thus, five of the six major teams of the Capital area will have tasted of competitive action, leaving Maryland University the only one still in the process of development.

The G. W.-Shenandoah game will begin at 8 o'clock in the Colonials' gym at 2010 H street. Catholic and Maryland State Normal will clash at 8:30 at Brookland. Preceding this game, the Catholic Freshmen will engage Business High, starting at 7:30.

Victory is foreseen for the local team in each game, George Washington possessing the most impressive bunch of basketers in its history, and Catholic having gained the services of nine athletes who were engaged in foot ball last week when a make-shift Cardinal quintet met two reverses in New York.

Invaders Not Feared.

While nothing is known here of the strength of Shenandoah, Maryland State Normal has already performed against American University and did not show enough on that occasion to inject any fear in the Cardinals.

George Washington will present two of the tallest, and, according to Colonial supporters, two of the best basket ball players ever associated with the court game here in Werdon Perrack, a forward, who stands 6 feet 4½ inches, and Ralph Hertzler, a center, only ½ inch shorter than his teammate.

Parrack and Hertzler boast splendid records, having come here from Oklahoma, where they grew up together and played for eight years on amateur, high school and junior college teams. In their first season in collegiate basket ball last year they played for the Cameron Agricultural College, rated as a junior college, and helped that team win the junior collegiate championship of Oklahoma.

Parrack Deadly Shooter.

Parrack, who scored 300 points for Cameron, is a deadly shot, especially within the foul circle, but he is dangerous any time he takes a fling from as far back as the middle of the court. Hertzler, who amassed a total of 252 points, is most effective in shooting from under the basket, where his height stands him in good stead when he tosses with either hand. Both, too, naturally are valuable on defense on account of their ability to retrieve the ball from the opponents' backboard.

Teaming with Parrack at forward tonight will be Forrest Burgess, Washington youth, who last year led all Capital college scorers with a total of 197 points for sixteen games. With a trio of marksmen, such as Burgess, Parrack and Hertzler, the Colonials should not suffer for want of an attack this winter.

In the guard positions the Colonials will post Arthur Zahn, a veteran from last year's varsity and a former Eastern High School mainstay, and John Olverson, a product of Tech High, who is getting his initial chance in varsity ranks. Held in reserve for emergency duty will be Lee Carlin, Wayne Chambers, Johnny Fenlon and Fred Mulvey, all of whom saw service on the varsity a year ago, and Lynwood Forsythe, a sophomore who entered Georgetown from Eastern High.

Three Gridmen in C. U. Line-Up.

Catholic will use its football reinforcements in three positions tonight and thereby expects to enjoy a much better showing than was made against St. John's of Brooklyn and City College of New York last week.

Johnny Oliver, quarter back of the football squad and an experienced basketer, will be seen in one of the forward berths along with Bob McVean, who earned a regular assignment before the gridiron men reported. Buster Sheary, the Cardinals' chunky full back, will team up at guard with Edgar White, of the football reserves. Lou Spinelli, probably the most capable tosser of the lot, will perform at center, having recently been shifted from guard. Spinelli can play well in any position.

PALACE GRIDDERS DRILL.

All members of the Palace eleven, champions of the 150-pound division of The Post's Capital City Football League, are requested to report on the Tidal Basin field for drill tonight. Palace has a tentative game scheduled with the Fraters for Sunday.

MIRACLES OF SPORTS. —By Robert Edgren

Hitting the Head Pin

—By LEWIS F. ATCHISON—

THE entry lists for the fifth national bowling tournament and national sweepstakes championship, both of which will be conducted under the auspices of the National Duckpin Bowling Congress, were thrown open with a resounding clang by Secretary George L. Isemann yesterday. The national tournament, which will be contested at the Norfolk Bowling Alleys, Norfolk, Va., will decide championships of both men and women duckpinners. The sweepstakes, however, is exclusively for men. The latter will be rolled at the Recreation Center in Baltimore.

In opening the entries Isemann intimated that few are expected until after the holiday season for the national championships, as these are not scheduled to open until March 22, running until April 9. The sweepstakes, which will be disposed of in a single day, will be rolled Saturday, January 2, and it was with an eye to the latter that he announced that the filing of entry blanks would be in order. This event may throw a good bit of publicity in the general direction of the grand finale of the bowling season, and publicity certainly will not stunt the growth of the entry list. The two tournaments are the high spots of the year on the duckpin calendar.

Burt Parsons, a member of the Arcadia team in the District League, captured the sweepstakes last year. The following were crowned national champions for the past season: Men's team—Sokol-Rosebuds, of Bridgeport, Conn.; men's doubles—Eddie Espey-Paul Harrison, D. C.; individual champion—Jack Whalen, D. C.; all-events champion—Ray Barnes, Baltimore; women's teams—John Blick Girls, D. C.; women's doubles—Margaret Miltner-Elsie Fischer, D. C.; individual champion—Lotta Janowitz, Baltimore; all-events champion—Pauline Ford, D. C.; mixed doubles—Elsie Fischer-Paul Harrison, D. C.; men's newspaper champion—Clem Weidman, D. C.; women's newspaper champion—Bess Ackman, D. C.

The individual set record of the Post League was bounced around quite a bit in the matches at Lucky Strike yesterday afternoon, but it finally bounded right back into the arms of "Kid" Hill, the original owner. The Kid mowed down 399 pins to nose out Tom Kinney, who was right behind with a three-game total of 395. Both scores exceeded Hill's old mark of 387. The Kid's explanation for missing a 400 set was that he "just wanted to give the other boys a chance." His high game was 141. Kinney's best effort was 144. The Ionics, Agates and Minions had little trouble winning all three from the Rubys, Quads and Gothics. Pica handed the Pearls a 2-1 setback. A 522 game, rolled by the Minions, was high for the teams, and the Agates provided the high-set score, 1,527.

The Rinaldi Tailors muffed a swell chance to approach still closer to the leading Pale Drys in the National Capital League when they finished on the short end of a 2-1 score in their match with Temple at Lucky Strike. The Tailors sewed buttons at the rate of 560, 572 and 522. Temple was satisfied with games of 541, 619 and 552. Chief Lovett's 142 game and Chester Bild's 376 were prominent in the winning club's scoring. Leo Rinaldi clipped 423 pins off the drives in his three games for Rinaldi, and Ollie Pacini, whom you surely have heard of by now, chalked up a total of 360.

Brodie, the name so frequently associated with the Brooklyn Bridge and a certain dive from thereon, popped up again at Lucky Strike last night. This time because the bearer rolled a game of 181 and set of 380 in the Supervising Architect's League. The Imperials took the team laurels with a game of 576 and set of 1,580.

The honors were evenly distributed in the Columbia Heights League matches at Arcadia. Stott took the game prize with 146, and Kebler, of Liondale Shirts, and Pantos, of Chaconas' Market, ran a dead heat for the set award with 386. Crandall Realty benefited by Stott's effort. Paramount Paint spilled 611 bottles for team game and Liondale Shirts followed up with a 1,735 total for the trio of games.

Even the insurance collectors and salesmen have discontinued chasing weary prospects up and down G street long enough to bowl a few games. Strunk, of Travellers, collected enough premiums for a game of 139 and Laake, of Equitable, lasted long enough to win the set honors with a score of 376. Acacia's 568 game and Equitable's 1,568 set gained the team honors. Peoples Life, Equitable, Travellers and Eureka scored over Massachusetts Mutual, New York Life, Acacia and Aetna by the odd game in the matches. This must be the first time on record when an insurance salesman finished second best in an argument.

Douglas, No. 1, established a new team set record for the East Washington Church League at Convention Hall, displacing the old Ingram mark of 1,678, with a 1,696 score. Carter, of the same team, rang the bell with his game of 153 and set of 373. Douglas, No. 1, also came through with high game of 589.

General Office and Business engaged in the whitewashing business for a brief period in the Ladies' Chamber of Commerce loop at Columbia last night. Membership and Files were the customers. Research dealt a 2-1 defeat to the unsuspecting Nations teams.

The Misses Johnson, Dunlop and Hutches ran riot in the Ladies' Internal Revenue League at Columbia. Miss Johnson scored a game of 118 and her compatriots tied for set honors with scores of 296. A. D. M. (whatever that means took all three from A. R. O., and Records did the same to Statistical. Clearing and B. P. A. scored one-game wins over F. A. C. and Service. A. D. M. chalked up a set of 1,391 and B. P. A. toppled the maples for a game of 482. Those initials make it sound more and more like the Secret Service League.

For one game, the first, Lucky Strike had the Hecht Co. looking pretty sick, but then the latter hit its stride and the shoe was on the other foot. Hecht's scores were 565, 601, and 614. The Luckies marked up games of 591, 570 and 592. Joe Harrison aided the winners somewhat with his set of 406, the foundation of which was a healthy 152 game. Carroll Daly's 136 game and Earl McPhilomy's 373 set were top strike scores.

King Pin ran roughshod over the Nationals in the King Pin Business Men's loop on the home alleys last night, winning all three games by a comfortable margin. Ford's game of 129 and Heffner's 356 set were the outstanding individual scores. The winners dumped 1,719 pins in the three games. King Pin rolled consistently well. The sets ranged from 337 to 356.

Gunton Temple carved a new set record for the season in the North Washington Church League at Columbia with a score of 1,666 as it handed Francis Asbury a big goose egg. First Reformed took all three from Central Presbyterian and chalked up high team game of the night, 562, while doing it. Petworth Baptist defeated Wallace Memorial and Emory won the odd game from Columbia Heights. Hagerman, of First Reformed, rolled a game of 153 and set of 386 for individual honors.

All of the decisions rendered in the Washington Ladies' League, with one exception, were of the whitewash variety. The Beeques, Hilltoppers, and Columbians triumphed in this fashion, leaving the Caridnals, Veterans' Bureau and Keenos in their wake. The Shamrocks defeated University Park by the odd game. Well, these will be different. Catherine Quigley topped the Beeques with a game of 146 and set of 360, both scores also passing as high for the league. Georgie Hayes' 133 game was just so much wasted effort so far as her Keeno teammates were concerned. Margaret Leaman, who captured the last running of the Meyer Davis Sweepstakes, rolled up a set of 337, and Lorraine Gulli whistled the patter to the tune of a 319 total.

Miss Reynolds' game of 110, counted among the Georgetown scores, and Miss Waldrop's 304 set for Trinity No. 1, were the high spots of the work in the Ladies' Lutheran League at Arcadia. Trinity No. 1 came in for its share of the glory with a game of 471 and set of 1,397. Takoma and Trinity No. 1 shut out their opponents, Luther Place and Grace. Christ also won its match without losing a game, providing St. Mathews with a plump goose egg. Trinity No. 2 and Incarnation proved themselves to be one game better than Georgetown and Zion.

The Groff brothers monopolized the show in the Men's Lutheran circuit at Arcadia. M. (that can't mean Mike) knocked off the game laurels with his score of 134 and N. (Norman, perhaps) collected 357 chips for set prize. St. Marks garnered the team prizes with a game of 577 and set of 1,641.

Georgetown Preps Win Court Opener

Georgetown Prep's current basket ball team found victory in its initial effort of the season yesterday afternoon at Garrett Park, by downing the Rockville High School team, 25-14, in a comparatively well-played game.

The Prep outfit started slowly, and after a strenuous first half trailed the eventual losers by a margin of 8-6, but once the second half was under way, and Tommy Keating, a veteran from last year's team, gained his shooting eye, there was little to the contest. Keating accounted for 14 of his team's points before the end.

NAVY KEEPS GRID STAFF INTACT

Will Scout Prospects in Prep Schools, Like Army.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—The Navy today replaced in the hands of the men who guided its 1931 football destinies the problem of next season's campaign and gave tacit approval to proselyting prep school grid stars to aid them.

The entire coaching staff, headed by Edgar E. (Rip) Miller, was reappointed, according to announcement which came from Capt. John D. Wilcox, director of athletics. The same announcement contained approval of the proselyting plan which was proposed by the Naval Academy Graduates Association.

Miller retained as his chief assistants Christy Flannagan, back field coach, and Johnny O'Brien, end mentor.

All three were former Notre Dame stars, Miller and Flannagan having been all-America selections in their day at the South Bend institution.

Hughes, Center Coach, Ordered to Fleet.

Ensign "Whitey" Hughes, center coach, is the only member of the staff who will not return, having been ordered to active service with the fleet. No successor was named.

Intensive effort to improve the material available from the ranks of Midshipmen will be started at once, according to the plan of the graduates' association, adopted at a dinner in New York just before the Army-Navy clash Saturday.

The association plans to have its scouts look over football players at preparatory schools and then seek to have promising boys matriculate at the Academy.

After the appointment by congressmen, the prospects would have to stand entrance examinations and keep up their studies just as any other student.

Capt. Wilcox cast favor on the idea today and said that players of an average weight, 15 pounds heavier than the present run of material, should be sought.

Satisfied With Results Of First Year.

The academy, in its statement of reappointment, expressed itself well satisfied with the results of the first year of the Miller-Flanagan-O'Brien combine. It instilled the Notre Dame system to supplant the Warner style as taught by William A. ("Bill") Ingram in his five years as head coach at the academy. Ingram now is at California.

The 1931 team started slowly and came on late in the season to beat Penn and make a gallant losing stand against the Army. It lost to Ohio State, Southern Methodist, Notre Dame and Maryland, beat Penn, Princeton, William and Mary, Delaware and Wooster and tied West Virginia Wesleyan.

A schedule including Pennsylvania, Princeton, Columbia, Pittsburgh, Notre Dame and others, is being constructed for the academy next season, and it is considered probable Army will have a definite place on the schedule. The Penn game, usually the final battle for the Sailors, has been moved up a week, leaving the date clear for the Soldiers to be regularly schedultd.

Alexandria Fights Monday, Tuesday Night

Two boxing shows on successive nights next week are being arranged for Washington and Alexandria fans. On Monday night in Portner's Arena the Day Nursery A. A. will offer Bob Godwin, Miami light-heavy, against Sammy Weiss, of Philadelphia, in an eight-round feature. The Alexandria Elks will stage a show the next night in the Armory, featuring Reds Barry, Washington light-heavy, against Herman Weiner, of Baltimore.

WOOD IS DEFENDED IN TENNIS WRANGLE

At Wimbledon, Wood, among others, defeated E. Maier, the Spanish champion; George Patrick Hughes, British doubles star, and Frederick J. Perry, who turned the tables on the American in the Davis Cup play. The title went to Wood on a default from his teammate, Frank Shields, who injured a leg at Wimbledon.

Wood Better Than Most Stars Were at His Age.

Wood was 20 November 1. At that age he has a better record than Tilden, "Little Bill" Johnston, Richards or any of the other greats of former years who come to mind. Tilden was 26 before he became a commanding figure in American tennis.

Only Ellsworth Vines, jr., California's latest contribution to American tennis, outranks Wood on the 1931 record. Vines, only a couple of months older than Sidney, last season, won all the big tournaments Sidney did in 1930 with a couple added for good measure and crowned it all with a national title.

Davis Cup officials have declined to take any part in the exchange between Wood and Hardy. Hardy also has declined to continue the argument and says captaining a Davis Cup squad of youngsters to Europe is not his idea of a summer holiday and any one who wants the job can have it next year.

THIS MORNING:

itself in a bawling crescendo. It was the rival coach berating his squad for having been held scoreless by such punks as they were playing. His words were clearly audible to the first coach and his squad. The party of the first part did not start his speech. He held up his hand for silence.

The squad in the circle on the floor heard the rival coach in a masterful pep talk in which he convinced his players that the game was theirs for the taking. He wound up his comment with the belief that their opponents would quit at the first opportunity.

The first coach and his squad listened intently. Then our friend pulled his own masterpiece.

"You heard what he said about you. Well, we'll let his pep talk stand for us, too. It's better than I could have done. Now you do something about it."

And they did.

Manager, 19 Players Get C. U. Grid Letters

Nineteen players and Manager Alfred Scuderi yesterday were declared eligible for award of letters and sweaters from Catholic University in recognition of their services on the football field this year.

Edgar White, center; John Jankowski, half back, and Lloyd Stafford, tackle, were placed on the eligible list although they did not play in the number of quarters of games required of all letter winners. Head Coach Dutch Bergman recommended them in view of their exceptionally meritorious efforts as substitutes. The requirement is 19 quarters.

STOCK PRICES RALLY AFTER LONG DECLINE

Advance Small but General as Day's Turnover Drops to 2,596,284 Shares.

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Strongly supported by wheat, the stock market displayed a much firmer tone in the afternoon trading today and closed higher for the first time since December 5.

Morning dealings were unsettled by selling and an assortment of rumors; but none of the latter developed a basis in fact, while liquidation itself dwindled to insignificant proportions by noon. The market thereafter improved.

Net gains in stocks were modest, but the recovery was general. U. S. Steel, after touching 39⅞, ended the day at 41½ where it was ⅝ lower.

Phone Shares Advance.

American Telephone, which had duplicated yesterday's bottom, sold up 1⅞ net and there were advances of a point or so by American Can, Woolworth, Dupont, General Foods, American Tobacco B, Westinghouse, National Biscuit, Union Pacific and Case. Volume fell to 2,596,284 shares.

A spirit of compromise was read into the railroad wage negotiations by Wall street, which felt the prospects for a reduction had been improved. Gossip had it that the cut would be accepted in return for the roads' agreement to use part of the funds saved for distributing additional employment. Carrier shares fluctuated quietly, closing rather irregular. Katy preferred rallied 2 points despite the adverse dividend action.

Foreign exchanges were uneven. One of the early reports mentioned the possibility of gold payments suspension by Holland and the guilder reacted. Bankers pointed out that although the Dutch had had large London balances when sterling fell, they had since taken sizable amounts of gold from New York and also that their central bank is in a very strong position.

Japanese Yen Recovers.

The Japanese yen recovered vigorously. Canadian dollars found still lower levels and there was a slight easiness to both the reichsmark and the pound at the close.

Money rates held unchanged notwithstanding the huge turnover coincident with the Treasury financing and income tax payments. The overdraft at the New York Federal Reserve Bank was said to have approximated a quarter of a billion. An easier undertone in money doubtless contributed the somewhat steadier tone of Government securities.

Large export sales, cold weather and smaller visible stocks pushed wheat up 1½ to 2¼ cents net. Corn's advances were larger, ranging from 2½ to 3½, reflecting a sharp decrease in country offerings and a forecast of smaller Argentine shipments. Cotton rose with shares, closing 35 to 55 cents a bale higher.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Breadstuffs and feed grains alike leaped more than 2 cents a bushel, corn more than 3 cents, and rye fully 4 cents. Foreign buying both of wheat and rye was a big factor, and included purchases of United States hard winter wheat. New takings of North American wheat for overseas exceeded 2,000,000 bushels, and there were authoritative estimates that to meet requirements of European countries greatly increased supplies must go from the United States. Wheat closed strong, 1⅛@2¼ cents above yesterday's finish; corn, 2⅜@3¼ up; oats, 1½ advanced; rye, at 3⅜@3¾ rise, and provisions unchanged to 8 cents higher.

Coupled with mounting values was notice of 8,586,000 bushels decrease in world's available stocks of wheat this week, compared with a decrease of only 641,000 bushels a year ago. Under such circumstances and with the help of evidence of broadening of export demand, the wheat market, although at times somewhat responsive to fresh weakness of securities, threw off completely later the bearish influence of the stock market. This was the fifth successive day that wheat had thus shaken itself loose, and as all the grains quickly climbed many stop loss orders were executed for the account of venturesome sellers of wheat who had misjudged the latest rallying power in the pit.

Additional stimulus to the upward swings of prices came from reports that the amount of wheat in the hands of Canadian farmers at present totaled but 25,842,000 bushels. There were also reports that diminishing of supplies from Balkan countries appeared probable, and that Roumania and Czechoslovakia have smaller crops. Notwithstanding, too, that weather in Argentina was described today as clearing, it was said prolonged rains in harvest time had caused difficulty in obtaining wheat to ship across the equator to Europe. On the other hand, continued absence of rain in domestic winter wheat territory Southwest, together with persistent curtailing of domestic primary arrivals of wheat, served as a further handicap to bears.

Corn and oats advanced with wheat and rye and as a result of scantiness of rural offerings of corn. Shipping demand here for corn was more in evidence than has been the rule of late. Rye market bulges were laid chiefly to increased export demand.

Provisions reflected firmness of hog values.

BOND PRICES LOWER AFTER SLIGHT RALLY

New Bottom Marks Reached by Many Issues; Federal Loans Are Steadier.

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—The bond market closed with some scattered rallying today after a number of issues had dropped to low-price depths not reached for several years. The thin nature of trading, however, was especially noticeable. Sales totaled $18,134,000 par value.

The railways bore the brunt of today's liquidation, as they have in the past month's selling. Among those that came back for half-point recoveries or more were Atchison general 4s of 1995, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s of 1960, Chicago & Northwestern convertible 4½s of 1960, Great Northern 7s, Missouri-Kansas-Texas adjustment 5s series A, Missouri Pacific general 4s, Nickel Plate 5½s series A, all the St. Louis & San Francisco loans, which showed advances of from 1 to 3 points.

Pressure was exerted against some loans of the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison, Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern, Chicago & Northwestern, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Illinois Central, New York Central, New Haven, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Wabash.

Dealers pointed out that declines in many sections were "all out of proportion" to intrinsic values, and believed they represented abnormal market conditions. Loans liquidated "at the market" lost numerous points on a single sale. For instance, Central of Georgia refunding 5½s sold for 20, an overnight drop of 27 points, on a sale of five bonds. Ten Chesapeake & Ohio general registered 4½s shed 24½ points. Sale of a single Chicago & Western Indiana 5½s showed a loss of 15¾ points.

Industrials and utilities had little recuperating power, although all of these did not close at the bottom. The better grade gas and oil loans held their own. Amusement securities were weak, as were the communication loans. Foreign obligations were off in most instances, although Japanese government bonds registered gains.

United States securities were steadier, the Libertys being only a fraction down and the Treasurys inclined to advance.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED BY DISTRICT BOARDS

Federal-American National and Others Will Pay Regular Rates.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Several dividend announcements were made yesterday. The board of directors of the Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co. have voted to pay the regular dividend of 2½ per cent for the three months ending December 31, 1931. This payment rounds out the full 10 per cent on capital, bringing the dividend disbursement to a total of $200,000 for the calendar year.

It will be recalled that the Federal-American National Bank and the Merchants Bank & Trust Co. consolidated into the present bank on October 31, 1930. After reviewing the first annual operating report of the consolidated institution, the officers indicate that earnings compare favorably with their priliminary estimates.

Quarterly Dividends Declared.

At the monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Federal-American Co. regular quarterly dividends were declared on both the preferred and common stocks. The officers report very satisfactory earnings, considering the general recession in real estate activity.

Special comment was made on the fact that, with very few exceptions, home owners have been able to keep up their payments on second trusts and it is felt that such a strong showing in these times indicates the degree of confidence the general public has in the future values of Washington real estate, when business and economic conditions improve.

At a meeting of the board of directors of Merchants Transfer & Storage Co. held yesterday, the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock and a semiannual dividend of $3.50 per share on the common stock were declared. Both are payable January 1, to stockholders of record December 21.

At the regular meeting of the board of directors of the American Security & Trust Co., held yesterday, there was declared the regular 3 per cent dividend and also the usual 2 per cent which has been paid by the company in January for the past ten years. These dividends will be paid on January 14, 1932, to stockholders of record at the close of business December 31, 1931.

List of New Officers.

Newly elected officers of the Federal-American Club, social organization of employes of the Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., were announced yesterday, as follows: William H. Callan, main office, president; Neil C. Linger, Fifteenth and H street branch, vice president; Rose E. Hubacher, main office, secretary; Harold A. Meek, Fifteenth and H street branch, treasurer.

H. E. Stringer, vice president of the Hydraulic Press Brick Co., of this city, and general chairman of the Atlantic States Shippers Advisory Board, will preside at the eighth annual meeting of the board tomorrow and Friday at the Pennsylvania Hotel in New York City. W. C. Kendall, of the American Railway Association, this city, will report on general transportation condition throughout the country.

OPPOSITION TO PLAN FOR CUTTING PAY OF U.S. WORKERS GAINS

Senator Capper Will Make Radio Address Tonight Attacking Proposal.

ANOTHER BILL OFFERED ASKING FIVE-DAY WEEK

William Green Makes Public Letter to House Leader Against Reduction.

Opposition to proposed reduction in Federal wage scales gained momentum yesterday, as fresh recruits came to the support of Government workers and a member of the Senate prepared to "go on the air" in their defense.

Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, chairman of the House District committee, will vigorously oppose decreases in a radio address. He will speak at 6:15 o'clock tonight over WRC.

Mrs. Mary T. Norton (Democrat), New Jersey, new chairman of the House District committee, vehemently opposed reductions in a statement last night. She said the proposed measures "are little short of criminal."

"When the country was rolling in riches, Government employes received no increase in wages," she said. "Most Federal workers are underpaid as it is. I have received letters from all over the country protesting the proposals."

Five-Day Week Urged.

Meanwhile Representative John J. Boylan (Democrat), New York, friend of the Federal employe, introduced another bill for a five-day week in the Government service. His proposal was the sixth of its kind made this session. Two bills have been introduced in the Senate and four in the House.

President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, who threatened to form a Government employes' union of his own after the National Federation of Federal Employes withdrew from the labor federation two weeks ago, made public a letter to Chairman Joseph W. Byrns (Democrat), Tennessee, of the House appropriations committee, protesting the proposed legislation.

Earlier protests had been voiced by President Luther C. Steward, of the National Federation of Federal Employes, and Miss Gertrude McNally, secretary-treasurer.

"I wish to present to you, and through you to the leaders of Congress, a most vigorous protest against any attempt to reduce the modest wages and salaries paid Government employes," he wrote Chairman Byrns.

Could Not Sanction Plan.

"The officers and members of the American Federation of Labor could not, under any circumstances, give approval to such a legislative policy nor could they reconcile themselves to such action on the part of Congress."

Replying, Mr. Byrns said he had given an interview to the press "in which I stated that I was not in favor of considering the question of reduction of Government salaries until every other means of balancing the budget be resorted to and found wanting.

"I felt the burden should be upon the higher bracket incomes, which had received substantial reduction," he added.

Senator Capper, who will speak tonight, recently took a similar stand in an interview with The Post. He said he would vote for reducing salaries paid members of Congress, but would oppose cuts in wages paid the rank and file of Government workers.

Bills that precipitated the issue at the present session were introduced by Representative Robert F. Rich (Republican), Pennsylvania, proposing a 10 per cent slash, and Representative Milton C. Garber (Republican), Oklahoma, who would apply a sliding scale.

Veteran Buys "Bottle" And Is Robbed of $65

Stumbling into police headquarters last night, Jack Soucanek, 40 years old, who said he was an inmate of the United States Soldiers' Home collapsed after telling a story of being "rolled" for $65 by a man who sold him something in a bottle for 60 cents.

A municipal ambulance was summoned and Soucanek was taken to Gallinger Hospital, where it believed he was suffering from alcoholism. Physicians planned an analysis of the contents of Soucanek's stomach. The man said the incident occurred "about three blocks from headquarters."

Theft of 1643 Violin Reported.

Theft of a violin which was stamped in Italian "Made in Cremona, year of 1643," and valued at $40, was reported to police yesterday by Hal Coffren, 524 Tenth street northwest. Coffren said that a vacuum cleaner, worth about $30 was also stolen by the thieves, who entered through a rear window and broke a showcase to gain the loot.

Post Is Asked To Aid Search For Two Dogs

A mother and her 9-month-old so have disappeared.

They have not been seen since they left their home at 1326 Nineteenth street northwest last Monday night. Friends have conducted a futile search throughout the city. In desperation, an appeal was made to The Post last night to aid in the search.

It was explained that when the two were last seen, the "infant" was trailing its mother along Nineteenth street in the vicinity of N street. It was also explained that they were two German police dogs.

"Byjoe," the mother, and "Big Boy," her puppy, took a sudden desire to roam, their master, T. Z. Carroll, declared, and are still roaming. Two years ago "Byjoe" did the same thing and was located through an ad in the Lost and Found columns of The Post. So Mr. Carroll again sought the aid of The Post in finding her.

DRIVE FOR STADIUM IS SET IN PETWORTH

Citizens Association and P.-T. A. to Ask Congress for $225,000.

A drive by the joint forces of the Petworth Citizens Association and the Business High School Parent-Teacher Association for the early appropriation by Congress of $225,000 for completion of the stadium at the new Roosevelt Junior High School when the building is ready next fall was indicated at a meeting of the Petworth group last night.

R. A. Williams, president of the parent-teacher organization, informed the Petworth citizens that he and a committee of his association had persuaded Budget Bureau officials to provide $119,800 in the 1933 estimates for the stadium, after the District Commissioners had eliminated a recommendation by the Board of Education for $225,000 for the project.

Pointing out the desirability of the stadium from the standpoint of the Petworth group, Williams urged them to join in going before the Commissioners and the Budget Bureau and the congressional subcommittee which will eventually consider the matter.

Williams said that on Monday night at a meeting of the Education Board with representatives of citizen's groups, seven members of the board had promised him they would support the recommendation for the earlier appropriation for and beginning of work on the Roosevelt stadium.

Other speakers at the meeting were Raymond B. Keech, Peoples' Counsel, who spoke on the electric rate situation; Representative Gordon Browning of Tennessee, who spoke on the duties of citizenship, and former Representative Charles I. Stengle, of New York, now a member of the association, who urged active cooperation in the plans for the George Washington bicentennial celebration.

A resolution congratulating Brig. Geng. Pelham D. Glassford, chief of police, and the department as a whole, on the efficient handling of the "hunger marchers" was unanimously passed by the association. A number of committee reports on matters affecting the vicinity were heard.

P.-T. A. Will Conduct Quiz Into Questionable Shows

Action Prompted by Appeals From Citizens; Inquiry Committee of Five to Be Chosen; One Theater Manager Has Offered Cooperation.

Prompted by appeals from various citizens that "something be done to remedy the questionable type of vaudeville performances now being presented to the public in certain theaters in Washington," the District of Columbia Congress of Parents and Teachers adopted a resolution last night to appoint a committee of five to investigate the character of the plays and shows being presented in local playhouses and moving picture theaters."

Members of the committee were given power to act "in such manner as their findings make necessary" and to report their findings of existing conditions to the board of managers of the District Congress of Parents and Teachers at its January meeting.

Mrs. E. C. Rittue, chairman of the legislation committee, who introduced the resolution, on recommendation of the board of managers, declared that the action had been taken only on the basis of complaints, a great many of which have come, she said, from young men who said they "were ashamed" to sit beside their girl friends at some of the shows.

Mrs. Rittue said there is no desire to hurt the business of the theaters, and announced that the manager of one theater already had offered to cooperate with the organization in keeping "dirt" out of the programs at his theater.

Adoption of the resolution preceded a talk on character education by Miss Bertie Backus, principal of the Alice Deal Junior High School, in which she stressed the need of developing the community as a contributing factor in character education. "We are overlooking this need in the school program," she asserted, "and in many cases we are making the schools impossible communities. Everything in the life of the school should be material out of which to build a character education program," she explained.

The congress adopted a resolution indorsing the educational and legislative objectives of the National Antiweapon Association and extending its cooperation to this organization.

An appeal was made for donations for the Christmas party at the Receiving Home on Christmas Day. Mrs. Morgan Otterback is chairman of the committee in charge of the party. The meeting was held at Wilson Teachers College.

Child Saves Life of Sister By Calling Mother to Fire

The precocious baby of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lehman, of 925 North Carolina avenue southeast, although only 20 months old, has a well developed protective instinct for his even more infantile sister, three weeks old.

Billy Lehman was toddling around the front room of the home while his mother worked in the kitchen. Billy's sister was in her crib and he was playing near her.

Mrs. Lehman suddenly felt Billy tugging at her dress. "Hot, Mama! Hot!" he kept repeating as he attempted to pull her into the front room.

Mrs. Lehman ran to investigate and found that it was indeed "hot." An overheated flue had set fire to wall paper directly above baby sister's crib. Mrs. Lehman took her youngest child out of danger and firemen put out the blaze before much damage was done.

Another small child figured in a fire, but she was a victim instead of a heroine. Virginia Dickson, 3 years old, in bed with the croup at her home, 3146½ O street northwest, pulled a flaming inhaling lamp over on her bed. She was treated at Georgetown hospital for burns about the face and hands.

REPLY FILED TO PLEA OF POWER COMPANY

Some indication of the points of attack the Public Utilities Commission and People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech will make on the present electric rates at the public hearing scheduled for January 21 was given in the answer filed late yesterday in District Supreme Court to the appeal of the Potomac Electric Power Co. from the sliding scale adopted by the utilities body last spring.

As Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat, in overruling a motion to dismiss the commission order, has already ruled that the District agency has authority to discard the consent decree under which rates were fixed for the past six years, the answer is directed chiefly at defending the fairness of the sliding scale, which cuts the power company's initial rate of return from 7½ to 7 per cent and increases the proportional share of excess profits which must be reflected in reducing rates to consumers.

Besieds defending the legal authority of the commission, the bill reminds the court that the consumption of electricity in the District has increased at the rate of 13 per cent a year; that cost of production has declined materially; that the rate base used in the consent decree is "far in excess of the fair value of the property," and that a large portion of the power company's current "is sold to its parent company (the Washington Railway & Electric Co.) at or below actual cost of production."

Whipping Ordered For Maryland Man

Alleged Wife-Beater Will Get Ten Lashes and Serve Ten Oays.

Judge A. L. Wilson, in police court at Takoma Park, Md., yesterday sentenced Joseph C. Carlton, 35, to ten lashes with a whip and to ten days in jail on charges brought by Mrs. Carlton that her husband beat her "with his fists."

Carlton was taken to the Rockville Jail after the sentence. Under the Maryland law, which allows sentencing to the whipping post in cases of wife-beating, Sheriff Richard A. Lansdale will be called upon to administer the lashes.

Although several sentences have been carried out in the past in Montgomery County, it was said that this was the first case in the last four or five years. A blacksnake or cat-o'-nine tails is used. Mrs. Carlton said that she had been beaten "black and blue" by her husband.

DISTRICT HEADS ASK INCREASED POWERS IN NEW LEGISLATION

AUTHORITY TO CHANGE OLD LAWS IS SOUGHT

Wide Administrative Scope Is Requested to Expedite City's Affairs.

A bill to increase the powers of the District Commissioners so that they may relieve Congress of numerous trivial duties of an executive or administrative nature was forwarded to Congress late yesterday from the District Building. Two other measures, one to authorize the widening of Thirteenth street, between Monroe street and Spring road, and the other to amend the zoning act, also were sent to Capitol Hill.

As drafted by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, the first bill would extend the powers of the Commissioners in four particulars. It would authorize the District heads to make all municipal regulations not inconsistent with the Constitution; it would grant the Commissioners the power of imprisoning as well as fining violators of its ordinances; it would reduce the time required for publication of ordinances from 30 to 10 days, and it would empower the Commissioners to change municipal regulations heretofore enacted but now found undesirable.

The Commissioners previously have attempted to obtain more administrative authority from Congress so as to expedite many actvities which are now often delayed because of the pressure of more important matters in Congress.

Seek License Fee Powers.

This paragraph also includes the power to impose fees for licenses and inspections, an authority which has heretofore been denied by the courts except in cases where the grant of power was clearly expressed.

Referring to the request for authority to imprison violators of municipal ordinances, Mr. Bride said in his memorandum to the commissioners: "The power to fine only becomes at times a source of embarrassment to municipal authorities, especially in traffic questions and where the fines are small so that repeated convictions do not have the effect of abating the mischief."

The memorandum points out, regarding the time of publishing ordinances, that the former act was passed 45 years ago when the modes of transmitting information were much slower than now.

In asking an amendment so that all municipal ordinances heretofore enacted by Congress shall remain in force and effect until the Commissioners promulgate regulations or ordinances inconsistent therewith," Mr. Bride explains:

"Congress has in the past frequently legislated upon municipal subjects, and the Commissioners are without power to change these enactments and will be without such power unless this, or similar, legislation be enacted."

Would Improve Street.

The measure to widen Thirteenth street from 40 to 60 feet, between Monroe street and Spring road, is designed to increase the usefulness of this street as a thoroughfare. Its enactment would authorize the Commissioners to begin condemnation proceedings so that the east curb of Thirteenth street might be set back in line with the 40-foot roadway south of Monroe street and north of Spring road. Trees, terraces and the like on the west side would not be disturbed.

The Commissioners estimate that the improvement would cost between $50,000 and $75,000, a large part of which could be assessed as benefits. They point out that Thirteenth street traffic will increase when the street is opened north of Military road to connect with the underpass at Fern street. The street, they say, now is congested.

Only one word would be added to the zoning act under the bill asking for amendment. The word "used" would be added to the first line of section 9 so that it would read: "That buildings used, erected, altered, or raised, or converted in violation of any of the provisions of this act or the orders and regulations made under the authority thereof are hereby declared to be common nuisances."

School Site Ordered Purchased.

The District Commissioners yesterday authorized the purchase of 27,103.47 square feet in parcel 30-23 in the Burleith and Glover Park section for addition to school site. The property is owned by N. R. Dulaney.

Note Found Lying Near Gas Victim

Robert H. Gutshall, 38 years old, was found unconscious from the effects of gas fumes in the kitchen of his home at 1217 Thirty-fourth street northwest yesterday by Seventh Precinct policemen who forced a lock on the kitchen door to gain entrance to the gas-filled room. A note, saying "Good-by to all. My wife has quit me. Am going away," was found by Gutshall's side.

Gutshall was rendered first aid by the policemen and later by Fire Rescue Squad apparatus, and removed to Emergency Hospital, where it was said his condition was serious.

All entrances to the kitchen were locked, police said, and all jets of a gas water heater and a gas range were turned on. Gutshall is said to be a street car motorman.

The couple a short while before had wrapped a pile of Christmas gifts which were stacked on the living room sofa.

Mrs. Gutshall became hysterical when she was told that her husband had taken gas. She told police she had left Mr. Gutshall three hours before he was found.

The man was still in a semiconscious condition at Emergency Hospital early this morning. His condition is reported as serious.

DAY CASE HANDLING THREAT TO 4 POLICE

Glassford May Decide Today to Demote Detectives to Patrol Duty.

Decision by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, chief of police, on recommendations of Inspector F. S. W. Burke, to demote four detective sergeants to foot duty may come today although he plans a series of interviews with other officials before final action.

All four of the men involved, C. E. and O. W. Mansfield, Chester Stepp and Howard Ogle, were allowed to present their respective cases for nearly half an hour each before the police chief yesterday.

Among others who talked to Gen. Glassford on the matter were District Attorney Leo A. Rover and Assistant United States Attorney James R. Kirkland.

It has been understood unofficially several days that charges of faulty handling of the investigation of the shooting to death of Talley Day in a downtown "speakeasy" are part of the reasons for Inspector Burke's recommendation for demoting the detectives involved.

This was confirmed last night by Gen. Glassford, who added that there were other phases of the records of the men involved which have been brought to his attention as reasons for demotion.

Meanwhile the new decentralization plan of assigning headquarters detectives in strategic numbers to various precincts over the city went into effect today. Henceforth these men will report at headquarters only at the daily evening roll call. The new robbery and hold-up and the out-of-town squads will operate from the central bureau at headquarters.

A system of traffic tickets in triplicate on white paper instead of the familiar pink slips also went into effect today. Elimination of "fixing" tickets with police officers by friends of summoned traffic violators is hoped for by the new system.

RILEYS GO ON TRIAL TODAY ON CHARGES OF ABUSING CHILD

Father and Stepmother of "Closet Girl" Face Short Terms, if Guilty.

INTEREST IN OUTCOME OF CASE WIDESPREAD

Report on Mental State of Edith, Now in Hospital, Is Being Awaited.

Little Edith Riley, who has become known as the "closet girl," will appear in the District Supreme Court today when her father and stepmother are brought to trial on an indictment charging them with treating her cruelly.

All details for readying the case for today were completed yesterday when William H. Collins, assistant United States attorney, who will handle the prosecution, and Harold R. Stephenson, of counsel for the parents, agreed to proceed with the case despite the inability of Bertram Emerson, chief defense counsel, to appear owing to illness.

Has Aroused Great Interest.

Not in some time has a case so aroused public interest as has the Riley case. Senators, representatives and others high in official life have taken an interest in the affair because of the circumstances surrounding it. Since Edith has been a patient at the Gallinger Hospital, she had literally been swamped by visitors who have bestowed upon her so many toys and playthings that they have been distributed to other children at the hospital.

Physicians and psychiatrists have given the girl's case close attention. Her diet was specially prepared and her weight has gone up from 38 pounds to 54 pounds. The result of the mental and physical examinations made at the hospital will be made public in court today for the first time.

Report on Mentality Awaited.

Interest in whether the girl has a chance to become a normal young woman is great and the opinion of those who have studied her case is keenly awaited.

Harry N. Riley, the father, and Edith's stepmother face a possible two-year term and a small fine if they are convicted. The case will be tried by Justice F. D. Letts, in Criminal Court No. 2.

Lawyer Willed $500 For Knowing Silence

Dedham, Mass. (U.P.).—The will of Charles Fein, Brookline bookbinder, filed for probate here, bequeathed $500 to Thomas G. Connolly, Boston lawyer, "for knowing the value of silence." It charged Connolly, however, "to speak, if and when the time comes."

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

HE IS A CAVEMAN!

ENTER the caveman, husband! We knew he would be along soon. And his wife seems to like him, which makes everything all right. As for the rest of us, well, read all about him and if he is your idea of the perfect husband that makes it unanimous, and who are we to start arguing? From the beginning of time there have been women who liked that sort of thing, hence the 1931 model de luxe:

Dear Frances McDonald:

You probably will not consider my husband in the perfect class, for he is the caveman type. But he sure suits me. After years of listening to all sorts of "lines," and all sorts of lies too, it was a downright relief to meet such a man, and I just grabbed him. I guess I was what is known as popular. Anyway I hardly ever had time to shampoo my hair. A date every night. And what I could tell about men and their ways. Begging for a kiss and telling the whole office if they got it. Well, I took the entertainment and let them hope for the kisses. I preferred to be called a gold-digger than be labeled easy. And I was called gold-digger, and icicle, and all the rest of it. And then I met my husband! Oh, boy!

I worked in the office of a paint company. He sold our paints in his hardware store in a hick town. One of the boys brought him in to have lunch one day and I horned in. He's still got some of the paint we stuck him with that noon. And he's got me too, which he says is tougher yet.

Miss McDonald, did you ever meet a real caveman? One who did not just pretend to hate women, but really did? Well, I never had until that day. And did I love it! First right off the bat he wanted to know why I had to tag along. The salesman told him I was one of those gold diggers who never had lunch money. He said, "Then give her two bits and let's go." He was great. We were two hours eating lunch. I never saw a man like him and I knew I never would again so I worked hard. We told him if he bought enough paint the firm would send an "expert" to his town to teach the women how to use the stuff. He thought that was a good idea. Well, I was not so hot as an expert, but 30 days later I was wrapped in a smock and smearing wall boards with goo in his hardware store. The women liked me if he didn't. I had a swell time. He never spoke to me except to infer that no one had ever known less about paint—or anything else. He informed me that I was just one of those ultradumb people who would never learn because they had not the capacity. At times I wanted to weep, for he really meant it—and I know it. And by that time I was in love up to my neck. In all the ten days I had to stay in town he never so much as asked if I would like to go to a movie. I did not know a soul, stood on my feet all day, which nearly killed me, and then sat in my room or sneaked into a movie all alone. And when I left he was not even in the store to say good-by. I just hung around till closing time, thanked his father for all the help he had given me, and slid out like a homeless cat. His dad was sweet, said I had helped the business, and gave me a lovely little set of scissors in a leather case. I wept all the way to town.

Well, it wasn't more than a week until he blew into the office. He said he needed some more paint. The salesman winked and we went to lunch again. We were married the following summer. He said it was because he needed some one in the store. But he will not let me work in the store. When I asked him how come, he said I was too dumb and would hurt the business. But he built me a nice little house. I said I guessed I would go back to the office since I was not bright enough for the store, and he said that was an idea, but he needed some one to take care of the house. I adore him, Miss McDonald, and I always have a wonderful dinner when the salesman from our office comes in town. He always makes out that I went with a bill of paint and tells the salesman the paint was terrible and I am worse. That is when he is in a good humor. When he is mad—well I can expect anything. I stayed in the city over night once at my sister's unexpectedly, and sent him a wire, but it was not delivered until next morning. Boy! I will never forget that. He had tried to get her home, but she had no phone. I guess he was mad because he had shown how worried he was. Anyway I never saw such rage. His mother came to the rescue, for I was at sea. But nothing like that happened since. And I don't mean maybe! He never acts as if he cared, but he is the only man who ever did care the way I wanted a man to care. And I get more thrill out of suddenly coming upon his cap than I ever got out of any kiss any other man ever gave me—and some of them thought they were pretty good!

Every other woman on earth can have her man, I've got mine. And for me he is perfect—even when he is meanly mad. CAVEMAN'S GIRL.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

THE RIGID PERSONALITY.

THIS was a new term to me when I ran across it recently in a medical journal. Different types of mental trouble develop out of corresponding personality types. A person who knows his personality type can understand himself better; can better value his own opinions, acts, moods; can handle himself so as to get the most out of his life. He knows in which direction disaster lies, and thereafter is better able to avoid it.

When I saw this sign, "Rigid Personality," I turned up that road to see where it led. I found that the term was nearly a new one for a type of person that everybody knows well. This person has several common names, such as obstinate, firm, positive, stubborn, hard headed. If we think he is wrong and try to change him and fail, we call him stubborn. If we think he is right, or if we admire him, we call him a man with character, a man of his convictions.

President Andrew Johnson was a rigid personality. To those who admired him he was one of the strongest characters that ever served as President. On the other hand, Senator Wade and Representative Stevens regarded him as stubborn and obstinate. Dr. W. S. Muncie does not think the rigid personality is associated with any particular type of insanity. It may be present in any of them. But while it lays the groundwork for none of them, it may change the symptoms of any one, and it does influence the effect of treatment.

Obviously, the obstinate person can not be easily influenced. He is the opposite of being suggestible. He can not be easily talked into doing what is best for him. In this the obstinate insane man is in the same position as is the obstinate sane man. Let us go back to President Johnson for our illustration of the fact that obstinacy may harm a sane man advocating a thoroughly sane proposition.

President Johnson's reconstruction policy was President Lincoln's reunion policy. When President Lincoln found the time or the circumstances inopportune, he put his policy back in his pocket and seemed to forget it, awaiting a more propitious day. President Johnson proposed his policy and stood like a rock for it. He was immovable. Furthermore, when any man hit at him he hit back. His reputation was wrecked, impeachment followed, and he barely escaped removal from office.

Some people are pathologically suggestible. At the other extreme are people with rigid personality. Among the people of this group are the martyrs and the world's heroes. They are the rocks that hold civilization steady. But they are hard to live with. It is not easy for them to live with themselves. And when they fall into disease—mental or physical—they are difficult patients.

"ALUMINUM PERIL."

Mrs. McL. writes Is there anything in aluminum cooking utensils that could be injurious to the persons using them?

REPLY.

No. Sometimes opponents in trade wars try to frighten people.

TRAINING IS THE CURE.

W. S. writes My daughter, aged 15, who suffers from bad dreams, arose in her sleep at 2 in the morning, got up and, with her eyes wide open, walked to the window, took a flower pot off the sill and was about to walk out when I awoke and gently took her back to her room. It is the first time that this has occurred. What would be the logical thing to do?

REPLY.

This is a clear cut case of somnambulism. The only effective treatment is training. The antidote is the development of equanimity and calm. Quiet, unemotional people are not likely to sleep walk.

TREATING PROUD FLESH.

Miss E. S. writes: What is the cause of proud flesh? I have tried burnt alum for a remedy, but it doesn't seem to help. Can you suggest a remedy?

REPLY.

Proud flesh is caused by the presence of some foreign body or infection. Occasionally some other cause is responsible. The maggot cure is better than any other. Direct sunlight cures some cases Alum powder acts in the same way maggots do. It is efficient. If a foreign body is present it must be removed.

CARDS OF EXIT AND ENTRY.

EVERY Bridge player, who has passed beyond the neophyte class, realizes the value of entry cards. Those who become expert realize the equal value of exit cards. An entry card is one which permits you access from one hand to the other. An exit card is one used to surrender the lead to an opponent. Obviously, Aces and Kings qualify as entry cards, but frequently the expert can make cards of entry out of even treys and four spots. The value of conserving cards of exit and entry is well illustrated in the hand which is discussed today.

North and South not vulnerable.

East and West vulnerable.

1—Although East's hand contains a bare 1½ honor-tricks, the unusual length in the heart suit justifies the vulnerable overcall.

2—West has adequate support for his partner's heart bid and gives a Raise.

3—Encouraged by his partner's assist, East boldly bids for game.

Against the game contract, South opened the Ten of clubs. East refused to finesse as North's opening notrump bid marked the finesse as a loser. Besides, he had another use for the club Queen. The Ace of hearts was laid down and East was pleasantly surprised when the King dropped from the South hand. On this play, East was careful to play the five of hearts instead of the trey. The reason for this play also will appear later. Another round of hearts won by the Queen in the closed hand disposed of North's last trump and East then led a club, North winning. It was reasonably apparent to North that another lead of clubs would give East a ruff in one hand and discard in the other. Therefore, he next led the King of spades, upon which East played the Knave. Another round of spades would establish the spades in the Dummy, so North now shifted to the King of diamonds, which East refused to win. This plan of play assured East of his contract. North can make no lead that will give to him or his partner another trick. If a small diamond is led, it will be permitted to run to the Dummy. The lead of the Ace of spades would result in the establishment of the entire spade suit.

East, through carefully saving his smallest heart, had established a hidden entry in the Dummy Hand whereby that hand could contribute materially to the making of the contract. If East, on the first round of trumps had carelessly played the trey, the game must have been lost, as East must have then lost two diamonds, one club and one spade. The lowly four spot in the Dummy had become as powerful as an Ace, because against the opponents it was the commanding card of the trump suit and the Declarer, through careful play, had retained a method of utilizing it.

THE ROMANCE OF THE HOLLY.

If cold December gave you birth,
The month of snow and ice and mirth——

THEN the holly is your natal flower. And in the language of the flowers it repesents foresight, a gift to be prized.

The legends and romances surrounding this scarlet berry have come down to us through the ages and are as fascinating as they are varied. Some maintain that the holly was the bush from which the crown of thorns was torn. Indeed, the name of the tree signifies holy, and it was only through a careless shortening of the vowel that it came to be as we know it.

The holly was considered in ancient times to be a symbol of the life of nature. For this reason, in some countries it became almost an object of worship. It was held in great veneration by the pupils of Zoroaster, as they believed that the sun never cast a shadow from it.

One particularly charming old legend tells us that with a piece of holly in our pocket we need have no fear of lightning, as it will never strike us. Here the story ends abruptly, like so many of the romances, leaving us in doubt as to the whys and wherefores of it all.

The Parsees in India are said to throw water from the holly bark into the faces of their new-born children, so that they may, in the future, have power over the evil one.

Holly planted in a circle will surely bring luck to all it surrounds. One old book of superstitution suggests that a branch of holly with berries on it brought into the house of persons born in December will bring luck, but for every berry that fell off before New Year's day a bit of the luck would disappear. What a chance for you December folk!

In medieval times it was considered unlucky to gather holly out of season, because before and after that time it belonged to the fairies.

The ancients believed that the holly possessed some mystic power which enabled it to freeze water and subdue wild animals.

The peasants of Ireland, ever superstitious, used to decorate their cabins with holly in the winter to propitiate the fairies and gain their favor.

In rural English districts there weer two types of holly, prickly and nonprickly. They were distinguished as "he" and "she" holly, though to which sex was assigned the prickly variety the writer has never discovered.

It is further stated that according as the holly brought into the home for Christmas decorations is rough or smooth, the wife or the husband will rule for the coming year.

What Today Means to You

"SAGITTARIUS."

IF December 16 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 9:40 a. m., from 3:30 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 7:15 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:10 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11:30 p. m.

Success will only come through care and caution on December 16. You are facing many snares and delusions. Be very careful of new friends and new ventures and confide your troubles to no one! Slander will touch in idyllic love affair, and an effort should be made to shut the mouths of gossips.

Children born on this December 16 will be little diplomats and will usually contrive to have their own way. They will have subtle minds, but will not stoop to treachery or deceipt. Originality and individuality will be displayed in their work. Their affections will be rather on the surface.

You, if born on a December 16, will have a good deal of the Puritan about you. Your nature is stern and unforgiving, and you judge harshly all those who do not conform to your creeds and doctrines. You are a self-appointed missionary or reformer; your converts are won through fear and not love. You are interested in humanity, but at heart you are not really a "big brother," or "big sister" to every one. Intellectually you are a snob, and you plainly show your disdain to your mental inferiors. You are incapable of seeing but one side of a question, that of your own. You lack the imagination to place yourself in the other fellow's boots.

From choice you will always pick a "white-collared" job; you have no inclination to become one of the world's toilers. Your hands will never be able to compete with your tongue. It is the nimblest thing about you. A word battle affords you the keenest of pleasure, and perfect peace does not bring you contentment or happiness. You are not given to self-analysis, although you are quick to criticize others. You make yourself believe that you are many things which you are not. Unfortunately the world does not always see you as you would like to be seen.

You like to be "in" things and have social ambitions. You are unselfish, generous, and thoughtful within the home and make a good friend.

Successful people born December 16:

Stephen H. Thayer, banker and poet.

Jane Austin, novelist.

Edward E. Barnard, astronomer.
